Japan Is Imposing Limit On Goods Sent To Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Japan is voluntarily imposing a limit of three to five per cent on the 1964 increase in its exports to Canada of competitive goods compared with last year, Finance Minister Gordon has announced in the Commons.

He also announced that Japanese restraints on the export of plywood lumber to Canada are being lifted because the Canadian government does not regard them as threatening the domestic market for Canadian producers.

But Japan and Canada, in talks which started last December, were unable to agree on the restraints Japan should apply to export of worsted fabrics to Canada.

Mr. Gordon told the Commons the restraints Japan is imposing in 1964 "provide generally for orderly increases over the 1963 levels."

"These increases are in the order of three to five per cent, and in virtually all cases these increases are not greater than the expected growth in the market for the products in question," he added.

In negotiations for the Japanese quotas last year, vinyl raincoats were removed from the list of goods Japan restricts coming to Canada.

Mr. Gordon said the negotiations for this year's list were long and difficult but this was not unexpected because the quotas "affect important sectors of Japanese trade just as they relate to important and sensitive sectors of the Canadian economy."

In the case of worsted fabrics, Canadian producers asked for Japanese restraints late last year. Japanese exports had risen 60 per cent from the previous year, mainly at the expense of other foreign suppliers, and it was feared further Japanese shipments to Canada would hurt Canadian producers.

Mr. Gordon said statistics for this year indicate further increases, of 50 to 60 per cent over 1963. This would mean Japan would be shipping more worsteds to Canada than to all of Europe. In every other market, Japanese imports were controlled either by Japan or the importing country.

"While we have had a number of discussions with the Japanese, no agreement has so far been reached on how to deal with this problem or the level of restraint that might be warranted," Mr. Gordon said.

In addition to the usual wide list of textile products, Japan maintains restraints on vulcanized rubber and canvas foot wear, transistor radios, radio and TV tubes, polyester buttons and stainless steel table flatware.

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth) said a narrow margin is left for increased production in Canada of these goods.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic party leader, said to Liberal applause that Japan is still buying a great deal more from Canada than this country is buying from Japan. Trade was a two-way street.

Marcel Lessard (SC—Lac St. Jean) said Canadian exports to Japan are mainly raw materials while imports from Japan have a high proportion of labor content.

MEETING NEXT WEEK

He added he would take up the problem again when he is in Tokyo next week for ministerial meetings.

Mr. Gordon tabled a letter from Saburo Kimoto, charge d'affaires of the Japanese Embassy here, which said Japan will watch carefully the trend of exports to Canada of spun rayon and filament rayon fabrics, which with cotton make up the bulk of the restricted list.

Mr. Kimoto said when quotas are allocated to Japanese exporters, efforts will be made to spread shipments as evenly as possible through the year.

Federal Legislation Lacking To Handle Worm Damage

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Hays has told the Commons there is no legislation authorizing direct federal aid to Maritime farmers whose crops have been ravaged by army worms.

In written replies to three Conservative MPs from the Maritimes, he said it is up to provincial authorities to initiate assistance to farmers in compensation for crop losses.

He added that his department often can forecast army worm infestations in time to warn farmers to resort to chemical control measures. Such a warning had been issued to Maritime farmers early in July.

Mr. Hays said the army worm invasion has run its course but no accurate estimate of the damage is available yet.

Moderate to heavy infestations had been reported in southern New Brunswick and severe damage was indicated in the areas around Moncton, Woodstock, Sussex, Centreville, Long Creek and Hallville.

In Nova Scotia damage was reported in the vicinity of Truro, Grand Pre, Canning, Port Williams, Clarence, Wilmot and Bridgewater.

In Prince Edward Island, infestations occurred near Fortune, New Perth and Alberry Plains.

Mr. Hays said the federal-provincial crop insurance program is the only avenue for indirect federal aid to farmers with crop losses. P.E.I. is the only Maritime province that has entered the program to date.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Dble.	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠AJ64 ♥7 ♦Q83 ♣KJ862
2. ♠J ♥8752 ♦7642 ♣AK84
3. ♠Q863 ♥QJ54 ♦9 ♣AQ82
4. ♠J5 ♥J83 ♦AJ94 ♣KQ75
5. ♠J82 ♥KQJ7642 ♦6 ♣K5

1. Three clubs. North's takeout double shows the equivalent of an opening bid. Our hand therefore indicates that there are ample values for a game, even though at the moment the final contract is uncertain.

One way of looking at the hand is to assume that partner opened the bidding with a club or a spade. In such case we would surely have pressed on towards a game, which is exactly what we are doing when we jump to three clubs. The clubs are bid ahead of the spades to show their greater length. We will probably get the chance to bid spades later and thus identify a four-card suit.

2. One heart. It is true that this response does not show any strength, when actually we do have unexpressed values, but the hand does not justify a jump response. If partner does not bid again, there is little hope for a game.

Note that the response is one heart and not two clubs. The chief reason for this is that we are more interested in finding a heart fit than a club fit. Major suit games are easier to make than minor suit games.

3. Two diamonds. Game is extremely likely, opposite a double, but it would be inadvisable to make a jump response in any one of our three four-card suits. Rather than guess which suit partner can support best, we force him to make the choice by responding with a cuebid of the adverse suit.

4. Two notrump. With this distribution the obvious place to play the hand is in notrump. With 12 high-card points facing a double, game must be regarded as certain. The lack of values in the major suits is not viewed seriously, since partner is practically sure to provide sufficient length and strength in spades and hearts to produce nine tricks in notrump.

5. Four hearts. Here there is no pussyfooting around because it is obvious that the best contract is four hearts and there is no need for a step-by-step approach. The jump to game announces great heart length and sufficient all-around strength to justify a game effort. It emphasizes distribution, not high-card strength. This picture bid enables partner to judge best what to do if the opponents bid again.
