

SO YOU WANT ADVICE, EH?

Miss X.

Dear Miss X,
My problem is that I lack ideas on what to give my boyfriend for a birthday present. Can you give me some suggestions for gift ideas? Much appreciated, le.

Dear Appreciated,
Without knowing what your boyfriend likes etc. I don't really know what to tell you. Get him things relative to activities he enjoys. Maybe a piece of equipment for a sport or game he likes. Clothes are always good. My boyfriend can always use a new pair of jeans or a new sweater. (He hates shopping). Books are a good idea if he likes to read or if there is a book he would enjoy it's a good way to get him to read! Other than that, use your imagination. Miss X.

Dear Miss X,
I'm a first year student. I have trouble finding books in the library it's so big and I never really had used the library in high school. Can you help?
Lost.

Dear Lost,
To ask for help that is what the staff is for. They are here and I find usually very helpful. I suggest you spend some time learning your way around. You'll need it in the next couple of years.
Miss X.

Dear Miss X,
I have this friend who is very competitive when it comes to marks. It's gotten so bad that I don't even show her my mark anymore and she is starting to irritate me.
Not Competitive.

Dear Not Competitive,
Tell your friend you are not interested in competing with him/her. It seems that your friend may be a bit insecure and that he/she feels confident academically.

Miss X.
