Eisenhower Completes 2-Day Visit To Ottawa

Tells Crowd He Would Like To Come Back

OTTAWA, (CP)—The official announcements had said "state visit." Some reporters preferred to refer to it as a "goodwill visit"; to others, it was a "courtesy call."

But when President Eisenhower and Mamie left for Washington in their special train early Sunday few in the friendly crowd of some 1,000 well-wishers gathered at Ottawa's Union Station were thinking in terms of the visit's official significance.

A loud cheer greeted the two as they entered the station in evening clothes and made their way past RCMP and Canadian Army "liners" to their waiting train.

Then, when the President and Mrs. Eisenhower disappeared momentarily into their special armored car, the crowd yelled: "We want Ike."

When the President appeared, alone, they shouted: "We want Mamie."

Soon, President and Mrs. Eisenhower were smiling and waving on the rear platform of their car. They were joined by Governor-General Massey and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

In a brief parting statement, the President said:

"We would like to come back some day. We've had the most wonderful treatment; everyone has been so kind."

Speaks In Parliament

OTTAWA, (CP)—President Eisenhower Saturday told Canadians they should prepare for atomic attack but maintain faith that lasting peace can be achieved without war.

Speaking before a joint session of the Commons and Senate, the President said Canada and the United States "can and will" devise ways to protect North America from any surprise attack from the air.

"The basic threat of Communist purpose still exists. Indeed the latest Soviet world is truculent, if not arrogant, in tone. Our security plans must now take into account Soviet ability to employ atomic attack on North America."

As parliamentarians applauded loudly, the President said firmly: "And we shall achieve the defence of our continent without whittling our pledges to western Europe or forgetting our friends in the Pacific"

Communique Issued

After his speech, the President conferred for 65 minutes with the

New Apostolic Delegate To Canada Named

OTTAWA, (CP)—A 58-year-old Italian who has served the Roman Catholic Church in Europe, South America and Australia has been appointed apostolic delegate to Canada.

The appointment of His Excellency Msgr. Giovanni Panico, titular Archbishop of Giustiniana, to the post was announced Saturday by the apostolic delegate's office here. He will succeed Archbishop Idebrandi Antonielli, recently named apostolic nunzio to Madrid.

The apostolic delegate's office said it had been advised of the appointment in a cable from Rome. Officials said Archbishop Panico is believed to be in Rome at present but they did not know when he will arrive in Canada.

Archbishop Panico, apostolic nunzio to Peru since September, 1948, will be the Pope's personal representative in Canada. Officials at the apostolic delegate's office said he will be the link between the Vatican and Canadian bishops, and will rank below cardinals.

Born In Italy

Archbishop Panico was born in Italy on April 12, 1895, and received his theological education at the Lastran University in Rome. He was ordained a priest on March 14, 1919.

Archbishop Panico was later attached to the apostolic nunciature in Bolivia, Argentina and Czechoslovakia. For a time he was also in charge of a special diplomatic mission in the Saar area between France and Germany.

On Dec. 8, 1935, he was appointed apostolic delegate to Australia and promoted to titular archbishop. He remained in Australia until September of 1948, when he was transferred to Peru as apostolic nunzio.

Fantastic Story of Spy's Exploits Reported As Hoax

CALGARY, (CP)—The fantastic story of the exploits of a self-styled Canadian espionage agent, which gained world-wide attention after its publication in an international magazine this month, has been exposed as "the greatest hoax in the history of journalism."

George Dupre, former RCMP officer living in Calgary, admitted his story of torture in France as a Second World War espionage agent was false after he was exposed in an article that appeared in the Calgary Herald Friday.

Despite the warnings of his wife, who said Saturday she had known of the fiction since 1946, Dupre has continued to tell his tale of espionage work in France from 1940 to 1944.

Dupre became known as "the Canadian who wouldn't talk" when his story, written by American writer Quentin Reynolds, appeared in the November issue of Reader's Digest.

Warned Husband

Mrs. Dupre said she constantly warned her husband because of the difficulties it might bring on the family.

Dewitt Wallace, publisher of Reader's Digest, described Dupre's imaginary experiences as "the greatest hoax in the history of journalism."

Author Reynolds said he was "shocked and appalled" by Dupre's admission his story was a fabrication. Reynolds added he assumed the man's story was valid since it had gained circulation in Canada

French Farmer Confesses To Drummond Murders

DIGNE, France, (AP)—A bearded, 76-year-old French farmer patriarch, accused by two of his own sons, was formally charged Sunday with the triple slaying 15 months ago of British nutrition expert Sir Jack Drummond, Lady Drummond and their 11-year-old daughter.

Police said the aged man, Gaston Dominici, admitted he killed the holidaying Drummonds early on the morning of Aug. 5, 1952, after Sir Jack, 61, caught him peeping into their roadside camp to watch Lady Ann Drummond undress. The camp was 200 yards from Dominici's stone farm house in southeastern France.

Detective George Harzig gave a press conference this version of Dominici's three confessions:

Around midnight, as was Dominici's custom, he was out hunting and he approached the Drummond car. He saw a woman—it was Lady Ann—undressing and he came closer to spy upon her.

Tried To Escape

The woman saw or heard him and she screamed. This aroused Drummond who angrily demanded what he was doing there. They began quarrelling and exchanged blows. Dominici, enraged, fired first at Sir Jack and then at Lady Ann, killing them both. He also fired at the child Elisabeth, but the bullet only grazed her ear and she ran screaming toward the river to escape. He pursued her. She fell upon her knees and covered her head with her hands. He had no more bullets, so he clubbed her with the rifle butt.

Investigation of the slayings was re-opened two days ago when Dominici's sons, Gustave and Clovis, told police their father was the killer. Harzig said the investigation is continuing to determine whether the sons were accomplices. He said Gaston seems anxious to implicate Gustave, 32, but that the evidence indicates the sons were only moral accomplices, helping their father clear away evidence of guilt.

Soldiers Welcomed Home From Korea

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Vancouver gave a sunny, whistling welcome Saturday to 1,074 Canadian soldiers home from Korea.

The welcome opened on the ear-shattering blast of bugles' whistles and ships' sirens and ended on the cheers of thousands of Vancouverites as the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, paraded through downtown streets before departing by rail for another reception at Calgary Sunday.

Even the words of welcome were tailored to the desire of soldiers anxious to reach their homes across the country with a minimum of delay.

U. S. Senate May Call FBI Head; Truman To Speak

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senate Republican leaders opened the way Sunday to call FBI director J. Edgar Hoover for testimony on any claim by former president Truman that he kept Harry Dexter White in the government as a defector for surveillance of Communist spy suspects.

Truman announced Sunday he will go on the air tonight to "tell all the facts" of the sensational case, which broke open when Attorney-General Herbert Brownell accused Truman of promoting White to high office in the face of FBI reports which, Brownell said, showed White to be a Soviet spy.

The address will be carried simultaneously on radio and television by ABC and CBS at 11 p.m. EST. NBC will televise the program "live" at that time and broadcast the speech via radio at 11:30 p.m.

In advance of Truman's speech, various reports have been circulating widely. Some Democratic supporters of Truman have passed the word that the President kept White in the government to see if the FBI could catch him, and possibly others, in any act of espionage. Other sources have countered by saying that FBI chief Hoover entered into no such arrangement and knew nothing of it.

Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, said that if Truman "gives us his version of the case that White was a White in the government, then Hoover should be called."

One Dead And Two Missing In YMCA Building Blaze

ST. THOMAS, Ont., (CP)—One man was killed and two others were missing Sunday in a fire at the Y. M. C. A. building here. Two other men were injured.

Thomas Dunn, 73, of London, Ont., was found dead in the three-story building after the blaze was brought under control. Injured were Percy Woods, 48, and Oliver H. C. Webb, 63.

The missing men were identified as G. Russell Grimmon, about 65, of Port Stanley, Ont., and W. Attaman.

More than 30 other persons escaped.

The top two floors were partially destroyed. Firemen managed to save the main floor and gymnasium.

Firemen said the outbreak was believed to have been caused by a careless smoker in the second floor section of the lodgers' quarters. The building, erected in 1916, contained 40 rooms and was insured for $200,000. Damage was estimated at more than $150,000.

Mrs. Eisenhower Gets Gold Pendant On 57th Birthday

OTTAWA, (CP)—Mamie's husband gave her a gold pendant Saturday as a token of love on her 57th birthday.

The President's wife also got a few other gifts from White House staff members, along with 57 roses from the camera man accompanying President Eisenhower on his two-day state visit to this capital.

Mr. Eisenhower gave his surprise gift to Mrs. Eisenhower just before breakfast. It was inscribed with the seal of the U. S. President. Filled with the gift, Mrs. Eisenhower intends to link it to a chain and wear it as a wrist piece.

Officials said that before the presidential party left the White House last Thursday, the White House staff presented Mrs. Eisenhower with a porcelain figurine purchased in Paris. Mrs. Grace Gruenther, wife of Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO commander, was designated as the purchaser.

White House staff members on the presidential train presented her with a gold maple leaf pin. There are a lot of other gifts awaiting her when she returns to the White House.

Her birthday passed quietly. U.S. embassy staff members greeted her with a "happy birthday" tune as she and the President visited the embassy.

Prince Charles Fifth Birthday On Saturday

LONDON, (Reuters)—Church bells pealed all over Britain Saturday as Prince Charles, watched over by his sister and his grandmother, opened a pile of gaily-wrapped presents marking his fifth birthday.

Photographs released to the press by Royal household officials showed the Prince dressed in a cream shirt and pale blue shorts with a blue four-in-hand tie held down by a gold clasp. Charles has led the fashions of his age almost since birth, pioneering the bow tie now a favorite with the under-fives.

High spot of his day, spent quietly at the Royal lodge in Windsor, 29 miles outside London, was a long distance call from his mother and father. Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are preparing for their forthcoming tour round-the-world at Sandringham, another Royal home in Norfolk.

While the nation saluted him with the flying of flags and the pealing of bells, the BBC greeted early morning listeners with the national anthem as a tribute to Charles.

He was calm about the absence

Wants Rest Of Territory In Exchange

By ALEX SINGLETON
BELGRADE, (AP)—President Tito offered Sunday to surrender Yugoslavia's claim upon the strategic Adriatic port city of Trieste provided his country is allowed to annex the rest of the free territory of Trieste zone A.

His surprise proposal was advanced as a compromise solution to a violent dispute between Yugoslavia and Italy which arose a month ago when Britain and the United States announced a decision to pull their troops out of zone A and turn the entire area, including the port, over to Italy.

Tito declared his proposal is the only basis on which Yugoslavia will consider taking part in a conference with Britain, France, the United States and Italy on the violent Trieste dispute.

He hinted such a conference has already been arranged.

Zonal Corridor

His suggestion constituted a substantial modification of a proposal he advanced Oct. 10 which called for creation of two autonomous areas, internationalizing the port city under Italian sovereignty with the balance of zone A being placed under Yugoslav control.

This previous proposal met with scant approval from Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella's government, partly at least on the grounds that some sort of corridor would have to be created through Yugoslav

Island Members Prepare For Legislative Chores

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Members of the Commons and Senators from Prince Edward Island this week-end studied the Speech from the Throne for indications of forthcoming benefits to their Province. They were less than they had hoped, but more than in throne speeches of immediate past sessions.

Obvious point in the speech in the interest of the Province was the pledge of improvement in insurance of lobster fishermen against storm damage. While this had been announced previously, its presence in the Governor-General's speech means a definite commitment as parliamentary assistant to Fisheries Minister James Sinclair, J. Watson MacNaught, Liberal MP for Prince is in a position to make the best possible agreement to protect lobstermen against severe storm losses.

Almost lost in the text of the Throne Speech is mention of the Government's intention to amend the Municipal Grants Act. A broadening of this act could mean very substantial benefits for both Charlottetown and Summerside.

At present only cities where federally-owned Crown property amounts to four percent or more of the total municipal assessment can qualify for grants to municipalities in lieu of taxes. The promised amendment may either reduce this percentage or eliminate it altogether. This would mean that municipal taxes would be paid on federally-owned property in both Charlottetown and Summerside including the proposed federal building in the provincial capital.

The Abbott Formula

These properties would still not pay 100 percent of municipal taxes. Under the Abbott formula for compensation for municipal taxes, only seventy-five percent of the assessed value of federal property is taxable, and even then, the assessment is fixed by federal authorities and not by the city concerned.

Importance of these federal grants to municipalities in lieu of taxes
