A WINDOW GARDEN.

How Best to Bring Plants Through the Canadian Winter.

Flower lovers are often discouraged, in the matter of growing house plants, by the lack of a warm, convenient place to keep them in at night. Nevertheless, in my earlier housekeeping days I had considerable experience in maintaining a miniature conservatory in a room so cold that water would freeze there every severe night; and I found it possible to grow plants to perfection in just such windows, if the two following rules were observed:

1. The windows must be protected from all draughts of the cold outside air, that are so quick to find their way through every crack and cranny. Not only does an astonishing amount of frost creep in at these tiny openings, but the draught created makes the chill atmosphere act more quickly on the tender leaves and buds of house plants. Unless the door is air tight—and it rarely is—the carpet or oilcloth under the plant stand should be turned back, and a layer of newspapers, six or eight deep, placed beneath. The carpet when replaced will be as smooth as ever, if the papers have been spread evenly. Next the windowsash and woodwork need attention. Apertures of any considerable size can be stopped either by the patent rubber weather strips, or by common newspapers pressed into longitudinal folds the width of a knife blade, and made thick enough to fit snugly into the space. Very small cracks and chinks are best managed by pasting strips of thick paper over them. The plants in a snug, draughtless window will stand several degrees more cold without injury than those in windows with loose sash and woodwork.

2. In severe weather cover plants at night. To do this, take down all the pots from window shelves and brackets, and make room for them on the plant stand, which, if on casters, can be pulled out a little from the window. With a little experience one becomes as expert at packing as the typical Methodist minister's wife is supposed to be, and can bunch together a great number of plants on a single small stand. Always remember to place the flowers most susceptible to cold on the top round, and the bushiest specimens at the corners of the stand. Always use newspapers for the first course of covering, and the larger and broader the papers the better. Paper is more impervious to the air than cloth, and if properly distributed will scarcely bend a leaf of the plants beneath them. The same papers can be used again and again, and except in the coldest weather are all the protection needed. In exceedingly low temperature sheets or blankets should be pinned around the stand, first making sure that the inner covering of newspapers is unusually thick so that the plants will not be crushed by the weight of the blankets. Do not uncover in the morning until the room has become genially warm.

I have carried coleus, heliotrope, begonias, and other plants as tender as these safely through the hardest winters. One is well repaid for the trouble by possession of bud and bloom that make summer-like the dreariest winter.—Lora S. La Mance, in Buffalo Express.

Household Notes.

Rub spoons with salt to remove egg stains.

Pails and tubs saturated with glycerine will not shrink.

The latest clothes prop for the back yard is a slender iron pole.

Tight collars are apt to produce a permanent swelling of the throat.

After knives have been cleaned they may be brilliantly polished with charcoal powder.

Dishcloths should be washed out in hot, clean soapsuds daily and boiled in soda once a week.

Upon curtains the principal part of the embroidery is now placed upon the turnover portion of the top. This has much the effect of a valance when well overlaid.

A rug made of old ingrain carpet, cut bias and sewed on to ticking or denim with carpet thread, is said to last ten years and grow softer and prettier every year. The preferred width of the bias strips is one inch, and they should be sewed—by the middle—on the foundation, at spaces a quarter of an inch apart.

For a dry shampoo the hair should be loosened, then every inch of the scalp should be gently rubbed until all the dust and dandruff are loosened. The hair should be parted in different parts of the head and brushed with a very stiff little brush until the scalp is clean, and the hair also. Then it should be rubbed with alcohol or some hair tonic and the snarls gently combed and brushed out.

For shampooing get five cents' worth of powdered Castile soap, the same quantity of borax; add to them a tablespoonful of alcohol, the beaten yolk of an egg and a pint of hot water. Put this in a bottle and cork. There is sufficient for three or four shampoos, as it only takes a small quantity applied to the scalp to cause a good lather, which must, however, be carefully rinsed out with several basins of warm water.

What Benzoin Will Do.

Benzoin is one of the best friends of woman. A few drops of it in a basin of water gives a pleasant odor to the face and hands. It helps to whiten the skin and to tighten it. Tan and wrinkles are both removed by its action, and, combined with glycerine or alcohol, it is an excellent lotion.

Pilgrims and the Cholera.

The Mecca pilgrimage in 1894 was much larger than usual, aggregating over 250,000 souls. Of this number 25,000 died, most of them from cholera.—Medical Record.

Farm Fagots.

One specked apple is sure to infect its neighbors.

Swine fever is unknown in France. Its absence is attributed to the use of green fodder.

PECULIAR in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses great curative value. You should TRY IT.

The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

NEW-FOUND-LAND—SAN-FRAN-CIS-CO

The Proper Way to Pronounce These Names Laid Down by Authorities.

A man from St. John's, Newfoundland and another man from San Francisco, Cal., met as strangers at a cafe table, says the New York Sun, but after some casual talk they happened to speak of the foreign pronunciation of the province from whence one hailed and the city of the other, and thus they soon became fervid friends, bound by a sympathetic tie, which was bountifully irrigated before they parted.

"It used to make us only weary, but now it makes us angry," explained the St. John's man. "Indeed, at first, we did not know what visitors from the United States were talking about when they spoke of 'Nu-fun lan,' with the accent on the first syllable. The name of my country is exactly as it is spelled, made up of three words, namely, 'new,' 'found,' and 'land.' If Lieutenant Peary should find a new land this winter I wonder if New Yorkers would, in conversation, speak of it as the 'nu fun lany.'"

"That is pretty tough," said the San Franciscan, "but we suffer worse, because from a worse cause. People probably mispronounce the name of your country through carelessness, but easterners call my city out of its name with malicious purpose, and that none of them has been hanged for it shows that we are forebearing people beyond all others. They call my city"—the speaker choked at the word—"they call it 'Frisco!' Why do they not call it 'Denis,' or 'Mars?' They have just as much right, and d—— 'm, sir, they seem to think they are doing something pleasant and smart; yet every San Franciscan loathes, with a murderous loathing, to hear his city so called. No native or resident of San Francisco ever calls it 'Frisco.' He would rather admit that its climate is bad. Californians never abbreviate their geographical names. Even 'San Bernardino,' 'San Luis Obispo,' 'San Buenaventura,' are honored in every syllable."

How to Mend an Injured Leg.

In these days of autumn sports, football particularly, there is an injury common to athletic girls and boys which, without being dangerous, is exceedingly painful.

This is the dislocation of the kneepan, or patella, as the doctors call it.

"How can an unfortunate help himself?" was the query I put to a doctor, and I learned this:

He must at once lie down, stiffen the leg, place his fingers at the top of the kneepan, which moves easily under pressure. Push the little cap firmly downward, and work it sideways until he feels it gradually slipping into a correct position. If his limb is bare his eye will guide him also as to its attitude, as its shape is strongly outlined.

A companion should catch the foot and steadily pull it. This amateur operation is painful, but infallible. When the little cap slips to its place, then two splints of wood should be placed at either side of the knee and a tight bandage of cloth wrapped stiffly about it—a handkerchief serving admirably. If it is necessary to walk home, the pain, as well as common sense, will teach him to throw no weight on the injured limb. When he gets home he should have strong massage and strips of adhesive plaster put around the knee, holding the troublesome bone pan in place. No bathing or dressing of it is necessary.

If one has access to a doctor's rooms or hospitals, he can study the position of the kneepan and will wonder why it is not displaced oftener, it is so loosely hung. Its name defines its shape, and its position as layer over the two knee joints is secured by means of a strong muscle that passes over it and to which the pan adheres. It is the wrenching away from this muscle at the lower end that causes the dislocation and which makes locomotion an almost impossible thing. The bandage or strips of plaster keeping the pan in position allows the muscle to grow back on the bone.

This form of injury is common among athletic girls, especially those given to jumping and climbing.

How Cold Can Burn.

In the accidents which have attended the manipulation of liquid air and other substances in his laboratory, M. Raoul Pictet has distinguished two degrees of burns from the intense cold. In the first the skin is reddened, turning blue the next day. The spot doubles in area on the following days, there is intense itching and five or six weeks are usually required for healing. In the more severe burns, those of the second degree, the skin is rapidly detached. A long and stubborn suppuration sets in, and healing is very slow and altogether different from that of burns from fire. On one occasion M. Pictet, while suffering from a burn due to a drop of liquid air, seriously scorched the same hand. The scorched portion was healed in ten or twelve days, whereas the cold burn was still open six months afterwards.—London Public Opinion.

The Sun's Three Motions.

The sun has three known motions: 1. An axial rotation, which is plainly shown by the appearance and disappearance of well-known spots upon his surface. The mean period of this axial motion is 23½ of our days. 2. A motion around the centre of gravity of the whole solar system—a motion which can only be ascertained by the use of very delicate instruments on account of his great mass, which is greater than the total of all the other bodies of the system combined. 3. A progressive motion through space in the direction of the constellation of Hercules. The rate of speed of this last named motion is not known, but is estimated to be 15,000,000 miles per year, and some investigators even think it possible that the rate will exceed the above estimate by at least half.

Broken in Health

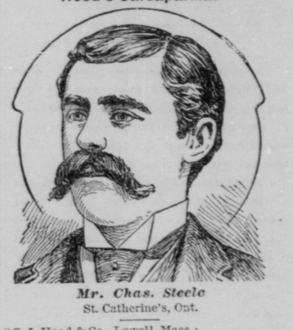
Appetite and Health Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.



Mr. Chas. Steele
St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any source until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and I Feel Like a New Man.

I have a good appetite, feel as strong as ever I did, and enjoy perfect rest at night. I have much pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla." CHARLES STEELE, with Erle Preserving Co., St. Catherine's, Ontario.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient, yet easy in action. Sold by all druggists. 25c.

The Art

of never forgetting is acquired by learning to remember the right thing at the right time. For instance, should you have any uneasiness at the stomach at any time, think of Adams' TUTTI FRUTTI. It gives immediate and permanent relief.

See that no imitation is palmed off on you.

CHARLES E. THORNE,

Practical Plumber, Gas and Sanitary Engineer.

Having for a number of years worked in the United States with an experienced Plumber, will now furnish first-class work and jobbing of all kinds at short notice.
