USSR Pucksters Not So Hot

By CHRIS ANNETT

Hockey is Canada's most widely participated sport. It has the most followers, invokes the most interest and, in some thought not theory, is the countries national sport.

I'm afraid the Russian concept of amateurism is not completely in line with that which is held by the Olympic committee and other countries throughout the world.

One can't say with a straight face that any of the junker players in this country, that is in a competitive league such as the OHA, do not receive remuneration for their contributions to the hockey world.

The Russians do not do it for long and not a season goes by that they do not on prolonged hockey tours meeting the best teams in the world.

NOT INDICATIVE

The Russians' three victories on their present tour, two over the National team and one over the OHA All-Stars doesn't mean a thing as far as victories, for the only people that they are fooling are themselves.

On the other hand, the Canadian National club is a long way from being the strongest club in Canada. Only a few members on this squad are of NHL calibre and they certainly do not even come close to having the fittest best players in the country.

Should an ordinary NHL team meet the Russians they would trounce them soundly. Should the fifteen best Canadian hockey players be placed on the same team and put on the ice against the Soviets, even playing their rules, the result would probably be the highest scoring spree ever.

There are two or three good reasons: All NHL clubs have full schedules and are playing; packed houses as it is. Why pay the Russians to play? If the game should end 5-1 for example the Russians would shrug it off by saying that they were playing the best club in the world.

Then too, if the Russians played an NHL club they would be barred from all further amateur play and even though they are undoubtedly the strongest in the international picture, the Czechs and Swedes, using the same sort of program are not too far behind.

Many of the top hockey figures in the country had a few comments in after the game, and a few of them couldn't be more true. The following are some of the notable comments.

RUDY PLOUS — praised their passing and skating but stated — "If they played our rules they'd knocked down in the attacking zone. One good body-check would break up all that pretty passing. If we played their rules, with a team of NHL all-stars, I can see guys like Henri Richard running the score up into adding machine figures."

"The Russians move the puck around but there is a lot of wasted motion. Playing our way, they wouldn't be able to look around and pick their spots. It'd like to see a little more of them to see how much they have."

"We'd be preoccupied saying 'come, excuse me' when we bumped anybody." FRANK MAHOVLICH — "Boy, how good a guy could look, skating in with his head down, making all those moves without being hit," he said. But the Big M didn't feel the Russians had advanced to the level of the lowest member of the NHL.

HAROLD BALLARD — vice-president of the Leafs summed it up the best — "The Russians are like a toy poodle, yapping at a big St. Bernard."

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Hull scored four goals Wednesday night to pace Chicago Black Hawks to an 8-4 National Hockey League victory over last-place Boston Bruins.

The triumph moved the Hawks to within two points of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, who were idle.

Hull's four-goal performance was the third of his career and marked the 16th time he has scored three or more goals in a game, a category in which he leads all active players.

Hull also had an assist to run his total for the night to five points and put him into a tie for the league scoring lead with teammate Stan Mikita, who came up with two goals and an assist Wednesday night.

Hull has 21 goals and 18 assists for 39 points, while Mikita has 17 goals and 17 assists.

Tommy Williams and Murray Oliver each scored twice for the Bruins.

Doug Mohs, Hull and Pierre Pilote provided Chicago with a 3-0 lead in the first period as the Hawks scored on three of the nine shots they took on the net.

Chicago's defence grew careless mid-way in the period and Williams scored a pair a minute and two seconds apart to conclude the period's production.

Hull and Mikita completed the Hawks scoring early in the third period, after which Oliver beat Dave Dryden, the Hawks' No. 2 netminder with two screened shots. Dryden, a rookie, had taken over for veteran Glenn Hall at the start of the period.

First Period — 1. Chicago, Mohs 10 (Mikita, Stapleton) 3:00; 2. Chicago, R. Hull 18 (Pilote) 7:35; 3. Chicago, Pilote 11 (Nesterenko, D. Hull) 19:38. Penalties—none.

Second Period — 4. Chicago, Mikita 16 (Mohs, Pilote) 4:15; 5. Chicago, R. Hull 19 (Pilote, Stapleton) 6:07; 6. Chicago, R. Hull 20 (Maki, Eposito) 7:14; 7. Boston, Williams 7 (Oliver, Bucyk) 12:55; 8. Boston, Wilson 8 (Ashbee, Oliver) 13:17. Penalties—Eposito 5:33, Fleming 8:27.

Third Period — 9. Chicago, R. Hull 21 (Maki, Eposito) 3:7; 10. Chicago, Mikita 17 (R. Hull) 7:40; 11. Boston, Oliver 6 (Bucyk, Williams) 9:34; 12. Boston, Oliver 7 (Marotte) 14:30. Penalties—Hay 5:03, Fleming 5:56.

TORONTO 5 DETROIT 3 By JIM CRERAR TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs broke a defensive game wide open with the winning goal in the last five minutes and went on to defeat Detroit Red Wings 5-3 in a National Hockey League contest Wednesday night.

The two clubs erupted for three goals in the last 90 seconds as the Wings had a seven-game winning streak snapped.

Centre Bob Pulford scored for Toronto while Detroit was short-handed at 15:51 of the final period. Frank Mahovlich then scored after he and Dave Keon got losses on a two-on-one break at 18:30 to put Leaf ahead 4-2. It proved to be the eventual winner.

Don McKenney, a former Leaf and New York Ranger, scored for Detroit 55 seconds later and Eddie Shack for Toronto banged the puck into an empty net at 19:44 after the Wings had pulled goaltender Roger Crozier for an extra attacker in a vain effort to pull out a tie.

Pulford wound up with two goals, right-winger Ron Ellis got the other Toronto goal. Other Detroit scorers besides McKenney were Alex Delvecchio and Andy Bathgate. Bathgate's goal, his ninth of the season, gave him 300 in his NHL career that began in 1958-59 with New York Rangers.

Bathgate scored 282 goals with the Rangers before being traded to Toronto late in the 1963-64 season. He scored 19 goals for the Leafs and went to Detroit last May in another trade.

The Leafs had a goal disallowed early in the first period after Mahovlich, who played one of his best games of the season, stepped out of the penalty box to take a pass from Orlando Kurtenbach. His shot hit the goalpost behind Roger Crozier and bounced out. The goal judge flashed the red light signifying a score. However, referee Art Skov ruled the puck didn't go into the net.

First Period — 1. Detroit, Delvecchio 8 (Marshall, Howe) 9:27; 2. Toronto, Pulford 9 (Shack, Kelly) 11:54. Penalties—Mahovlich 5:53, Bergman 8:47, Barkley 10:06.

Second Period — 3. Toronto, Ellis 4 (Boyer, Selby) 3:12; 4. Detroit, Bathgate 9 (Howe, Delvecchio) 16:30. Penalties—Wahovlich 9:06, Barkley 14:10; Shack 16:05.

Third Period — 5. Toronto, Pulford 9 (Kelly, Douglas) 15:51; 6. Toronto, Mahovlich 5 (Keon, Armstrong) 18:30; 7. Detroit, McKenney 1 (Bathgate, McDonald) 19:25; 8. Toronto, Shack 10 (Pulford, Kelly) 19:44. Penalties—B. Watson, Selby 3:40; Pulford 5:36, B. Watson 8:46, Mahovlich 9:06, Barkley 14:10.

Montreal Junior Canadiens Shade Russian Nationals

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Junior Canadiens, backed by the capable goaltending of longtime professional Jacques Plante, handed the touring Russian national hockey team the steepest defeat of its current Canadian tour Wednesday night by a 2-1 score.

The winning goal was scored by Norm Dennis with only 29 seconds left in the game. Dennis was up from Houston Apollos of the Central Professional Hockey League for the game.

The Russian loss came on the heels of two victories, 4-0 and 8-6, over Canada's national team and a 4-3 win over the Ontario Hockey Association All-Stars in Toronto Tuesday night.

The visitors appeared headed for another win as they made a second-period marker by defenceman Vladimir Brezhnev, who stood until the 7:42 mark of the third period when Larry Pleau netted Norm Ferguson's goal-mouth pass to even the score.

The game was a wide open affair with both clubs taking turns applying the pressure.

The Junior Canadiens of the OHA were bolstered for the affair by the addition of former National League netminder Jacques Plante and defencemen Noel Picard and Jean Gauthier, and forwards Andre Boudrias, Dennis and Bill Inglis from Houston Apollos.

Had it not been for the work of Plante in the Montreal nets during the first period, the game would have developed into a one-sided affair.

The Russians outshot the OHA 26-23, but in the first period outfired the Canadiens 13-8. Canadiens coach Scotty Bowman opened with his all-pro lineup and for the first minute they appeared to have the visitors stymied.

However, Plante was forced to come up with the big save on Igor Romashevsky just before the two-minute mark, after Andre Boudrias had missed the net twice from close in for the home club.
