

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1891.

Death of Mrs. Bayfield

ONE of our oldest and most highly respected citizens has been removed from earth. Mrs. Bayfield passed away this morning. She was an invalid for several years. But the immediate cause of her death was apoplexy, of which she had a slight stroke yesterday. Her end was painless and serene. Mrs. Bayfield was a woman whose actions were governed by principle. She was unostentatiously pious and charitable. The deserving poor found in her a friend whom they will greatly miss.

"Down With All Boodlers."

This is the strong sentiment which now pervades Canada. The country is determined to abate the nuisance of corruption on the part of politicians, public contractors, and public officials. We must have a thorough reform. It ought not to cost thousands, or even hundreds of dollars to contest an election. Leading men of both parties should unite to put down the vicious habit of paying large sums of money in order to gain a "seat." This habit makes it necessary that a candidate, to succeed at an election, must first of all be either a rich man or a boodler. He must either have large amounts of money of his own to spend among the electors, or he must get the money indirectly out of the public exchequer. On the other hand, men of knowledge, ability, honor and virtue, who are not possessed of wealth, find it absolutely impossible to enter politics for the service of their country, and the country is thus at an incalculable loss. The practices of the dishonest contractors who bribe the officials set over them, and the practices of impetuous officials, who extort "commissions" from those who furnish Government supplies, are equally disgraceful and ruinous to the country. The Government will be supported by the people in their efforts to put a stop to such rascalities as have lately been exposed. But the strong voice of public opinion must continually be heard against the boodlers, and in favor of honest practices.

Notes and Comments.

In the North American Review for September four doctors discuss the question of a cure for drunkenness, and, as was to be expected with so many doctors, they disagree as to the possibility of such a cure. After all is said and done, only one sure and infallible cure for drunkenness ever has been found, and that is not to drink any intoxicating liquor.

The Boston Herald, referring to the recent achievement of the C. P. R. in bringing the Japan mail to London in twenty-one days says: "It will give an immense impetus to travel by way of the Canadian Pacific to China and Japan and to other parts of the east. To Canada really belongs the credit of this quick mail transit that brings three continents into closer contact than they have been heretofore."

Quebec Chronicle: Mr. Foster scored a good point against Sir Richard Cartwright, when he said that Canada has lost a good deal of her population, during the last ten years, because the people had listened to the blue ruin speeches of that immaculate statesman and his friends, and, unfortunately, believed them. There is some truth in that. The fact is, the Reformers have been preaching the doctrine of lamentation, woe, ruin and dissolution, ever since they went out of power, on their narrow trade policy in 1878. The country has been described by them, in season and out of season, as a place utterly unfit to live in. No wonder that the timid ones feared to remain to perish. It will take a good deal to bring them back. But Sir Richard Cartwright cares nothing for them. All he wants is to be Finance Minister again. He will have to wait for that.

The Empire remarks that the "Liberal" method of doing away with the public money differs according to the locality. Count Mercier, being a bold buccaneer, diverts thousands of it into his yawning pocket by letting his party organist cash a letter of credit. Mr. Mowat, a much more "pawky" individual, and loaded down with "evidences of Christianity," carves out an unnecessary office from the public revenues in the district of Toronto, appoints his own son to it, who drew last year, according to the official return just brought down, no less a salary than $8,670.23—more than the Premier of Ontario gets; more than the Prime Minister of Canada gets. Is not the public robbed as much in one case as in the other?

The Census Department at Washington continues to issue bulletins at intervals giving the latest details of the census. The latest to hand (bulletin 108) furnishes the particulars of Indiana's population. From this it is learned that the population of the State is now 2,192,404, against 1,978,301 in 1880, an increase of 214,103 or 10.8 in the decade. In the same period Ontario increased 1,926,922 to 2,112,969, a gain of 186,047 or 9.6 per cent., not at all a bad showing and comparing favorably with the neighboring State. Indiana is one of the richest and most fertile States of the American Union, and stands high in the role of agricultural communities, but no one there appears to think that it is retrograding and that blue ruin stares its citizens in the face. Of its ninety-two counties no less than 25 show decreases in the populations, while others are saved from that by the growth of the towns and cities.

INDISPENSABLE to every household, ask your grocer for Lessive Phenix. It will not make the washing water hard. It will not make your clothes yellow. The old chemical powders do that. But Lessive Phenix brings in the new era, of purity and sweetness, and dazzling perfection whether in connection with the wash, or in cleansing or scouring. Takes the place of soap. Ask your grocer for it. sep 9 21

The End Not Yet.

MATHIAS HUTT HIRES A HORSE AND FORGETS TO RETURN IT.

At the Police Court this morning, a young man named Mathias Hutt, hailing from O'Leary, appeared on complaint of Arthur Newman, Livery Stable keeper, on a charge of larceny. It appears from the evidence that on the 7th August last Hutt visited Newman's stables, and hired a horse and buggy, saying he was going to drive out to the Union Road to collect some money owing him for wages. Instead of going to Union Road, however, he drove to Grand River, Prince County, and there succeeded in inducing a countryman to exchange horses with him, he (Hutt) telling the countryman that his mother had died that morning and he wanted a fresh horse to go after his sister, whose presence was very necessary at the house of mourning. The young man appeared to be so deeply affected over the death of his mother, that the countryman did not have the heart to refuse him the horse. The young man was to be back with the horse that night, but although the obliging old rustic and his good wife waited up for him until after midnight he did not put in an appearance. The next morning (Sunday) the old man hitched up and went out on the search for the strange young man and his horse. In the English churchyard at his house. In the English churchyard at his house. In the English churchyard at his house.

Tennis.

The tournament (ladies singles) for Mr. Justice Young's prize, was begun yesterday afternoon. When time was called eight ladies were present on the grounds and entered the lists, to whom were allotted the following handicap ratings:— Mrs. Arnaud.....Scratch Miss M. Ball....." Miss Newbery....." Mrs. J. R. Brecken.....15 Mrs. Bartlett.....15 Miss F. Weeks.....30 Miss Strickland.....30 Mrs. Blanchard.....30

Play began shortly after 4 o'clock and continued till after six with the following result:— Miss Newbery beat Mrs. Blanchard.....6-1-6-1 Miss Weeks beat Mrs. Brecken 6-4-2-6-2 Miss M. Ball beat Mrs. Bartlett 6-2-6-0 Mrs. Arnaud beat Miss Strickland.....5-6-6-1-6-5

In the second drawing Miss M. Ball beat Mrs. Weeks.....6-2-6-3 Mrs. Arnaud has still to play Miss Newbery and the winner will then play Miss M. Ball. These finals will be played on Saturday (to-morrow) afternoon.

Tracadie Cross Farmers' Association.

The members of the Tracadie Cross Farmers' Association held their monthly meeting on the 2nd inst. The inhabitants are beginning to take a deep interest in this movement, as a large number of members have already signed the constitution. The crops this year are excellent and promises a good yield,—consequently this Association will have a large amount of produce to ship this fall. Shippers and traders would do well to patronize this club, and any one desirous of obtaining further information can do so by corresponding with Joseph Smith, Corresponding Secretary of Tracadie Cross Farmers' Association, P. E. I. (P. E. I. and Nova Scotia papers please copy)

Horse Notes.

The little black stallion, Direct, son of Director, 2.17, beat all previous records of horses in harness at Independence, on the 4th inst. He started to beat his own record of 2.09 at the pacing gait which he succeeded in doing in the unequalled time of 2.06, thus lowering his own mark, the mark of Roy Wilkes the latest stallion record, beside that of the famous gelding Johnston made in 1834, when John Splan drove him in 2.06. Director, the sire of Direct, is by Director, a son of Jay-Eye-See, 2.10, and Phallas, 2.13. The dam of Director is the great brood mare Dolly, also dam of three more in the list including Onward, 2.25, sire of Crayton. The dam of direct, 2.06, is Echora, 2.23, by Echo (sire of 13 trotters) by Hambletonian, 10. This breeding gives Direct two close crosses of Hambletonian, 10. The time by quarters made by Direct was, first quarter 23, half 1.14, three quarters 1.36, mile 2.06, pacing the last quarter in 30 seconds.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.—The Experimental Farm at Nappan, N.S., has entered 80 varieties of grain in straw and glass, and 50 varieties of potatoes. The C. P. R. will send a big exhibit of the products of the Northwest and British Columbia. Horsemen are reminded that the entries for the races close on the 24th inst.

Far From Being Hopeless.

(London, Ont., Free Press)

The situation is far from being hopeless during the decade we have made satisfactory progress in all that relates to the temporal well-being of the community at large. Wealth and industrial undertakings have multiplied, and relatively approach nearer to conditions of contentment than the people of any other country under the sun. For example, our people are better off, as a whole, than the people of the United States. Since 1881 there have been laid the basis of far-reaching prosperity and national growth. Railways have been extended everywhere at a comparatively low cost to the country, owing to our high credit, and the means of distributing a large population are at hand. Our commercial and agricultural facilities are unsurpassed. The rivalry for immigrants which was felt so strongly in 1888 no longer exists on this side of the Atlantic, since the United States has completely reversed its policy in this relation. Then they took active means of securing settlers; now they are just as active in trying to keep them away.

A despatch to the London Standard from Constantinople says Sir William White, British ambassador at Constantinople, a few days ago sent a strong note to the Porte demanding an apology for the indignities offered to British merchant vessels in the Dardanelles.

The Hungarian Government is taking active steps to prevent the emigration of its subjects to America. These steps will be popular in America in proportion to their success. It takes a generation more to citizenize a Hungarian than an immigrant from the north of Europe, and, pending the process, the subject is altogether unlovely.

Investigation of the banks shows that many of the Balmacedist officials took care to feather their nests well. Balances ranging from $20,000 to upward of $1,000,000 are carried in the names of men who were known to be poor before the beginning of the war. Such balances will all be confiscated by the provincial government and will be used as a fund to meet the notes made under Balmaceda's reign.

The New York Press, in answer to a correspondent, gives the names of the following delinquent state treasurers and the amount of their thefts: Churchill of Arkansas, $80,000; Polk, Tennessee, $400,000; Vincent, Alabama, $243,000; Tate, Kentucky, $247,000; Burke, Louisiana, $847,000; Noland, Missouri, $32,000; Hemingway, Mississippi, $315,000; Archer, Maryland, $200,000; Woodruff, Arkansas, $96,000.

The estimated cost of the Chicago World's Fair to the day of opening, on present plans, is $18,000,000. The Chicago papers, that pledged the word of Chicagoans not to ask the Government for a dollar, are advocating the theory that the Government should contribute $6,000,000 of the estimated cost, and declaring that it is a poor national government that cannot give half as much as the city of Chicago. This is begging the question. Chicago agreed to raise all the money, and so far as Congress is the government that argument secured the location of the fair at Chicago.

TRURO'S NATAL DAY.—The Mayor of Truro has issued a proclamation declaring Monday next, 14th inst., a public holiday for the celebration of the anniversary of the first settlement of Truro.

INCENDIARY FIRES.—The incendiary is abroad at Beverley, Mass. The fourteenth fire of incendiary origin that has occurred there lately was started in a barn on Wednesday evening last.

OFF THE SLIP.—The bark Ralph B. Peake, which has been on the slip at Pictou being re-coppered, arrived here at three o'clock this morning, in charge of the veteran pilot, William Cooke. She was towed over by the tug W. H. Aitken. The bark left Pictou for Charlottetown on Wednesday morning at five o'clock, but had to put back to Pictou Roads at twelve, owing to the heavy weather prevailing, it being blowing hard from the Northwest with rain squalls. She left Pictou again at six last evening, arriving this morning as stated.
