Makes Up Diets For Dew Liners

MONTREAL (CP)—Nancy Skinner of Montreal invades the masculine world of the Mid-Canada radar line to check up on menus. As a dietician for the Bell Telephone Company, she tours the main and intermediate stations of the 2,700-mile defence network by plane, train, helicopter, jeep and sled. Bell maintains the radar line running from the Atlantic coast into British Columbia through often-rugged terrain. Miss Skinner also reports to the RCAF which operates the radar sites.

Meals for men are familiar to her. As a messing officer in the RCAF for four years she knows her steaks and chops. BRIGHT KITCHENS
Fresh and frozen meats, vegetables, fruits and other staples arrive by sea or rail and are flown by helicopter to the isolated sites. She says she has been impressed by the brightly-lit, smartly-decorated compactness of kitchens hidden in the north, kitchens complete with deep-freeze and storage space.

The only request she's had so far from Mid-Canada personnel for extra supplies, she says came from one chef who wanted an angel-food cake tin.

Miss Skinner has learned the fine points about travelling in a no-woman's land. Often the only woman in a large camp, she packs her own shoe-polishing kit, detergent for laundering and washable plastic overshoes. She has shaped her hair-styling for simple self-netting. And she has abandoned nail-polish and other feminine fripperies that are a little awkward in her style of northern travel.

When winter comes, she abandons her fur coat and smart tweed suits in favor of the shapeless but warmer bulk of RCAF slacks and parka.

Valleyfield Congregation To Celebrate 117th Anniversary

On Sunday, August 4th, Valleyfield United Church Congregation will observe its 117th Anniversary with Services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The guest preacher will be Rev. D.I. MacIntosh, who is a present chaplain at Mount Allison University.

The Valleyfield Congregation, one of the oldest in the province has a history of intense interest. The first settlers in the Valleyfield district were immigrants from the highlands of Scotland, who came here by ships sailing from Liverpool, Glasgow, Skye and other points. In the early days the Valleyfield Pastoral district comprised the following communities, Valleyfield, first settled 1840; Heatherdale, 1841; Lyndale, 1829; Grandview, Bellevue, 1838; Caledonia-1858; St. Marys Road (Glenmartin); Whim Road, Kilmuir, Head of Montague, Victoria Cross, River, Dundas, Commercial Cross. The spiritual needs of the new settlement became the early concern of the people. In 1841, pray er meetings were organized. Each man in the district took his turn as leader. It was only natural that the home of the first citizen, William Martin, Valleyfield, should have been selected as the first meeting house. In 1842 a log meeting house was built. A frame church was built in 1845 and enlarged in 1847 to accommodate the growing congregation. A new large church was built and opened for worship in 1855. The present church was built and opened for divine service on December 26th 1909.

Following is a list of the ministers who served Valleyfield Congregation. Rev. Alexander MacIntyre, 1845-1850; Rev. Alexander

Little Sands Cemetery Co. Held Their Annual Meeting

The annual business meeting of the Little Sands Cemetery Company was held recently in the vestry of the United Church at Little Sands. Mr. M.A. MacKenzie, chairman of the trustees, presided. There was a fair attendance of plottolders. The treasurer gave a good report showing a balance in the funds.

It was agreed to begin to purchase government bonds with sums of one hundred dollars or more, contributed by plottolders, and the interest from these bonds would give the plots perpetual care. Money already received from plottolders amounting to one hundred dollars or more was to be used to open the fund for bonds.

This cemetery is now 125 years in use having been opened in 1832. A few years ago the trustees with the hearty co-operation of many plottolders had the cemetery put in most respectable looking condition.

After the trustees were elected they appointed the following officers from their members, Chairman, M.A. MacKenzie, Secretary Raymond MacMillan; Treasurer Wm. D. MacDonald.

Set Piece Attack Takes Licking In Army Tests

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP)

The meticulously planned, set-piece attack may be a thing of the past on atomic battlefields, staff officers say. They add that this is probably one of the major lessons to come out of the 10th Canadian Infantry Division's Exercise Eastern Star, scheduled to end today.

In drizzle and total blackout, the division, supported by nine simulated nuclear strikes, put in a cross-river assault Wednesday night and early today. But it soon bogged down in the hit-and-run defensive tactics of the enemy force and the situation quickly became confused.

Officers said hard lessons learned in the latter stages of the Second World War about how to conduct a night attack have been largely forgotten by the peacetime Canadian Army. That was the main reason for the final night exercise.

DIFFICULT TASK
Staff officers said it would be almost impossible to conduct a set-piece attack across a river, by day or night. All the enemy would have to do would be to station a few men along the bank with wireless sets and they could call down nuclear strikes on the bridge-heads.

A simulated strike Wednesday on the divisional headquarters atom area—the storage place for nuclear weapons—caused more than 900 theoretical casualties, most of them through heat, blast and radioactivity.

Officers also said the set-piece attack appears doomed because roads choked with convoys would only "suck an atomic blow." This is why the army is anxious to obtain a new armored carrier which doesn't have to stick to roads and a troop cargo plane.

At dawn today, the RCAF began flying reconnaissance sorties as well as carrying out simulated strikes on bridges.

The attack opened at 10 p.m. Wednesday night with the 1st and 2nd battalions, Canadian Guards, making diversionary assaults at both ends of the front. These were followed half an hour later by the main thrust with three other infantry battalions.

However, the enemy force kept moving from one prepared position to another, retreating and advancing, until the situation became confused and the division halted to redeploy.

Builders Busy At Murray H.

The village of Murray Harbour is at present a beehive of activity, with building, renovating and painting being the order of the day.

The present school structure is being moved, enlarged and completely renovated, and will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of teachers and pupils. The Presbyterian Church is receiving a new coat of paint, and in addition to the Baptist Church is being built and will house the vestry and choir room. Also under construction is a hall, which is being built by the United Church.
