AMONG SANATORIUM'S CHILDREN DR. FOUND IS KNOWN AS 'DADDY'

CHOICE SURPRISES DR. FOUND

'Not One For Limelight' Says Islander Of 1962

By DON MacLEOD
Guardian-Patriot Staff writer

Dr. Eric M. Found, superintendent of the Provincial sanatorium, was surprised to learn that he had been chosen 1962's "Islander of the Year."

"When The Evening Patriot's managing editor told me of the judges' choice," Dr. Found said in an interview yesterday, "I instinctively wanted to say: Won't the next fellow in line take it, please?"

"When the newspaperman called me, I was applying a stethoscope to the bare back of a patient. I thought perhaps I had misquoted someone in some publicity material I had sent to the paper and was being called on to explain. I'm afraid I was a little flippant.

'SURPRISE, SHOCK'

"I hardly believed the news; it came with a feeling of surprise, shock and then satisfaction, I guess. I have always felt that such an award went to people who did big things; I was just doing my job. I'm not one for the limelight."

While Dr. Found's reaction was one of surprise, there will, n doubt, be unanimous agreement among his co-workers, patients and the thousands of people throughout the province who are familiar with his work, that a better choice of "Islander of the Year" could not be made.

"Dr. Found is one of the most conscientious people t have ever met," said one person yesterday who is associated with him in tuberculosis control.

"The staff here," another said "is like one big happy family. There is no strain, no tension. There is no one on the staff that wouldn't do anything for Dr. Found—he takes a fatherly interest in us all."

With the patients, the story is the same.

Dr. Found takes time to meet personally with each patient as he is admitted to the sanatorium for treatment. The patient looks at his own x-rays, has his case explained to him and is told of the treatment that will be required.

FIRST-NAME BASIS

"I call this 'pre-treatment indoctrination,'" said Dr. Found. "The patient and I become well - acquainted; he learns the nature and treatment of his illness and because of this I find that patients feel better while in the process of being cured."

Dr. Found and his patients are on a first-name basis. Each day they look forward to his calls. "I call on every patient," he said. "We are very close."

One co-worker pointed out that "half of the child tuberculosis patients affectionately call Dr. Found 'Daddy'."

Through his work with the P.E.I. Tuberculosis League, Dr. Found has become well-known throughout the province. Perhaps it was this phase of his career that led the "Islander" judges to say in their citation he "has constantly displayed a diligence and devotion . . . far beyond the normal scope of his profession."

NON-PAYING JOB

From May to December, perhaps several times a week, Dr. Found may be anywhere in the province arranging x-ray clinics sponsored by the league. Before the league's mobile x-ray machine goes to an area, an organizational meeting of volunteer workers is held. Dr. Found rarely gets home from these meetings before 10 p.m. He also attends the clinics in a supervisory capacity, sometimes doing the actual testing.

His work in connection with the clinics is on a voluntary basis. Although he is executive director of the tuberculosis league, he receives no pay in the position.

Each year, in his annual report, Dr. Found pays tribute to the more than 1,000 members of the Catholic Women's League and Women's Institutes who give so freely of their time and energy in the clinics in the interest of health in the community."

Dr. Found said he enjoys attending the pre-clinic meetings. "It gives me an opportunity," he said, "to combat several fallacies about tuberculosis; for example, young children don't catch it and x-raying is of no advantage to elderly people."

"I give educational talks at the meetings, describe new methods of treatment and the up-to-date trends in tuberculosis. The talks have paid off. People are interested and now there is a demand for mass x-ray surveys. I would call that a very rewarding development."

Dr. Found, and others like him, are winning the battle to bring tuberculosis under control. "I think control of the disease will come about in Canada within the next 10 years," he said, "but it will be many, many years before tuberculosis is eradicated.

"When I say 'control' I am going by what the World Health Organization means by the term; that is, when not more than one per cent of children at the age of 14 are positive tuberculin reactors.

DEATH RATE

"Last year in this province the percentage was 3.3 and in 1956 it was between five and six per cent. We're getting there; it's quite encouraging. The death rate from tuberculosis here in 1956 was six per 100,000 population; last year it was 2.9.

"What I would like to see to speed up the war against tuberculosis is an accelerated diagnostic service and, through research, a more effective drug discovered than now used and also a vaccine against the disease that would not affect tuberculin testing.

"The success of the tuberculosis program in recent years has been due to a combination of better economic conditions, specific drug therapy and a speeded-up case finding program.

"This success is also the result of teamwork between the official and voluntary agencies, between the sanatorium and public health nurses and the support of my colleague, Dr. W. R. Stewart. Dr. Stewart works quietly and efficiently and has added tremendously to the provincial tuberculosis control program."

Again referring to his being chosen "Islander of the Year," Dr. Found said, "although my life is dedicated to the control of tuberculosis, I am only one man—there's my staff—we're all cogs in a machine—all doing our bit. Perhaps the spotlight should not be on one person. I like to be part of a team —even if I have to be the captain of it."

Dr. Found, 57, is the son of the late Harlan P. Found and Mrs. Found. He was born at New London.

He attended school at New London and Prince of Wales College and for a time taught school at Long River and New London.

DALHOUSIE GRADUATE

In 1930, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Dalhousie University in Halifax. In 1935, he received his MD and CM degrees from Dalhousie.

In Regina General Hospital, he served his internship in gynecology and obstetrics. Due to illness, he changed his specialty to diseases of the chest.

From 1937 to 1942, Dr. Found was on the staff of the Nova Scotia Sanatorium in Kentville. He returned to this province in 1942 and was appointed assistant medical superintendent of the Provincial Sanatorium.

After re-organizing out-patient diagnostic clinics, he was appointed director of diagnostic services in 1949. In 1957 he was appointed director of the division of tuberculosis control of the sanatorium.

At present, Dr. Found is executive director of the P.E.I. Tuberculosis League, president of the P.E.I.-N.B. Branch of the Canadian Thoracic Society; first vice-president of the P.E.I. Branch of the Canadian Medical Association, a member of the board of directors of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association and holds a fellowship in the American College of Chest Physicians.

He is a member of the Session of Trinity United Church in Charlottetown.

Dr. Found is married to the former Marion Wilson of Alberton. They have one daughter, Mary, 15, attending Netherwood School for Girls at Rothesay, N.B.

The "Islander of the Year's" hobbies are photography and trout fishing.

"I don't have enough time for golf," he said.

Figures released yesterday by Mr. Rogers, show there was an increase in passengers in 1962 of 56,296 over 1961. Passengers for 1962 were 482,791 as compared to 426,495 for 1961.

Train travel to and from the mainland increased by 8,350 in 1962 and this is due in great measure, to the lower fares put into effect by the C.N.R. Train passengers carried between Borden and Tormentine during 1962 were 15,427, Mr. Rogers said.

"How are we going to handle another increase in 1964, which is Centennial Year, with the facilities we now have?" Mr. Rogers asked.

Appeal Allowed In Supreme Court

SUMMERSIDE — An appeal from a conviction of driving while impaired against Francis Edgar MacKay, Summerside, was allowed by Mr. Justice George J. Tweedy in Supreme Court here yesterday. MacKay had been convicted by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald in Prince County magistrate's court Oct. 23, 1961 and was fined $100 and costs or 15 days. Conviction and sentence were quashed.

First witness for the Crown was Cnst. James R. Potts, who testified that he and Cnst. Robert McCann patrolled to New Annan, June 30, 1961. They followed a car on the highway, with the driver being the only occupant. The RCMP officers followed this car into a lane and it stopped in the farmyard. The driver got out and identified himself as MacKay. He had alcohol on his breath, his eyes were glassy, spoke with a slight speech impediment, and urinated in his pants

A partially full bottle of wine was found in the car. On cross-examination Cnst. Potts said MacKay had asked for a doctor, but one was not sent for.

Cnst. Robert McCann corroborated the evidence of Cnst. Potts. He also stated that MacKay was unsteady on his feet. On cross-examination, Cnst. McCann stated MacKay looked as if he had been in a fight. The RCMP officers told the Prince County jailer, at the jail, that he could call a doctor for MacKay if he wanted to.

FACE CUT

First witness for the appellant was Bennett MacRae, Kensington, who testified that he was loading potatoes on MacKay's farm in New Annan, June 30, 1961. He stated MacKay had assisted in the loading. His face was cut and had dried blood on it. Witness stated there was a smell of salve about MacKay.

Second witness was Wilfred MacArthur, Summerside East. He testified that MacKay came to his house about 8 o'clock in the morning and they drove to MacKay's farm in New Annan. MacKay was cut up about the face, but witness said he could not smell any salve of which the previous witness spoke. MacKay was drinking the day before, witness stated, but did not see him drink anything that day.

Final witness was the appellant, Francis Edgar MacKay. He said he had been hit on the head with a board the night before and had gone home to his mother in Summerside, who put rubbing alcohol on his face to try and remove the dried blood. He stated the RCMP had promised to call a doctor, but did not do so.

He had his last drink about midnight he said, then went to his New Annan farm where he got into a fight with a relative and then drove back to Summerside where he went to his mother who patched him up a bit. He slept a while, had some breakfast, and then drove back to New Annan.

NO INDICATION

Mr. Justice Tweedy, in allowing the appeal, stated "I don't want to do what I am going to have to do (grant the appeal), but there is nothing I can get my teeth into to indicate MacKay was driving while impaired. There is no doubt of his impairment, and Magistrate MacDonald in the lower court was justified in finding him guilty, but there has been new evidence presented here today".

In magistrate's court, the defense had not called any witnesses, and at yesterday's trial, the appellant, MacKay, testified, plus two others on his behalf. Mr. Justice Tweedy did not allow any costs to be awarded. Acting for MacKay was J. Watson MacNaught, QC.
