Parade Is Declared Tribute To Community Co-operation

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN — A magnificent parade moved majestically through the streets of Summerside yesterday with crowds estimated in the thousands lining the parade route.

The obs and ahs of the crowd mingled with the martial music of marching bands. The throngs were delighted with high-stepping drum majorettes, lavishly decorated floats surmounted by some of the province's fairest.

The mile and a half parade was a glowing tribute to the co-operation and community spirit which lies behind the detailed preparation and organization of the fourth annual Summerside Lobster Carnival.

The entire parade was the finest ever witnessed in the Prince County centre.

The crowd along the parade route was estimated by some of the town's elder residents to be the largest ever congregated in Summerside and from each and every visitor and resident alike, came only compliments and congratulations on a parade that held its own with many seen in large cities.

The one and a half mile long procession, under parade commander Dave Carnegie moved off from Government Wharf at 3 o'clock on the dot led by two

Floats Varied And Colorful

Shown on this page are seven of the 46 beautifully decorated floats which took part in the Summerside Lobster Carnival Parade yesterday afternoon. The RCAF float was the winner of the Bill Lynch Trophy as the best float in the parade while the float entered by Holman's was the winner of first prize for the commercial section of the parade.

The judges had a difficult choice to make in selecting the prize winners in two classes - commercial and non-commercial so well planned and executed were the various floats.

BECOMES TOP MAN

LONDON (Reuters) — Admiral of the fleet Earl Mountbatten of Burma took up his post as chief of Britain's defence staff Thursday in succession to the marshal because of the Queen's previous commitments in London.

Daytime End To Visit Asked

HALIFAX (CP) — Maritime war veterans have added their voice to the controversy over the night departure Aug. 1 for London of the royal couple to end a Canadian tour.

N. M. Lee Rolfe of Halifax, president of the maritime command of veterans of foreign wars, announced Thursday telegrams protesting the departure time have been sent to Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip now on the British Columbia leg of the tour.

The telegrams asked the Queen to consider a daylight departure "to give the little people an opportunity to express their loyalty and tribute." The prince was asked "for your support in our plea not to neglect the rank and file."

Halifax Mayor Charles Vaughan and several city organizations have been urging a change in the departure to Sunday noon, Aug. 2, instead of the previous night when they claim it will be too dark for most people to see the royal couple as they sail down the harbor on the yacht Britannia.

Plans call for a fireworks display accentuated by a guard of honor of 30 brightly-lighted naval ships the night the yacht sails for England. Tour officials said departure plans can't be changed because of the Queen's previous commitments in London.
