GEORGETOWN 3 Electrical Giants In US Are Charged

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government Monday filed a civil anti-trust suit against three major electrical corporations, charging conspiracy to prevent export of American-made radio and television sets into Canada.

The companies are General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and the N. V. Philips Gloeilampenfabriek of The Netherlands. The complaint said the defendants, operating through Canadian subsidiaries, engaged in unlawful combination with 13 co-conspirators that "virtually closed" the Canadian market.

The "co-conspirators" are not defendants in the suit. The conspiracy, the suit claimed, has been in operation since 1927.

SALES HIGH
The complaint cited the record of one year, 1956, in which across-the-border sales amounted to $2,356,000—one per cent of the Canadian total.

The government said the Sherman Anti-trust Act had been violated by setting up a patent pool, controlled by Canadian subsidiaries of the three corporations.

Through the pool, it was charged, patent infringement suits were threatened and instituted against manufacturers or dealers who tried to ignore the agreement, and dealers were refused licences if they indicated intention of importing U.S.-made merchandise.
