Remembrance Day Is Observed At Montague

On Saturday morning, one of the finest days this fall, the citizens of Montague turned out in large numbers to attend the annual Remembrance Day services held at the King's County Hospital, where the veterans of two world wars were drawn up in line to pay solemn respect to their departed comrades. The parade formed at the Legion Hall at 10:45 and led by Comrade Russel MacGregor proceeded along Main Street to the King's County Memorial Hospital. After an interlude of martial music, Mr. MacGregor read a poem commemorating the war dead. Mr. John Denham then sounded the Last Post, followed by a reverent two minutes silence, then the Revellie.
