12 Candidates To Seek Election In Province

By NEIL A. MATHESON Provincial and Farm Editor The nomination Wednesday of Arnold Wood, Cape Wolfe, to represent the New Democratic party as candidate in Prince County, virtually completes the slate of candidates who will be seeking support of P.E.I. voters in the federal election, expected next year.

The Liberals and the New Democrats have completed their slates, and it is practically certain that at the Progressive Conservative will go with the same people who are now representing them in the House of Commons.

MUST NOMINATE The members have to stand for nomination, but there has been no indication that any of them will be opposed.

Island Highways Are Inspected Highways Minister Philip Matheson and deputy minister Gordon White left yesterday morning on a general inspection tour of parts of the province's highway system.

During the past two weeks, highways suffered considerable damage because of heavy rains and melting snow.

The Liberals completed their slate last month when they named Alison Gillis, Charlottetown, and Ira Lewis, York, to represent them in Queens County.

Thomas J. Kichham, Kings West, is the candidate in St. John's, and George Mackenzie, Liberal candidate in Prince.

Leo P. McInnes, Mermad and Wilfred Hanson, East Royalty, are the New Democratic candidates in Queens, and Thomas Dunphy, Peakes is the party's choice in Kings county.

PC MEMBERS In addition to Dr. Phillips, well known Aberdeen dentist, the PCs have Fisheries Minister, Angus MacInnes, East Royalty, are the New Democratic candidates in Queens, and Thomas Dunphy, Peakes is the party's choice in Kings county.

Dr. Phillips and Mr. Macquarrie were first elected in the general election of 1957. Mr. MacLean was successful in a by-election in 1951, after being defeated in the general elections of 1945 and 1949.

Mr. MacLean is the first portfolio cabinet member the province has had since the late Dr. Cyrus Macmillan, who was appointed minister of fisheries in 1950.

Mr. Wood, last night's New Democratic party choice, in Prince, is one of the province's best known farmers and leaders in co-operative efforts. Mr. MacInnes has been extensively at Mermad, where he is developing a herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle, operates a farm machinery business at Prince of Wales College, he has also served with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Mr. Inman, a former officer with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is now in the Reserve and holds the rank of Lieutenant-Commander. A one-time military instructor at Prince of Wales College, he has also served with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Mr. Dunphy, an agricultural economist, came here from Treva, N.S. where he was manager of the provincial exhibition, after working for the department of agriculture in several capacities.

CHEQUE FOR $70, an amount and an album were presented to Mrs. W. W. Reid, provincial director of Junior Red Cross by the Tignish Regional High School group at a meeting this week. The money will be used for Greek school supplies. Those above are left to right, Sandra Bernard, Philip Reid, Macdonald, Mrs. Reid, Caroline Ploce and Elnor Gavlin.

Fund Raising Is Successful By Tignish Junior Red Cross

TIGNISH — The grade 10 A class of the Tignish Regional High School was declared the winner of the inter-class fundraising competition for the Junior Red Cross.

A total of $235.87 was raised in the competition. The Junior Red Cross voted $30 at its meeting Tuesday in which the results were announced, to send a delegate to the Red Cross training centre that will be held in Charlottetown in July.

Money was also voted to provide a Red Cross first aid kit for the school and a cheque for $70 to be used for a chest of school supplies to be sent to a school in Greece was presented to Mrs. W. W. Reid, Charlottetown, provincial director of Junior Red Cross, by Phillip Macdonald.

An album which had been made by the girls and an album were also presented to Mrs. Reid.

Mrs. Reid praised the high school members for their efforts and told of how much the school supplies sent to Greece and the health kits sent to hurricane-ravaged British Honduras, and to members of island families when disaster strikes, are appreciated.

She also told of another project "freedom from hunger" which is underway in Canada now by the Red Cross and other organizations. The director also gave some new ideas for fund raising projects which the members might try.

Mrs. Reid was introduced by the president, Lorraine Ploce, and thanked by Michael Myer, Rev. Sister St. Patrick and the high school principals, and Rev. Sister St. Patrick also complimented the various classes on their efforts.

Reports were read by the secretary, David Perry, including a letter from the Junior Red Cross in Queen Square School, Charlottetown. The class presidents, Lloyd Ellsworth, grade 12, Judy Gaudet, grade 11; Patsy Kennedy, grade 10A; Muriel Hoxan grade 10 B; Roberta LeClair, grade nine girls; Roy Henderson, grade nine boys.

Funds were raised through party sales, baggins, lotteries, hockey pools, school lunches and films.

A committee of six, Edward Harper, David Perry, Judson Mallette, Eliseon Chastain, Charlene Harper and Catherine Fraser were named to clean up the school grounds.

The meeting also expressed its interest in helping the retarded children's class at the Dalton School.

The department of agriculture is holding a series of dairy courses this week and next.

The meetings are to put emphasis on increased milk production and improved quality of milk and cream. Meetings are held in local halls of the communities involved.

A meeting was held yesterday in St. Ignace today at LeGarde town, next Tuesday at Murray Harbor, Wednesday at Healdville, and Thursday at Fortuque.

The daily meetings are split in two parts, one part starts at 2 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. Afternoon lectures cover pasture management, soil sampling, herd management and animal diseases. Evening meetings are highlighted by an address by Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae.

Carl Adams, assistant dairy superintendent for the department, lectures on herd improvement and milk and cream quality.

Representatives of the federal department of agriculture also take part.
