Growing Influence Forecast From 'Pre-Prepared' Trend

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent Canadian educationist said here the trends are already showing which may result in the family of the future being entirely dependent on pre-prepared foods, prefabricated clothing and automatically controlled housing.

Prof. Helen R. Neilson, director of the School of Household Science at McGill University's Macdonald College, said there is an ever-widening gap between technological developments and understanding of these advances by the public.

If the present trend continues, she told the Canadian Food Conference the following things might occur:

Apart from the care of the very young infant, the ro'e of the father and mother will be less clearly defined. Both will work away from home.

Dwellings will be small, compact and many of the present household appliances, such as washing machines, will be replaced by community services. Specialized housekeeping skills no longer will be needed by the mother.

Clothes will be made of synthetic fabrics and everyday clothing will be large'y disposable.

Most foods will be pre-prepared and will require little or no handling in the home.

Commented Prof. Nei'son: "Far-fetched, perhaps it is, but these trends are showing now."

Liberals Aim Medical Care For Welfare Aid Recipients

A resolution that the provincial government take immediate steps to give medical care insurance to the recipients and dependents of welfare allowances in Prince Edward Island will be moved by Dr. M. L. Bonnell (L-4th Kings), according to notice posted in the Legislature Thursday.

The resolution also asks that the "medical society of Prince Edward Island" and the citizens of the province be consulted as to the type of insurance coverage to be made available to this welfare group.

A third part of the resolution asks that a committee be set up immediately of interested and representative citizens to study and recommend a type of medical care insurance "for all our citizens so that we shall be able to take full advantage of any federal offer when such an offer is made to this province."

In the preamble to the resolution it is stated that "most of the federal political parties in Canada are promising a medical care insurance plan."

Seconder of the resolution will be George Ferguson (L - 5th Kings).

OBITUARY

Inserted by friends and relatives as a tribute to the deceased.

MRS. SAMUEL B. FRENCH

There entered into rest at the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Wednesday morning, March 6th, 1963, after a short illness Lillia May Higgins, widow of the late Samuel B. French, 243 Pownal Street, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, aged 76 years.

The late Mrs. French was a lady of many fine qualities of heart and mind amongst them being a spirit of hospitality in her home, for which she was widely known, loved and respected, as long as her health permitted she maintained a special interest in her church, which she loved to attend, the WMS. LOBA, and Order of the Eastern Star of which societies she was a valued member. She was a daughter of the late George Higgins, and his wife Charlotte Inman of South Melville, P.E.I, and leaves to mourn their loss a daughter (Lorxine) Mrs. Neil MacLeod who tenderly cared for her mother during her illness, also five grandchildren and one great grandchild. A brother Lorne Higgins, the last surviving member of her family, resides at Crapaud. She also leaves to mourn a number of neices and nephews, besides a host of other relatives and friends who will ever cherish her memory.

Her funeral on Friday, March 8th, from Zion Presbyterian Church was largely attended. Her pastor, Rev. Donald Campbell spoke fittingly of the deceased with special mention of her unfailing faith in her Risen Saviour which she manifested at all times. Two beautiful solos "My faith looks up to Thee" and Nearer my God to Thee" were rendered by Sterling Inman.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful testifying to the high esteem in which the late Mrs. French was held. The Funeral directors were A. B. Cutcliffe and Son, and interment was in Crapaud Cemetery where she was lovingly laid to rest there to await the glorious Ressurection, when the dead in Christ shall rise first. Pallbearers were Melville Higgins, Ralph Higgins, Spurgeon MacLennan, Waldron Cameron, Howard Mac Kinnon and Sterling MacKinnon. Flower bearers were: Murdock Nicholson, E. G. Lewis Frank Moran, Alfred MacDonald, Ted Strang and Lewis Ward.

Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, they do rest from their labors, and their works do follow them.

TOLL RISES

JAKARTA (Reuters)—An Indonesian Red Cross official told reporters Wednesday casualties on the island of Bali have risen to 10 dead and 100 injured in the eruption of Mount Agung. Government officials have broadcast an appeal for volunteers to help evacuate thousands of villagers on the island. A month of violent eruption has wiped out many villages and thousands of persons are homeless, he said.

What Do I Wish?

Pam can't keep a secret. She'll probably tell us what she wished before the cake is half eaten.

Whatever her wish, it will be for a little girl type of thing.

But—what of me? What do I wish for my daughter? Success in a career . . . happy marriage . . . children . . . a beautiful home . . . a fair share of worldly goods . . . health . . . happiness?

I suppose I wish all of these things for Pam, in some measure. But if I had to limit myself to a single wish—I would ask for her a deep and abiding faith. How wonderful it is to have an unshaken belief in God's ways and His works, plus the conviction of His love for us.

Some of us may be limited in our ability to give our children material things, but we need never stint on teaching them spiritual values. Start taking your children to church and church school this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jesus Answers His Critics

Scripture—Mark 12:13-44.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Seeking to trap Christ and discredit Him before the people or provide legal pretext for His arrest, the Jewish authorities asked Him whether or not to pay taxes to Rome. He told them to render Caesar's things to Caesar, God's to God.—Mark 12:12-7.

Then one of the scribes, who were overly concerned with the intricacies of the law, asked Christ, "Which commandment is the first of all?" He replied that the first was to love God, and the second to love one's neighbor as oneself.—Mark 12:28-34.

To the multitude He voiced His condemnation of the authorities, saying that they went about in long robes, seeking salutations and places of honor while they took advantage of helpless poor and made long, insincere prayers. Mark 12:38-40.

At the temple treasury Christ watched the people make donations. Although many rich people put in much, He commended most the poor widow whose two-copper donation was her whole living.—Mark 12:41-44.

MEMORY VERSE:—"For I have not spoken on my own authority; the father who sent Me has Himself given Me commandment what to say and what to speak".—John 12:49.

THREE SINS CONDEMNED

Trap Is Set For Christ

(Editor's note: The following material relating to tomorrow's Sunday School lesson is based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches in the U.S. and is used by permission.)

By N. SPEER JONES

THIS WEEK'S lesson is a continuation of the events which took place on Tuesday of Holy Week. It includes three more questions by interrogators sent to trap Him, a question which Christ asks them in return, His condemnation of these supposedly high and mighty beings, and His offsetting commendation of a humble woman who is truly following God's way.

The reason for these interrogations of Jesus was, as we have seen, the jealousy - driven desire on the part of the Jewish authorities to rid themselves of Christ without incurring the wrath of the multitude, which at this time showed itself favorable to Him. They reasoned that if they could discredit Him with the multitude, they would be able to do away with Him.

For the first question they sent a group of Pharisees and Herodians. The Herodians were Jews who were loyal to the Roman government of Herod. Thus it was natural that their question should concern some Roman rulings — in this case, the tribute, or poll tax, owed to the government which afforded them certain privileges, but which was hated by the Jews because it recognized a ruler other than one of themselves.

So potent was the people's feeling that after Christ's time, Judas of Galilee was able to lead a rebellion against Rome around the rallying cry that it was unlawful to pay tribute to Caesar. So if Christ answered in the affirmative, He would lose the people's sympathy; if He answered in the negative, the authorities had easy pretext to arrest Him.

Christ's answer made it clear that He separated temporal from spiritual authority; He implied, too, that these people, who used the Roman money and accepted Roman privileges, owed a fiscal payment to Rome. Here we see Christ's emphasis on the necessity of temporal government along with obedience to God's spiritual rule.

The next question is asked by the Sadducees, and this fact in itself marks their question with insincerity; the Sadducees did not believe in a resurrection of any sort, so why should they be concerned about marriage in a future life?

The third question is asked by a scribe, and it naturally concerns the laws, the chief concern of the scribes, who argue interminably about them. For instance, at Christ's time they he'd that there were exactly 613 precepts, comprising 248 "commands" and 365 "prohibitions." They were so preoccupied with these petty considerations that they failed to realize the importance of God's first commandment, as declared in the Decalogue.

Christ, in answering, does not go back to the Decalogue, however, but to Deuteronomy 6:4, 5 —the so-called "Shema," a passage so important that it is recited every day by anOrthodox Jew. For the second commandment, Christ goes to Leviticus 19:18. It is plain from his answer that the scribe has been won over to Christ.

Christ's question to His interrogators implies His dual Divine-human nature. The Jewish authorities failed to recognize Christ as the Messiah because he did not assume complete temporal authority, restoring the physical kingdom of David.

Christ then accuses the authorities of three great sins—ambition, cruelty (as regarding helpless widows) and insincerity in their religion.

He praises the poor widow for the chief virtue which the mighty authorities lack; her religious sincerity governed her whole life.

Island Plays Given Praise By Adjudicator

HALIFAX (CP) — The adjudicator of the Nova Scotia regional finals of the Dominion Drama Festival which begin this week says live theatre will continue to expand in Canada if theatre groups are not competent and put more effort into educating their audiences.

William Needles, an actor himself, has just returned from the Prince Edward Island regional finals in Charlottetown where he said he found the calibre of the plays presented "surprisingly high."

"Live theatre has developed in Canada within the last 10 years," Mr. Needles said. "Our standard of acting is known in all the English - speaking world."

Mr. Needles also said the Neptune Theatre for Professional Repetory which opens here July 1 is "an enormous assistance to drama generally."

Although born in New York, Mr. Needles has worked as an actor mostly in Canada. For 15 years he had a part in the CBC radio serial John and Judy.

Four Nova Scotia theatre groups are entering plays in the regional finals here that end Saturday. The Theatre Arts Guild of Halifax is presenting The Caucasian Chalk Circle, by Bertold Brecht tonight. Another city company, the Cathedral Players, will appear in Johnny Belinda by Elmer Harris Thursday night.

Friday the Dartmouth Drama Club will tackle Lillian Hellman's The Children's Hour and Saturday evenng Arthur Laiurent's Invitation to a March will be presented by the Travelling Players, another Halifax acting group.
