CORINNA, Me., Nov. 29.

About five o'clock this afternoon the inhabitants of North Newport were startled by hearing three pistol shots in rapid succession. Shortly afterwards a horse and carriage ran into the yard of John Dodge. In the carriage Miss Nellie Prilay of North Newport, lay dying, with a bullet hole in her left temple. Charles Crowell jumped from the carriage but dropped before reaching the door. Crowell had a bullet hole in his right temple. They were carried into Dodge's house and both expired inside of twenty minutes. Both were insensible when found and did not recover consciousness. Before his death Crowell called at the schoolhouse in St Albans, this afternoon where Miss Prilay was teaching, to take her to her home in North Newport to spend Thanksgiving. He was seen driving through the Main Street in Corinna. About 4.30 he called at his home, located about half way between Corinna and North Newport, and it is supposed to have procured the revolver with which the deed was committed. A revolver, owned by Crowell, was found a short distance from Dodge's place, three chambers being empty. It is supposed that Crowell shot the girl and then shot himself. Crowell was 26 years old, Miss Prilay 18. Crowell has been paying attention to Miss Prilay for nearly two years. No motive for the deed is assigned.
