Early Season Catches Of Lobster Said Light

By STAN BOWLES
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

The first two days of the spring lobster fishing season have so far failed to bring in many reports of heavy catches being taken by lobstermen from any of the many fishing hamlets stretching from Victoria around the east end of the island and west along the north shore to North Cape.

The biggest catch reported so far is that of a North Lake fisherman, who took some 600 pounds from the 400 lobster pots he had yesterday. At Souris another landed 500 pounds from 375 traps, while on Tuesday one man also took 500 pounds but from close to 400 traps.

But in general the reports available last night were that most fishermen were getting a yield of from three-quarters to one pound per trap. Another reason given for the light hauls particularly along the north shore was the fact that yesterday was a day of high winds which prevented many fishermen from attempting to haul much of their gear.

ROUGH WATER

Boatsmen also received here last night that all traps were being set in rough water.

Driver Gets Fine Of $35

Thomas Moore, Rusticville, was fined $35 and costs or 15 days in jail by Magistrate J. B. Johnson yesterday on a charge of dangerous driving.

A second charge against Mr. Moore of obstructing the course of justice by giving a false statement to an RCMP policeman in connection with an accident in which Mr. Moore was involved called for a fine of $20 and costs.

Paul E. O'Brien, Charlottetown, was fined $10 for operating a vehicle in excess of the road restrictions 400 pounds, at that time Mr. O'Brien pleaded not guilty to a charge of being approximately 8,000 pounds per axle overweight.

But changed his plea when an error was found in the calculations of the constable making the charge revealing that he was actually 2,615 pounds per axle overweight.

Constables John J. Greer and Norman Curry of the RCMP, gave evidence. John J. Holmes acted on behalf of the accused.

Earlier in his talk Mr. Manuel had traced for his listeners the development of the Charlottetown water system from its inception and told of the many changes and tributes over the years.

He paid high tribute to the work of his predecessor as supervisor of the water system in Charlottetown, said in an interview Maxner would be smart "to work a year in the minor, go to Chicago Blackhawks from Junior. He said it is "surprising how much you can learn" in the minor.

Handicrafts Display Staged By Provincial 'San' Patients

The display of handicrafts staged yesterday in auditorium of the Provincial Sanatorium brought many expressions of praise for the high class of work done by patients in the hospital.

The work is carried on under the guidance of two instructors, Mrs. Malcolm Putnam, who teaches the female patients part-time, and Anthony (Tony) Burke who teaches the male patients on a full-time basis.

Whenever a patient desires to take up a handicraft with which to occupy his or her waking hours, both instructors are available at almost any hour, with a

Mrs. Putnam said last night that it had been hoped that the display could be held for several days, but due to the previously arranged commitments for a

Amalgamated Dairies Patrons Ask Increase

By NEIL MATHESON
Provincial Farm Editor

A marked increase in the production of milk and an increase in the price paid for milk were urged by patrons of Amalgamated Dairies Limited at the annual meeting in Summerside on Tuesday night.

Harold Affleck, Bedouque, urged that the production of T.M. Milk be increased to four times the present quantity, and that money should be used from the funds to develop the necessary markets.

Harold McIntyre, Grand River, urged that the price paid for milk be increased. Agreeing with assistant dairy superintendent Eri Adams that production per farm should be increased to at least 15 cows, he said "I have ten cows milking now and I'd put in another ten tomorrow if I could be assured of 25 cents per hundred pounds more."

Mr. McIntyre also protested against having to get up at 5.15 in the middle of the night "was the term he used" to get the milk out by the road to meet the hauler.

Mr. McIntyre wondered why Ontario cheese had been produced in last year as outlined in the manager's report when Ontario suppliers get $2.80 per hundred for their milk.
