

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ANNIE BINNS

On January 14th, 1951, death came, after a long illness to Mrs. Annie Binns, in her eighty-third year, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Landrigan of Sturgeon. Mrs. Binns was born at Cardigan, the daughter of Catherine and John Griffin. She was one of six children, having five brothers. In her early years her family left Cardigan to live at Worcester, Massachusetts. There Mrs. Binns received her education, and was a student of music, being a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music. After the death of her father Annie Griffin returned to Cardigan with her mother and her brother Charles, with whom she made her home until her marriage to Frank Binns. Three children were born of this marriage, namely Mae Katherine and Frank Jr. who was six weeks old when Mr. Binns died. After her husband's death Mrs. Binns returned to the old homestead with her children. There she remained until two years ago when her brother Charles passed away. Her health would not allow her to remain living in the old home alone and she moved to the home of her daughter, Catherine of Sturgeon. Mrs. Binns was very active in the community life at Cardigan. She was organist at All Saints Church for thirty-five years and for many years was a very successful teacher of piano to many of the children in the surrounding countryside. During Mrs. Binns' long illness she was tenderly cared for by her daughter, Katherine and was visited frequently by her other two children Mrs. Richard MacPhee, of Boston and her son Frank Jr., of Ontario. During the last two months of her mother's illness, Mrs. Landrigan engaged the help of Miss Helen Landrigan, who gave her time unsparringly in helping to care for Mrs. Binns. Her spiritual welfare was vigilantly watched for by Rev. Finley Mullally, pastor of St. Paul's Church in Sturgeon, who also administered the last rites of the Catholic Church. A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was sung for the soul of Mrs. Binns at her old parish church at Cardigan. Celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Harold Croken, pastor, assisted by Rev. Owen Kiggins, Georgetown and Rev. Finley Mullally of Sturgeon. The choir was composed of Mrs. Earle MacDonald, organist, the Daly Brothers of Sturgeon and Major John A. MacDonald singers. Despite the inclement weather, the church was well filled with many friends of Mrs. Binns and her devoted family. Rev. Cornelius Landrigan, brother-in-law of Mrs. William Landrigan, who was unable to attend, due to distance involved, offered Mass for Mrs. Binns in Holy Name Church at Vermilion, Alberta, where he is pastor. The pallbearers were Messrs. Gerald MacDonald, Andrew MacDonald, Jack Sullivan, Patrick Ryan, Cornelius Ryan and John Mulligan. The family of Mrs. Binns receive many expressions of sympathy in floral pieces and spiritual bouquets.

His Parents, Sisters and Brothers.

Full vision was suddenly returned to the left eye of Gilbert Sawyer, Glendale, Calif., musician, after 18 months of blindness when three-year-old boy hugged and kissed him. He is shown with wife, Frances, and seeing-eye dog. Reports say dog seemed to sense what had happened to his master.

IN MEMORIAM

MAJOR OLIVE HISCOTT

In the midst of life we are in death, truly might it be said when on February 22nd the sudden and unexpected death of Major Olive Hiscott occurred at the Prince Edward Island Hospital. Olive was in her usual health until a few days of her death. She was seized with a stroke, from which she did not recover and passed away on the above mentioned date. Death is at all times sad, but when it takes one so suddenly it seems much harder to bear. Olive was loved by all and with her joyful manner it endeared her to a wide circle of friends who will mourn her passing. For more than 25 years Major Hiscott had served as a field officer in the ranks of the Salvation Army, commanding many corps in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Her work was highly praised by those in authority and many people remember her with deep gratitude for the spiritual and material help she so freely administered. Her last command was in New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, from where she entered into honorable retirement for the past several months. She lived with her sister, Mrs. James Hickox at Breadalbane. Her sudden passing was a shock to those in the home. There was a short service at the home of her brother James Hiscott, thence to Stanley Bridge United Church. Funeral service was conducted by Major E. Hutchison of the Salvation Army Corps, Charlottetown. The Major paid tribute to the influence and effective service of the deceased whom he had known for many years. Major Hutchison also spoke words of appreciation of Major Hiscott's service and also read telegrams from the territorial leaders for Canada, Commissioner C. Baugh, Lieut. Colonel W. Carruthers, Divisional Commander for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. During the short service at the home of her brother James Hiscott, Major and Mrs. Hutchison sang the favorite hymn of the deceased, "The Old Rugged Cross". During the service in the church they also sang the favourite hymn, "The Christian's Good Night". The Major spoke of qualifications required to enter into the rest prepared for God's people, and assured all present if they followed the path of duty as faithfully as the deceased had done during the years of her earthly pilgrimage, there was no doubt but that all would be accepted by God. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. I. Green, Stanley Bridge. The committal service was read by Major Hutchison who was assisted by Rev. J. E. Gough, Cavendish. The service was impressive as friends sang around the open grave, "In The Sweet Bye and Bye". The Major leaves to mourn, four brothers: James Hiscott, Stanley Bridge; Thomas Hiscott, North Rustico; Albert Hiscott, Summerside, P. E. I.; Thurlow Hiscott, Charlottetown; and one sister Annie, Mrs. James Hickox, Breadalbane; also one aunt, Miss Mary Chalk, in New York City, N. Y. The pallbearers were: Vernon Hiscott, Paul Langle, Elmer Fyfe, Gordon Fyfe, James Hickox, Wm. Hickox. The funeral arrangements were under direction of J. L. Davison, Interment in Cavendish Cemetery. Beautiful floral tributes were received: Pillow and wreath—Family, Borden, Maud and Murray Mills, Gates Ajar—Albert and Effie Laughlin. Officers and Comrades, Charlottetown Corps. Comrades of Wynchwood Corps, Dillon and Spillit. Neighbours of Pleasant Valley and Springfield. Friends of Salvation Army, New Glasgow. Stanley Bridge W. M. S.

Carruthers, Divisional Commander for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. During the short service at the home of her brother James Hiscott, Major and Mrs. Hutchison sang the favorite hymn of the deceased, "The Old Rugged Cross". During the service in the church they also sang the favourite hymn, "The Christian's Good Night". The Major spoke of qualifications required to enter into the rest prepared for God's people, and assured all present if they followed the path of duty as faithfully as the deceased had done during the years of her earthly pilgrimage, there was no doubt but that all would be accepted by God. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. I. Green, Stanley Bridge. The committal service was read by Major Hutchison who was assisted by Rev. J. E. Gough, Cavendish. The service was impressive as friends sang around the open grave, "In The Sweet Bye and Bye". The Major leaves to mourn, four brothers: James Hiscott, Stanley Bridge; Thomas Hiscott, North Rustico; Albert Hiscott, Summerside, P. E. I.; Thurlow Hiscott, Charlottetown; and one sister Annie, Mrs. James Hickox, Breadalbane; also one aunt, Miss Mary Chalk, in New York City, N. Y. The pallbearers were: Vernon Hiscott, Paul Langle, Elmer Fyfe, Gordon Fyfe, James Hickox, Wm. Hickox. The funeral arrangements were under direction of J. L. Davison, Interment in Cavendish Cemetery.
