THE GUARDIAN, CHARLOTTETOWN

JUNE 11, 1951

Well, the City Baseball League got rolling for the season here yesterday afternoon and was blessed with perfect ball weather and a good turnout of interested fans for the opener. It was a good opening game too — at least for six innings. From that point on, the Anchors, who were a winning team until then, blew up in typical pre-season form to go down to a bad drubbing at the hands of the Falcons.

Boring in behind some steady pitching by Jackie Burke, the Anchors had things pretty well their own way in the early stages of the game. They held a 4-0 lead after three and a half innings of play, but the Falcons started to warm up to their task when they scored with their first run in the last of the fourth. Holding tight with their opponents for the next one and a half innings, the Falcons started to roll in the sixth, opened up even more in the seventh and ran rampant in the eighth.

Chalking up two runs in the last of the sixth to cut Anchors lead to 4-3, the Falcons gave up two runs in the top of the seventh only to come roaring back in their own half of the frame with four to take the lead for the first time in the game. From there on it was the Falcons all the way. Pulling out Burke in the seventh to replace him with Merlin "Red" MacKenzie, who moved up from his left field position to the mound, the Anchor's strategy didn't have much effect on the Falcons. But it wasn't MacKenzie's fault by any means.

Red only gave up five hits, but his teammates got definitely ragged around him to come up with a free-run of miscues and bobbles in the eighth and allow the Falcons, who were definitely on the upgrade anyway, to send 10 runs across the plate, all coming after two men had been retired. The Falcons, who had gone through their complete batting order for their four runs in the seventh, sent 15 men to the plate in the eighth before they were brought to a halt.

Despite the disappointment to himself and most fans over the main-bout fracas which took place at the Forum last Tuesday, Forum manager Bill Brown is determined to give fans the type of action they want to see, and is going to stage another card there on the 19th of this month, which will be a Maritime welterweight title bout.

Harry "Kid" Poulton will put his Maritime crown on the line against Howard Leslie of Saint John on that date. The Charlottetown boy has always given fans both here and other parts of the Maritimes plenty of smart action for their money, and it is manager Brown's belief that Leslie will be a worthy opponent for Poulton that will make a good feature attraction to head up a card that will present four supporting preliminary bouts.

Promoter Brown has also received word from Tommy "Gun" Spencer of New Waterford (concluded in a telegram yesterday) that he will challenge the winner of the Poulton-Leslie scrap in a further card here. Commenting on the forthcoming card, manager Brown said last night "I will make every effort to hand-pick my contestants for the next bouts and be sure that it will be one that will give the fans some good, clean action in the hopes that it will help to atone for the disappointment of last Tuesday."

Falcons Defeat West End Anchors 17-6 In City Baseball League Opener

The Northwest Falcons took the initial lead in the City Baseball League when they trounced the West End Anchors by a 17-6 count in the league opener at Memorial Field yesterday afternoon before a large crowd of fans. Trailing the Anchors 6-3 going into the last half of the seventh, Falcons broke out with a four-run spree to take a one-run edge and holding the Anchors scoreless in the top of the eighth went wild in their own trip at bat to push 10 runs across the plate. Frequent errors and slack play on the part of the Anchors in the seventh and eighth aided the Falcons winning cause.

Falcons retired Anchors in straight order in the top of the ninth to put the game on ice. Merlin MacKenzie flew out to first and Glen Matheson and Elmer MacNeill were caught in a double play that retired the side and ended the half game. The double was Ready-Hennessey-Lewis.

Cliff Ready was the winning hurler for Falcons going the full route. Getting plenty of backing from his team, Ready singled for 12 hits that only allowed the Anchors six runs. He struck-out one, gave up one base on balls and hit one batter. Vernon Larter did the receiving.

Merlin MacKenzie was credited with the Anchor's loss when he relieved Jack Burke in the seventh while leading by a 6-3 count. MacKenzie struck out three, gave up three walks, hit two batters and gave up five hits for 14 runs.

Pitching good ball for the Anchors for six innings, Burke whiffed eight batters, allowed five hits, walked five and had three runs scored while on the mound.

Cliff Ready swung the heavy bat when he collected two, three-base hits, while Glen Matheson and Maurice Flynn of Anchors ran him a close second with a triple each. Anchors chalked up 12 errors and

C. and B. Juniors Win 17-5 From Kensington Team

The Curran & Briggs Juniors defeated the Kensington baseball team at the C. & B. diamond yesterday by the score of 17 to 5. Both teams were without some of their key players. Mark Delaney and Don Simmons pitched for C. & B. allowing only four hits in seven innings of play. The visitors used three flingers, Callaghan, Watson and Wilson, and the C. & B. aggregation banged out 12 safeties off their deliveries.

Hank Landry, filling in for a missing junior, hit 3 for 4. Mark Delaney 3 for 5, Garth Gay 2 for 3, Clive MacDonald 2 for 5, and Don Simmons 2 for 5. For the coxers Gordon MacKay, who will coach Kensington this year, hit 1 for 3, James Saunders 1 for 2, and George Watson 2 for 3. The C. & B. Juniors made only two miscues while Kensington had 11 errors charged against them. MacKay's hit was a booming triple to left field and the fleetfooted shortstop was tagged out trying to stretch the blow into a home run. George Watson, Hank Landry, Mark Delaney and Clive MacDonald hit doubles.

WIN CONTROL

The heaviest Communist artillery shelling in two weeks blazed in this sector, north of Yangku, about 30 miles inland from the east coast. United Nations forces moved west around the east tip of the Kwachon reservoir.

The Reds abandoned Chorwon and Kumhwa several days ago but left stout rear-guards defending the southern approaches. When the rear-guard defences crumbled the vital base areas themselves were uncovered to the advancing Allies.

Chinese Losses Heavy

Van Fleet said that between May 16, when the Reds launched their second spring offensive, and last Saturday, Communist casualties were estimated at 170,400 dead, wounded or captured.

He said that during this period preliminary reports showed U.N. troops had captured enough military supplies to equip at least three Chinese divisions — 18,000 to 24,000 men.
