FACES COURT-MARTIAL
Sgt. Colonel Dean Chase, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah, has been ordered to face a court-martial because he wrote a letter to Gen. Mark Clark, Supreme Allied Commander in the Pacific, criticizing Clark's handling of the Kojima Island, Korea, prisoner-of-war incident.

Honoured At Shower

Miss June Doull, who is to become a June bride, was tendered a miscellaneous shower, by her many friends, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sturdy, Carleton, on Friday, June 6th.

The bride-to-be was escorted to a beautifully decorated seat of honour by Miss Rowena Harvey. Then little Miss Dianna Sturdy and Master Bobby LaVoie, attired as bride and groom, carried in nicely decorated baskets bearing many lovely gifts, which were opened by Miss Angelina Gallant, accompanying verses read by Mrs. Clifford Rogers, and arranged on table by Miss Pauline LaVoie.

June in her most gracious manner thanked her friends for their kind remembrances. Then all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," after which a sumptuous lunch was served to all.

"The regular meeting of the Little Flower sub-division Catholic Women's League was held Sunday afternoon, June 8th. Due to the inclemency of the weather, the attendance was very small.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Rossiter presided and the meeting opened with the League prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. There was no correspondence or reports from conveners.

The date was set for the annual cleaning of the church. It was decided to give the treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Jay, a gift in appreciation of her service to the League during the past ten years. The altar linen was given to Mrs. Rossiter and Mrs. Rooney to launder for this month. Appointment of delegates to the

CNR Plan Establishment Of Defence Organization For The Atlantic Region

HALIFAX, June 19 —(Special)—Plans for the establishment of a civil defence organization in the Atlantic Region are being considered by the Canadian National Railways, J. K. Tambling, Montreal, general supervisor of first aid for the system, said here Wednesday. The scheme required much first aid training and planning and it was hoped that work could be started late this year or early in 1953.

Already the company's organization has been established in the central region and it is now prepared to protect the 50,000 employees and the Canadian National Property in case of emergency. Mr. Tambling said. The experience gained in the target areas there would be of considerable benefit in establishing the organization in the four Atlantic provinces.

"We have more than 12,000 employees now fully trained in the first aid work across the system," he said, "and many of them are located in the Atlantic Region. Classes are being held at Charlottetown, Truro, Stellarton, New Glasgow, Sydney, North Sydney, Bridgewater, Chester, Halifax, Sackville, Fredericton, Edmundston, Saint John, Campbellton, Bathurst and Moncton."

Each year more than 300 employees attend the classes in the Atlantic region and become proficient in rendering first aid treatment. To provide this training required considerable organization by R. E. Cunningham, Moncton, regional supervisor of first aid, who travelled by train and track speeder more than 100,000 miles a year.

Mr. Tambling, who is accompanied by Mr. Cunningham, is making a tour of the Atlantic Region. He has visited Moncton and following a three-day stay here will go to Truro, New Glasgow, Sydney, North Sydney, Port Aux Basques, Corner Brook, Grand Falls, St. John's, and Saint John, N. B. He will visit Prince Edward Island later.

Seaway Project Killed Again In U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—The senate paying no heed to a plea by President Truman, Wednesday killed legislation authorizing the United States to join with Canada in construction of the $18,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

It ordered, by a vote of 43 to 40, that the bill be returned to committee for further study. The action doomed any possibility of the measure again being considered at this session of Congress.

Canada, which months ago announced it would construct the seaway by itself if Congress refused to let the United States join in the development, reacted swiftly.

Lionel Chevrier, Canada's Transport Minister, reporting the senate action to the House of Commons, said it would not interfere in the slightest with Canada's intention to proceed with the development on its own side of the St. Lawrence.

Chevrier added that a Canadian-American application to the International Joint Commission for permission to develop the river's hydro-electric potential would be submitted forthwith.

Congressional permission for American participation in the Dioxan Convention and Retreat was left until a later date.

The secretary was asked to order an assortment of cards to be used by the League. The meeting then closed with prayer.

power project alone is not required. The procedure in this case will be for the Canadian and American Government to ask the International Joint Commission to approve an application to build a power dam across the St. Lawrence River.

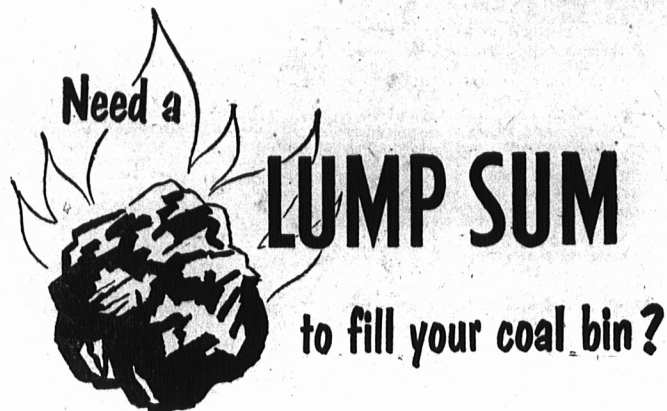

If the commission approves the application, the participating U. S. agency—most likely New York State—will then apply to the Federal Power Commission for a licence to construct its half of the power project.

Truman Urges Project

A letter from Truman to Senator Richard Russell (Dem. Ga.) asserting that failure of the U. S. to participate in the development would be "one of the worst economic mistakes" it has ever made, was read to the senate shortly before the vote.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.), a seeker of the Democratic presidential nomination, also urged his colleagues not to send the measure back to the senate foreign relations committee. A similar plea was made yesterday by Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio), a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Truman warned that all-Canadian construction of the waterway would mean that the United States would have to pay tolls on every ton of iron ore from the newly-opened deposits in Labrador.

COAL usually comes cheaper in the good old summer time. But, for many of us, it's often a problem getting those dollars on the line right now — to take advantage of today's lower prices. That's where a B of M Coal Loan can be so handy.

To get in while the going's good, you should see the manager in your neighborhood branch of the Bank of Montreal. If you have an assured income and can repay a loan in nine monthly instalments, or less, the B of M will gladly underwrite your coal bill.

To take advantage of seasonally lower prices... to be sure of your full supply... to get your coal delivered dry... and to be snug — and snug — next winter when the last-minute rush to the coal dealer is on... see the man in "MY BANK". And why not do it today while you have it in mind?
