Suction Dredge Will Operate at Mt. Stewart

Extensive Preparations are Being Made for Special Dredging Operations. Mud to be Carried Through 15-Inch Pipes Supported on Steel Pontoons.

Workmen were busy yesterday afternoon starting to unload from the cars at the railway wharf fifteen hughe steel pontoons, thirty feet by eight feet, which are to be located an joined together at the wharf here and towed up to Mt. Stewart in preparation for important dredging operations which will commence there upon the arrival of Suction Dredge No. 2 from St. John. Capt. S. D. Murchison of Dredge No. 10 is in charge of unloading and floating the pontoons here and fitting them together.

The dredging planned this year at Mt. Stewart will be carried out entirely by means of the Suction Dredge. Instead of towing the mud in scows to the harbor mouth as it comes from the dredge—which would be tedious work from such a distance as Mt. Stewart—the mud will be carired through fifteen inch sution pipes and pumped up on the beah a convenient distance away. It is for the purpose of supporting these big suction pipes that the steel pontoons have been shipped.

Though suction dredging operations are carired out successfully on a large scale in other provinces this is the first work of its kind attempted here. The dredge is of course specially equipped for the purpose, with an agitator for releasing the mud and special pumps for sending it through the pipes.

The driving machinery comprises an upright compound fore and aft engine.

The dredge is commanded by a St. John man but the crew it is understood are chiefly Islanders. The dredge will go on the slip before coming here and will probably remain in Charlottetown for a few days before going to Mt. Stewart.

The piping apparatus necessary for the work is very extensive and will comprise betwen 1,600 and 2,000 feet of fifteen inch special pipe. The dredging work will occupy about two months and will require three or four weeks to get under ay.

Reciprocity Negotiations With Australia

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, June 13—Negotiations are now in progress between Australia and Canada in regard to tariff reciprocity. An offer has been made by Canada and a counter proposal has been received from Australia.

This statement was made by the prime minister at the opening of the House of Commons this afternoon in reply to a question by the leader of the opposition. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen quoted a despatch from Melbourne to the London Times in which it was announced that Australia had submitted a proposal for tariff reciprocity to Canada. He asked whether this report was correct and if so, what action the Canadian government was taking. Mr. Meighen recalled that negotiations were in progress by cable between Australia and the Dominion regarding a reciprocity arrangement but he added that he did not consider it in the public interest to disclose the nature of the proposals at the present time.

Death Toll in New York Storm Exceeds Eighty

NEW YORK, June 13—Morgues and undertaking shops of the Metropolitan area tonight held the bodies of more than three score men, women and children, victims of yesterday's brief cyclonic thunderstorm.

Marine police, who continued throughout the day their work of grappling in Pelham Bay and Long Island Sound off City Island, where the greatest toll was taken among Sunday canoeists and fishermen, predicted that they would find at least a score more victims, enough to push the death toll past eighty. Eyewitnesses of the tragedy placed the number even higher.

Note.—When a sample of milk has over 5 per cent. butter fat, or where lactometer readings indicate that the sample is top milk, or milk to which cream has been added, a second sample is procured if possible. In my previous reports I have submitted the results of all tests regardless of whether they were above the normal test or not, and the result of a test of the second sample was placed below the first test in the report. I understand the publication of reports containing tests for butter fat with an unusually high percentage of butter fat have been misunderstood. In future I will not submit the result of tests for butterfat which are unusually high, so as to prevent any further misunderstanding. Milk should be mixed thoroughly before a sample is taken from a can or other large vessel. If this is not done an excess of cream will be in the sample, and a high per cent butter fat will be the result when a test is made.

Final Settlement Of Irish Question

Michael Collins' Visit to London Said to Assure Satisfactory Settlement of Whole Irish Question.

(Special to The Guardian)

LONDON, June 13—The arrival of Michael Collins here today is expected to mark the sealing of a final understanding on the Irish situation. Interviewed by the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent prior to his departure for London Mr. Collins said he did not expect that he would have to stay in London more than twenty-four hours because things are well enough and I trust we will bring matters to a satisfactory conclusion with the British Government.

LONDON, June 13—Practially a complete agreement on the revised text of the Irish Free State constitution was reached by Prime Minister Lloyd George and Arthur Griffith Monday afternoon. Continuing the stalling policy to delay the announcement until Friday's elections, Mr. Griffith postponed his return to Dublin until tonight and Winston Churchill put off his Irish statement in the House of Commons until Thursday Thus, it is hoped that the ballots will be cast on Friday before Eamon De Valera can make capital of the compromise agreed on here to influence the voters against Collin's policy.

"We are highly pleased with the success of the negotiations and Collins and Griffith manifest sincerity to work in harmony with the Imperial Government," said a Downing Street official yesterday in commenting on the situation. Tomorrow there will be another meeting to clear up a few odds and ends, but the problem already has been solved satisfactorily." The Irish delegation it was asserted, will probably find it impossible to publish the constitution in Ireland before the election, but publication is not necessary and the election will be held. Nevertheless, Mr. Churchill told Sir Robert Horne that there were no more Republican troops in Ulster.

Diehards of Riley's Army Hit the Trail

(Special to The Guardian)

TORONTO, June 13—The diehards of Riley's army hit the trail again for Ottawa this afternoon. At 2.30 p.m., 125 of them left Queen's Park and marched down University Avenue escorted by a single mountie.

How far they will get or what they really intend, one can only guess. The march may be only a bluff as was the night march out of Ottawa when they temporarily refused to take the train home. Whether Riley will lead them is also a matter of conjecture. Before the body moved off he resigned, stating that he was "out to get McDonald," the former leader of the movement, whom the police had refused to arrest.

The marchers, like the Apostles of old, are without food and without money except for the collection taken up to buy gasoline for their single motor truck. It is understood that the municipalities will not feed them again. They are taking the same route via the Kingston road to West Hill, for the night.

Infantry Will Camp June 21st 29th

The 1st Battalion (105th Btn., C. E. F.) P. E. I. Infantry will go into camp on the Ordinance Grounds, Brighton Road, Wednesday the 21st inst., and will undergo training until the 29th of June, inclusive.

The very successful camp of this unit last year is remembered, and keen interest is being displayed throughout the country in the regiment. Both the brass and pipe bands of the regiment will be in camp. These splendid bands have both been practicing faithfully for the past few months and this year their music will be fully up to the high standard they set at last year's camp.

The strength of the regiment this year will be about three hundred all ranks. The different companies at Charlottetown, New Wiltshire, Summerside and Montague, are now being recruited and the men enlistering are reported to be of a very high standard. It is to be regretted that with so many fine recruits offering, more cannot be taken into camp..

An excellent scale of rations has been authorized and arrangments are now complete for messing. An officer of the unit will be at the Drill Shed beginning on Saturday till the opening of the camp.

Tribute to the Late Rev. Julian C. Jaynes

The press of Boston and West Newton pays warm tribute to the late Rev. Julian C. Jaynes who, as previously announced in The Guardian passed away at Borden, this province, while on his way to his summer home at Keppoch with Mrs. Jaynes and their three little children, Helen, Julian C., and Robert.

The Boston Globe publishes a biography and photograph. The Boston Herald also gives and extended sketch of his life and ministry. Following is an extract from the Boston Transcript:

Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, for thirty-eight years minister of the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, died yesterday at Prince Edward Island, where he had been in the habit of going for successive summers. Mr. Jaynes, whose home was at 76 Prince Street, West Newton, had been in poor health for some time. On Monday he started with his family for his summer home which is just outside of Charlottetown, and he was seized with a heart attack on arriving at Borden.

Mr. Jaynes was born in Halifax County, Va., in 1854. At the beginning of the Civil War he removed with his parents to Connecticut. When he was ten years of age he was taken to Wisconsin, and subsequently entered the University of Wisconsin in the class of 75. For several years following his graduation he taught school in California.

In 1880 he returned East and entered the Harvard Divinity School from which he was graduated in 1884. He accepted a call to the pulpit of the First Unitarian Church in West Newton and was ordained to the Unitarian ministry in 1885. In 1910 Mr. Jaynes's twenty-fifth aniversary in the pulpit of that church was appropriately observed.

He remained the active pastor of the society until last February when his successor, Rev. Paul S. Phalen of Augusta, Me., was appointed. Thereafter Mr. Jaynes became pastor emeritus. Mr. Jaynes was one of the best known men in the Unitarian denomination and he was generally regarded as a strong preacher. For over twenty years he was a member of The Tuesday Club.

He is survived by a second wife who was Miss Laura M. Bullard of West Newton, their marriage taking place five years ago. There are three young children, two sons and one daughter.

A Former P.E.I. Man Dies at Lynn, Mass.

LYNN, MASS., June 13—Funeral services for Charles K. MacLeod, sixty-nine, for twenty-seven years sexton of St. Stephen's Memorial church, of which Rev. William Appleton Lawrence, son of Bishop Lawrence, is rector, were held Friday afternoon from the chapel.

Mr. MacLeod died at his home, 11 St. Stephen's Court, after an illness of two months. Shortly before his death he informed his family he did not want his friends to send flowers for his funeral, but desired that the money be placed in a fund to repair the church organ.

He was born on February 23, 1853, in Strathalbyn, P.E.I. He went to Lynn fifty years ago and was employed at the General Electric Company's plant.

Modifications Proposed In Taxation Measures

Stamp Tax on Receipts for Over $10 Suggested. Reduction in Stamp Tax and Certain Other Changes.

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, June 13—The stamp tax on receipts announced by Hon. W. S. Fielding last evening is an innovation in Canada though it has been in effect in Great Britain since 1891. The Minister of Finance last evening confined his announcement to the resolution which provided for the imposition of the new tax. The regulations governing its operations have not yet been drafted nor has the bill which will be based on the resolution been prepared. It is anticipated, however, that the Canadian Act will be based on the British Act which is said to have given satisfaction and to be a good revenue producer. Generally speaking the new proposal provides that a stamp of two cents be placed on every receipt for the sum of $10 or over and the stamp must be affixed and paid for by the person who gives the receipts and it is in the Discretion of him who pays the money to request and demand the stamped receipt therefore. The tax is not effective till next January.

OTTAWA, June 13—Members this morning are digesting the amendment budget of Hon. W. S. Fielding and studying from Hansard the general arguments presented by the veteran Minister of Finance. The second speech of Mr. Fielding was a carefully studied effort the design of which it is obvious was to appeal to the Progressives for support on the pending division though he expressed little hope of support from the ranks of the official Conservative opposition. There is no doubt that certain of the amendments proposed were pleasing to that party as well as to other members of the House. This is particularly true of the reduction in the tax on checks. The amendment to the regulation for the valuation of the goods of countries whose currency is heavily depreciated, the reduction in the excise tax on automobiles and other minor changes.

Hearing Concluded in Rum Robbery Case

Geo. Essory, Dan O'Brien and Edward Hennessy Sent Up for Supreme Court Trial at Police Court Yesterday

The police court was crowded yesterday when the preliminary trial of Daniel O'Brien, in connection with the recent rum robbery, again came up for hearing.

The court met at 9 a.m.

The Attorney-General announced that he did not intend putting in any further evidence at present.

The reading of Monday's evidence was dispensed with.

Asked if he had anything to say, O'Brien replied in the negative.

Mr. Inman, counsel for prisoner, said he had no witnesses to call.

His Honor said under the circumstances there was nothing else to do but send the prisoner up for Supreme Court trial.

The next case taken up was that of the King vs. Geo. Essory, on a similar charge.

Mr. Inman, K.C., and Mr. D. E. Shaw, appeared for the prisoner.

John Diamond, night watchman was the first witness called by the Attorney-General. He gave his testimony similar in effect to his statement on Monday. He saw the puncheons being loaded and hauled away, but could not swear it was Hennessey's jigger. He knew the prisoner, Geo. Essory. He saw him on the morning of the robbery coming out with O'Brien from the front door of Carter & Company. He had tried the front doors and side doors before, and both were locked.

"Did you see anybody else there besides the man who had the jigger, and Essory and O'Brien?"

"No, sir."

Thos. McMahon, night watchman, testified to being on duty the morning of the robbery. He saw the jigger coming from Sydney St., going around Carter's corner, driven by Edward Hennessey. At this time he did not notice any other man on the street; a woman came up on the other side of the street and crossed over from Farquharson's to Prowse's corner. He did not recognize her. When witness and Diamond got to Dorchester St. corner, Hennessey's jigger had been backed up to Carter's side door, and a puncheon was on it. He sang out "Good morning." Up to this time witness saw nobody at the warehouse except Hennessey. Officer McInnis came along and went to the warehouse, witness remained at the front of the building. Witness did not see the prisoner (Essory) at all that morning. After McInnis came back he and witness both went up to the jigger, leaving Diamond on the corner. There were two casks on the jigger. Hennessey was then alone. The warehouse doors were shut. Witness waited until jigger left. There was nobody in sight, but some man around the front of the building sang out to Hennessey to "Come on."

"Did you know his voice?"

"His voice sounded like Essory's."

Witness followed along Queen St. to City Hall, and could see the jigger at each crossing passing along Pownal street. Witness did not see Essory that morning.

John A. Fraser, clerk at Customs House, repeated much of his evidence given on Monday, relative to the storing of 8 puncheons of rum in Carter's warehouse Wednesday night, and the discovery of the robbery of 2 of the puncheons on Thursday morning. He noticed when he was called to the scene by Mr. Sinclair that the Yale lock had been broken to which only he and Mr. Moran, another Customs official, held a key.

Mr. Shaw: "Do you know anything about the working of the elevator, whether it is difficult to work or not?"

Witness: "No."

"Who was working it when you put the rum in there?"

"Mr. McLean."

Donald McLean, employee at Carter & Co.'s, repeated his evidence already given. He operated the elevator when the rum was being stored in the warehouse. Mr. Fraser was in charge. He went to work next morning about 8 o'clock. Mr. West, another employee, opened the door and they both went in. The elevator motor was running and the cellar hatch outside was crushed down. In the cellar the door was open between the two apartments, about half ways. The lock and staple were on the ground. He did not look to see what had been taken.

This concluded the evidence against the prisoner. Asked if he had anything to say he replied in the negative. He was committed for Supreme Court trial.

The case of the King vs. Edward Hennessey was then taken up. Messrs. Inman, K.C., and Shaw, for the prisoner, the Attorney-General for the prosecution.

John A. Fraser, Customs clerk, and Thos. McMahon, night watchman, were examined. They repeated the evidence already given.

The Attorney-General asked watchman McMahon: "After Hennessey had the jigger loaded what did he do?"

"He got the word of command from the front to 'come on'."

"Did you see who gave the command?"

"No, he was around the corner."

"Did you recognize the voice?"

"It sounded like Essory's."

Mr. Inman (cross-examining.) — "Did you go inside the building?"

Witness: "No."

"Did you know anybody was in the building?"

"I knew somebody must have been there to open the warehouse."

"Did you see the door open?"

"Yes."

"Did you see it being opened?"

"Well, it was open."

"Might it not have been left open from the night before?"

"Yes, it might have been."

"You know Hennessey well?"

"Yes."

"He is a truckman?"

"Yes."

"Is it not a common thing for a truckman to be working around warehouses very early in the morning?"

"Yes."

"You often see them?"

"Yes."

"Did you know Carter's was a bonded warehouse?"

"No."

"Did Hennessey look as if he was stealing something?"
