

Britain Opens Doors Of Atomic Energy Centre

HARWELL, England, (Reuters)—Britain Tuesday threw open the closely guarded doors of its atomic energy research centre here to the world's leading nuclear scientists. Physicists, chemists, geneticists, mineralogists and engineers from more than 30 countries—including Russia and Communist Czechoslovakia, Romania and Poland—converged on this Berkshire town to see the heart of Britain's secret research into nuclear fission.

It will be the first peek for scientists—other than those from the United States and the British Commonwealth—beyond the strong forces of guards and a ring of electrified fences around the famed Harwell centre.

FLW FROM CONFERENCE

The Soviet scientists were led by Prof. Dimitri V. Bokhinev, scientific director of Russia's first atomic electric power plant just outside Moscow. They flew here with other European delegates from Geneva, Switzerland, where scientists from 72 nations have just ended a 12-day atomic-for-peace conference.

Honeymoon Boat And Owner Lost In Lake Storm

ERIE, Pa., (AP)—The Little Lady, a 16-foot honeymoon cruiser named by her proud 78-year-old skipper in honor of his bride, capsized in storm-swept Lake Erie Monday. The skipper was drowned. His wife was saved after floundering three hours in a life belt.

Only a rare bit of luck kept Mrs. Harvey Hecker, 70, from drowning by chance. Herbert Dunt, a nearby North East, Pa., saw the couple's capsized boat in the heaving surf and pulled Mrs. Hecker from the water. She was in fair condition Tuesday at an Erie hospital.

Neither Hecker nor his bride could swim. But that didn't keep them from travelling several thousand miles in the cruiser after they were married May 21 in Florida.

Hecker didn't make his first long boat trip until he was 75. With a smile, he told a reporter then: "Maybe I'm a damn fool, but I'm going to have some fun before I die."

WAR VETERAN

Hecker was a veteran of both the Spanish-American War and the First World War. A native of Cleveland, he was a retired civil engineer.

In 1952 he put together a 16-foot skiff from a pre-cut mail-order kit. He took it 4,000 miles around the country and said the trip cost him only $100, although it took 20 months.

He was living in Florida when he met the former Mrs. Louise Bussler, and they were married shortly after. Ten days later they started on the leisurely trip which ended Monday.

They never had serious trouble on their trip up the Inland Waterway to New York. While in New York they appeared on several television programs.

SUDDEN STORM

The storm Monday came up suddenly. The craft started to fall to pieces.

And, said Mrs. Hecker, both she and her husband were tossed into the water shortly after they donned their life preservers. After the storm subsided, Dunt went to the shore to check on the condition of his boat. He saw the couple and launched his craft. When he reached the scene he noted that Hecker was dead and his wife semi-conscious. He took her to shore and summoned coast guard. They recovered Hecker's body and rushed Mrs. Hecker to the hospital.

CORNWALL LADIES AID

Cornwall Ladies Aid met for the August meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Collin Murray. In the absence of the President, the Vice President, Mrs. L. H. Drake presided. A short devotional period was conducted with Mrs. Bruce MacKintley reading the Scripture.

An account of the supper served at the Caledonia Club was given by Mrs. Stanley Murchison, and several articles were sold to those present and the sum of $10.30 was realized.

Lunch was served by the hostess with Mrs. Harold Beott and Vivian Drake assisting.

Perform Rare Heart Operation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The blood of a three-year-old Madison, Wis., girl flowed through a lung which had been removed from a dog Tuesday as doctors operated to close a hole between the chambers of her heart.

Doctors at University of Minnesota hospitals said after the two-hour operation that "all is going well" for Carey Ann Kutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kutz, Madison, Wis.

The girl was the sixth patient to undergo the biological oxygenator type of heart surgery in which the patient's blood is purified by oxygen as it flows through the dog's lung. The lung from the dog is suspended in a plastic cylinder during the operation.

Linseed Oil Industry Is Making Good Comeback

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—The linseed oil industry, hard hit when rubber began to replace it as a base for paints, is making comeback because of the oil's by-products.

These include stabilized asphalt, liquid soap, meal, fence post preservative, and primer and sealer.

There has always been a demand for raw, boiled and refined oil and it continues today, particularly for use in shellacs and varnishes.

But with the introduction of rubber-based paints in 1948, the Medicine Hat Linseed Oil Co. found the demand sharply cut. New outlets had to be found.

The plant's chemist, Charlie Gower, who came to the company from the Defence Research Board in 1948, and general manager A. G. Harvey found the answers.

NEW BY-PRODUCTS

Up to 1948 the plant produced mostly oil and cake meal obtained from the flax. Now it has many by-products.

The asphalt stabilizer which Mr. Gower developed is claimed by Mr. Harvey to have "dented the market" this year. It has many uses including use as a foundation coating, a concrete basement coating and a base for shingles. It can stand tremendous heat and all type weather without contracting or blistering.

Last year the company purchased 100,000 bushels of flax from strict farmers. This year it may purchase more.

The flax is processed simply. The meal and oil are separated much like milk and cream, at a temperature of 400 degrees Fahrenheit. One bushel of flax produces one gallon of oil and 33 pounds of meal.

SPRINGFIELD W. I.

The president of Springfield Women's Institute, Mrs. Crawford Sinclair, was hostess for the August meeting when ten members and five visitors answered Roll call with a tip on the care of houseplants. A warm welcome was extended to the first president of the organization, Mr. Peter Sinclair, who was present after many years absence.

Following the minutes and reports of various committees the new school committee was asked to procure sanitary drinking supplies before school opened. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Hughes.

This month's topic "Agriculture was capably presented by the convener, Mrs. Wm. Haslam, with instructive and humorous readings on horticultural subjects by Mrs. John Hickox, Mrs. Norris Sinclair, Mrs. Crawford Sinclair, Mrs. Andrew Hughes, Mrs. Claire Haslam, Mrs. Keith Mayne and Mrs. Wm. Haslam. The highlight of the evening's program was the showing of beautiful colored slides by Mrs. Gordon MacMillan, Cornwall. Her charming garden Beechwood was colorfully spread before us on the silver screen as she interestingly described each delightful vista. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. MacMillan for this illustrated lecture.

A profusion of bouquets decorated the rooms and added to the interest of the meeting. These were brought by the members, judged by Mrs. MacMillan, and a prize for the best arrangement was awarded to Mrs. Reginald Haslam, 2nd. Mrs. George Dunning, 3rd. Mrs. Crawford Sinclair.

While Mrs. MacMillan was judging the floral arrangements the convener conducted a Flower guessing Contest. Highest points were won by Mrs. Gerrit Loo.

The final number on the programme was a request repetition of the original poems read at the previous meeting.

Following the singing of "The Farmer in the Dell" lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge.

MAY TAKE MOUNTIE

OTTAWA (CP)—An RCMP officer may accompany External Affairs Minister Pearson to Russia when he visits that country this fall. External affairs officials are considering this, an informant said Wednesday, but no decision has been reached. Mr. Pearson will decide when he returns to Ottawa early next month. Purpose of taking a mountie along, the informant said, would be chiefly to co-operate with Russian authorities on security arrangements.
