THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 28, 1882.

The Cavendish-Burke Assassin.

William Westgate, the man mentioned in our special dispatch of yesterday, was arrested at Puerto Cabello on the 16th of July. He was taken on his own confession, and says that he left Dublin on the night of the 6th of May by steamer to Swansea Thence he shipped to Tucahas, under the name of O'Brien, on the British barque "Gladstone." The names of the accomplices and full details of the murders were taken by deposition before the British Council; these are, for self-evident reasons, kept secret at present. The British foreign office was at once communicated with, and some formalities will be necessary before the prisoner can be transferred to England. This delay will be caused in consequence of the Venzuelan Government having no extradition treaty with England. So far, the confession of the man seems genuine enough, and it is likely that justice will receive her due. It can scarcely be probable that Westgale is anxious to receive a free passage to England under such unfavorable conditions. His voyage will certainly not be a very comportable one.

Salubrious Shediac.

Shediac is gaining the reputation of being one of the most salubrious summer resorts in the Provinces. The hotel accommodations are good; the sylvan solitudes and the pleasant pathways which cluster round the vicinity are the delight of the wearied worker seeking recreation. The facilities for sea-bathing are complete, and the bracing atmosphere is just the thing for invalids. The hosts of the hotels meet the demand made upon them in a fair spirit, and do not disgust their visitors by inordinate charges. Visitors to Shediac from the Upper Provinces cannot do better than take a run over to our own "gem of the sea." We promise them a treat in the way of pastoral beauty, and a bracing up which can only be obtained from the delicious breezes which blow around our sea-girt Isle.

The Channel Tunnel.

Some time ago the Board of Trade sent an intimation to the promoters of the Channel Tunnel demanding a cessation of the work pending an official investigation. This was followed by a courteous request for the selection of a convenient day for the Board to inspect the works. No notice was taken of this, and after many weeks of patient waiting, the Board has applied for an order in Chancery to make the promoters of the Tunnel show what they are doing, and what they have done, below the surface. It is now known that Sir Edward Watkins has been obstinately evading the proposed inspection, and has been pushing on the work in spite of the national sentiment. Sir Edward is considered to be a level-headed man, and it seems strange that he has lent himself to the task of making the work so unpopular by frustrating the attempts of the public and official authorities to gain information on the subject. When the work was first started Sir Edward was profuse in his invitations to journalists and leading men. The luncheons and wine taken under the sea were advertised all over the world; but now, when the authorities and the public wish to know about this work in the dark, Sir Edward, true to the "cussedness" of human nature, places every obstacle in the way of throwing light upon the subject. Sir Edward and the promoters are now employed in the art of trying to read around, and to evade an order in Chancery. But that is an operation as difficult as tunnel-boring, and is scarcely worth the game.

THE Army and Navy Gazette recommends the institution of a Court of Honor to take charge of certain cases of military scandal in which the "authorities will not interfere" and "officers will not act." Of the cases which might come before such a court the following is given as an instance: A hears that B accuses him of having sent an anonymous letter about him to the editor of a journal who has forwarded B the manuscript. A demands a court of inquiry, denying the charge in toto. But B says he is satisfied from certain resemblances and by the authority of experts that A wrote the letter. B therefore says that A lies. If, being refused a court of inquiry, they appeal to the laws for redress, the charge is repealed under oath, and the defendant takes his oath that he is not guilty. Each asks the jury not to believe the other on oath. Yet they are both officers and gentlemen! Such a spectacle, the Gazette thinks, should be avoided in the interests of the service, and suggests a Court of Honor as the remedy.

THE Montreal Star directs attention to the sketches on the P. E. Island land question which appear in the Telegraph, and says:—

An interesting sketch of Prince Edward Island is being contributed to the St. John, N. B., Telegraph. Amongst other things is the history of the well known struggles between the landed proprietors and the tenantry. In the face of the report that Mr. Gladstone had turned his attention to the Island, with a view to applying the same remedy to the Irish land grievances that has effectually settled the Prince Edward Island troubles, the remarks of this writer are worthi quoting.

Again the Star says:—

Whether such a scheme would be at al applicable to Ireland is a matter of much diversity of opinion, but it is worthy, at all events, of grave consideration.

THE death of the Hon. Geo. P. Marsh, U. S. Minister to Italy, is announced. He was distinguished as an author, as well as otherwise, one of his best works being entitled, "The Earth as Modified by Human Action."

AQUATIC.—Mr. John Donahue, of Fredericton, challenges Dick Nagle, of St. John, to row him a race 1½ mile and turn from Berry's mill, Fredericton, for $100 a side. Donahue expresses his willingness to put up $50 forfeit with the sporting editor of any Fredericton paper Nagle may indicate.

MR. GLADSTONE'S statement that he agreed with Mr Bright's principles but not with the application of them, recalls the trite saying about being in favour of a law but "agin its enforcement."

GENERAL NEWS.

ALEXANDRIA, July 26.

At Cairo the slowness of our military preparations daily strengthens the position of Arabi. Leading Egyptians here declare that if the troops only arrive by the latter end of August, Arabi, meantime, will have ample time to consummate the ruin of the country. Efforts are being made to circulate the Khedive's proclamation declaring Arabi a rebel throughout Egypt. The enemy's patrols are very vigilant, so we get no information of what is passing beyond the range of our glasses. The enemy's position, though strong, is much less formidable than was the Boer position at Laing's Neck.

The Egyptian vessel Charkeh left this morning to take on board the garrison at Abonkir, which has declared its loyalty to the Khedive, and to land a party to spike the guns on the works. She has not yet returned. The garrison numbers 2,000.

LONDON, July 26.

The Times Alexandria correspondent says the apartments of the brother of the Khedive, at Ramleh Palace, were broken into and the trunks looted by English troops. The general good behavior of the British enables me to chronicle this as a singular exception.

MADRID, July 26.

The infernal machine sent to Senor Sagasta was clumsily contrived. The act, probably, was without political significance.

OTTAWA, July 26.

Dr. Thorburn, late Principal of the Collegiate Institute; A. D. Decelles, assis ant librarian of Parliament, and Peter Lesueur have been appointed to form the Board of Examiners under the new Civil Service Act.

No changes in the Civil Service will be made until after the summer vacations.

Sir Leonard Tilley and Sir Charles Tupper leave for home to-morrow.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 36.

The brigantine "Queen of Beauty," hence to Sydney, collided with the steamer "Philino," off Capa Pine, this morning. Both vessels were badly damaged, especially the brigantine. She declined assistance, however, and the steamer came to this port.

The Murray Harbor Election.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—The election prospects in this District are that Hon. Samuel Prowse will gain his election by a good majority The people in all parts of the District generally are resolved to support the man who for years has been their active, energetic, and faithful representative. The best proof that can be given for the fact that Mr. Prowse has given his support in Parliament to measures which have proven beneficial to his constituents, is that to day his opponents are driven to the most unfair and unmanly tactics that it is possible for men to adopt, for the purpose, if possible, of defeating him. Knowing, as his opponents full well do, that they cannot successfully attack Mr. Prowse openly, on any public question, in a manly way, they are circulating falsehoods of the worst kind, in order, if possible, to stir up prejudices against him in those portions of the District the most remote from his place of business, and where he is not personally so well known. The emissaries employed are selected by the Grit faction, and are skilled in the work of slander and detraction. But despite all their malice and low, unmanly plotting, Hon. Samuel Prowse will be declared the winning candidate on Monday next.
