

United Church Presbyterial Held Yesterday At Bedeque

"What Does the Lord Require of Us?" was the theme of the thirty-second annual United Church Presbyterial, held on May 2nd at the Bedeque United Church. The meeting opened at 9:30 a.m. with a worship service by Hamilton Auxiliary led by Mrs. Lester Ramsay assisted by Mrs. Wendell Crozier and Mrs. Wyman Clark.

Mrs. F. W. Cutcliffe Presbyterial President, welcomed all present and followed with a short prayer. A summary of the executive minutes was read by Mrs. Wilbur Webster, Marie.

Mrs. R.F. MacAusland, Bloomfield, conducted the roll call which was answered by approximately 300. The financial statement of the treasurer, Miss Rhoda Brown, was read by Mrs. J. D. MacFarlane. Receipts showed a total of $20,292.00 for the year 1957. The surplus of $1,215.00 above the allocation has been allotted to projects in Burns Lake, Alberta, and in Korea.

Mrs. J. S. MacLeod, Christian Stewardship secretary, emphasized the importance of this office in the auxiliaries and urged a short inspirational message on one or more of the trusts of time, talents, prayer, personality, influence, possessions and the power to exalt Jesus Christ in our daily lives, at each meeting, or by devoting at least one meeting a year to the study and application of all these trusts.

Mrs. Harold Laird, literature secretary, gave a resume of the books on display and presented the award to Kensington as this year's best read auxiliary.

Mrs. Bert Haneveld, formerly of Holland and now president of the Montague auxiliary, gave a talk on "The Challenge to Our Faith". She said the world is challenging our Christian faith. There is the challenge to our freedom of worship. Through the years it has appeared that in countries ruled otherwise than democratic, free worship has not always been possible.

A welcome from the Bedeque auxiliary was extended by Mrs. Charles MacFarlane. This session closed with a memorial service led by Mrs. A.F. MacLean. Mrs. K.A. Parker placed a bouquet of carnations in memory of 31 members who passed away during the year.

At 2 p.m. sessions resumed with a worship service conducted by Mrs. Lorne Ferguson, Mrs. John Dixon and Miss Jean Boswell of Hampton.

AFTERNOON SESSION
The subject of candidacy for full time church work was presented in the form of a panel discussion by Mrs. Parker and a group from the Trinity afternoon auxiliary. In the same manner also, summaries of the year's work were presented by the several departmental secretaries. Inter-spaced through the business of the session were numbers by members of junior organizations. The Bedeque Junior Choir sang two selections. Two from the Bedeque Mission Band representing a Canadian and Japanese girl in costume gave a dialogue. Bedeque and Borden representatives of Mission Band, Explorers, C.G.I.T. and Baby Band together with Mrs. A.F. MacLean and Mrs. Myers presented a playette - "Work of Younger Groups."

RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. A.F. MacLean, chairman of the resolutions committee, brought in the following:
(1) Resolved that we express appreciation to the minister and session, the organist and the janitor of the Bedeque church for their services; to the members of the auxiliaries for their hospitality; to the ladies of the Baptist church for the excellent meal served at noon; to our guest speaker, Miss Beryl Morson, missionary on furlough from India; and to all others who have contributed to the success of our meeting today.

(2) Resolved that we sponsor the National Temperance Study course and urge its use in youth groups by means of visual aids, etc.

(3) Whereas the attendance at our spring presbyterial is so encouraging it be resolved that presbyterial be held in May again next year.

(4) Whereas the literature distribution Centre has many excellent film-strips and interview recordings for rental to our societies, and which are of great value in our missionary programs and where these visual and sound aids are governed by a strict time table as to their rental and return to Toronto, making it both difficult and expensive for our societies to make use of them, especially for those in rural communities during certain seasons of the year, and whereas we feel that some plan could be devised whereby our societies might purchase a number of these strips and recordings for circulation among the societies of this Presbyterial, thus making more films available at much less expense and trouble.

Be it therefore resolved that the appointment of a committee by the Chair, who will investigate the possibilities of such a project, the methods whereby it might be furthered, and who will report their findings to the Presbyterial executive at their next meeting. The Executive after study of the report will, if found feasible, submit a plan to the auxiliaries for the carrying out of this project.

Montague U. C. Men Wind Up Active Season

The Montague Trinity Men's Association will hold their closing meeting for the season Monday, May 5th at 6:30, with a father and son banquet. Rev. D. A. Campbell will be the guest speaker and a varied program will take place. It is expected that many dads and their lads - or other boys borrowed for the occasion - will be present at this enjoyable function, furnished by the ladies of the W. A.

This men's association was organized in 1949 during the ministry of Dr. A. D. MacKenzie, who inspired the building of the church hall, which fittingly bears his name. Jack MacNaair of Charlottetown, who has stimulated the organization of practically all of the 17 men's groups now organized in the United Churches of P. E. I., also had an important part in the start of this group.

The following men have held the office of president of this Montague club since its inception: Lorne W. Wigginton, from 1949 to 1952, whose tact, humor and good judgment were a tremendous asset in its formation. During the ministry of the present pastor, Rev. J. M. Fraser, the following presidents have shown in turn, qualities of initiative and leadership: Gordon H. Coffin, 1952; James E. Cud-

MacFarland; Press secretary, Mrs. W. B. Creed. Communion service conducted by Rev. Mr. Coper Smith and the session concluded the afternoon meeting. EVENING SERVICE
The worship service at the 7:30 session was conducted by the C.G.I.T. of Bedeque on the theme "What Doth the Lord Require of Us in Our Congregation?"

Greetings from the Presbytery were brought by Rev. John Sheen. A selection by the Bedeque Choir and a solo by Mr. John Havanga were also enjoyed. Organist for all services was Mrs. Walter Craig. Guest speaker was Miss Beryl Morson who is home on furlough from Mandleshwar, India. She showed slides depicting missionary activities in that area. Her lecture closed with the following statement: "People need food and clothing, certainly, but the need of a all people, everywhere, is the same - we need Jesus Christ."

Survivors Unfold Tragic Story Of Fire On Trawler

MULGRAVE, N.S. (CP)—The tragic story of fire on the Nova Scotia trawler Sheila Patricia became clearer Friday as survivors recovered from shock and corner William Shea began his investigation. This was the fate of 13 men who sailed on the fishing boat Tuesday night for "just another trip to the banks."

Three died in the trawler's lifeboat trying to reach safety. Four, including the captain, drowned when the lifeboat tipped in launching. Their bodies are still missing. Six were rescued after 17 perilous hours on the burning ship. INQUEST OPENS

An inquest opened here in the deaths of three in the drifting lifeboat. Dr. Peter Ferguson of Mulgrave, who examined their bodies, said they apparently died from exposure. The six rescued rested at their homes from the effects of shock, burns and minor injuries.

Coroner Shea signed death certificates for Charles and James Dominaux of Fortune Bay, Nfld., and Walter House of Mulgrave. He adjourned the inquest in the town hall until May 12. First mate Maxwell Dodge, 38, identified the bodies of his shipmates. They were brought here by the trawler Acadia Fisher, sister ship of the Sheila Patricia. The lifeboat with its grim cargo was found Thursday night.

Dodge told this story of an escape attempt that cost seven lives: Fire started from an exploding store in the galley Wednesday. TWO PATHS
The men were torn between thoughts of death by fire on the trawler and death by drowning or exposure if they left.

Eight got into the lifeboat but one changed his mind and jumped back at the last minute. He was William Walker, one of the rescued. The lifeboat tipped in launching and threw Capt. Uriah Hillier, 38, chief engineer John MacDonald, both of Mulgrave, second engineer George Barnes, Fortune, Nfld., and Walter Tarrant, Burin, Nfld., into the water. The first mate and fisherman

Leo Tarrant cut the lifeboat free. They got into the smoke-filled wheelhouse and steered the burning Sheila around the drifting boat for 45 minutes. They saw no sign of the men in the water.

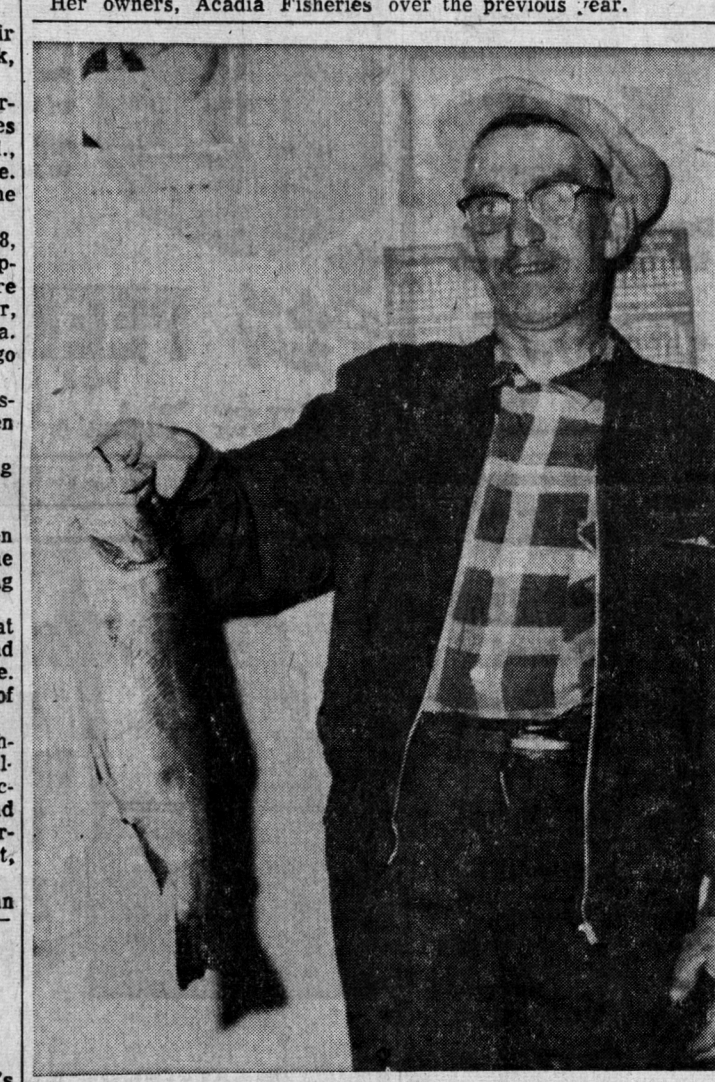

HEADED FOR LAND
Then they headed the trawler toward the land. Before dawn next morning those on the ship were rescued by another vessel. Dodge said, "I didn't say anything about the deaths when I first got home because I knew how their families would feel. I wanted them to know first."

"It'll take a fellow a long time to get over this." A salvage tug towed the still smouldering trawler to Halifax Friday. The fire had burned through most of the steel-hulled ship, including the wheelhouse, and engine room. Her owners, Acadia Fisheries

Limited here, said she was worth $200,000. GIANTIC SEARCH
Thirty-five ships, and seven RCAF planes had searched the sea off the southern end of Canso Strait, first for the burning trawler and then for the missing lifeboat. RCMP called off the hunt for the missing bodies Friday.

The search began with a distress message from the stricken vessel just before noon Wednesday. William House's funeral will be held Friday in Mulgrave. The bodies of the Dominaux men will be sent home to Fortune, Nfld.
