

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin?
And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect?
Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed.
In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

DEATH OF VICTOR LIDDELL.

The death occurred at Amherst on Saturday of Victor Liddell, a son of the late A. M. Liddell, of this city. Victor was only eighteen years of age, but among all who knew him he was highly esteemed for the many noble traits that characterized him. Two years ago he left the Halifax county academy and joined the staff of the Bank of Montreal, being attached to the agency in Amherst. In this city he was foremost in healthful sports and excelled at football, bicycle riding and hockey. Since going to Amherst he still pursued those sports and did good work in the recent hockey matches in that town. Death was the result of an attack of appendicitis. His widowed mother and all the bereaved relatives and friends will have the sincere sympathy of all; they will be consoled by the recollection of the sterling integrity and fine disposition of the deceased—so suddenly taken away in the midst of youthful vigor. Rev. Mr. Crawford, of St. Luke's, who had been particularly attached to the young man, referred to the death at the morning service yesterday, expressing his deep regret and sympathy. His mother is resident in Amherst and three younger brothers are in Scotland. The date of the funeral will be announced later, but it will take place from St. Luke's.—Halifax Herald.

[Mrs. Liddell was a daughter of the late William Swabey, Esq., of this city.]

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

Convention and Meeting of the Diocesan Church Society—Opening Sermon by Archdeacon Reagh.

The general committee of the Diocesan Society met in St. Paul's schoolroom yesterday afternoon.

In the evening, Archdeacon Reagh preached from the text, St. Mark 12—34, "To every man his work." The sermon treated of the respective duties of clergymen and laymen as workers together in the Church for the advancement of Christ's Kingdom. Clergymen have their special work as ambassadors of Christ, as stewards of the mysteries of God, and as overseers, directors and teachers of the congregations to whom they minister. But there is work for the laity as well as for the clergymen. If the laity are lukewarm, if they do not uphold the hands of their pastors, the Church will not, for the time, prevail against the forces of the world. It is easy to make errors, and easy to find fault with the clergy and one another. What is wanted is the helping hand. "We are laborers together with God." To work for the Church is to work for the head of the Church; and every man will be judged according to his works. Work is needed at the present time and in the future.

After Holy Communion at St. Paul's Church this morning, the annual meeting of the Clerical Association was held in St. Paul's Schoolroom.

This afternoon the Church Convention will be held. Papers will be read by the Rev. Mr. Withycombe and by Mr. James Millman.

This evening the annual general meeting of the Diocesan Church Society will take place in St. Paul's Schoolroom, and papers by Messrs F. W. Hals and Percy Pope will be read.

I long to revisit it after fourteen years absence."

A GREAT SUCCESS.—The concert and social in the basement of the First Methodist church, last evening, was largely attended, and proved a great success from every point of view. The literary and musical programme was rendered in an excellent manner and to the evident appreciation of all in attendance. Candy and refreshments were also interesting features. The snug sum of $42 was realized. Rev. Mr. Campbell made an excellent chairman.

A BAD ACCIDENT.—After the political meeting at Kensington on Friday evening last an old man named James Humphrey, whilst walking along the road, was run into by a team and badly cut about the head and face. Medical aid was called in, and twenty stitches had to be made. It was reported this morning that Mr. Humphrey had died from his injuries. Morrison and Henderson. The lecture was interspersed with samples of Irish wit which were greatly enjoyed. The lecture will be continued on Tuesday evening next, when Rev. Mr. Fullerton will take his audience through Belfast, Kilkenny, Fermanagh, Down and Antrim. Pictures illustrating the subject-matter of the lecture will be exhibited.
