THINK OF IT!

There's not a house in all the Town
Where nothing needs repairing;
Broken by having tumbled down,
Or from continual wearing.

Why lay such things aside, or worse
Use them with constant trouble?
To do the like is but to nurse
Your cares, or make them double.

Get them repaired, you'll find it pays,
No matter what the line;
And as the ancient proverb says,
A stitch will save you nine.

Bring in your jobbing, great or small,
(You'll surely never rue it),
And if it can be fixed at all
'Tis WALTER DOULL can do it.

Alcohol.

Wine-drinking is the mother of all mischief, the root of all crimes, the spring of vices, the whirlwind of the brain, the overthrow of the sense, the tempest of the tongue, the ruin of the body, the shame of life, the stain of honesty, and the plague and corruption of the soul.—St. Augustine.

As I looked at the hospital wards to-day and saw that seven out of ten owed their diseases to alcohol, I could but lament that the teaching about this question was not more direct, more decisive, more honest, thrusting than ever it had been.

It is when I think of all these, that I am disposed to give up my profession, to give up everything and go forth on a holy crusade, preaching to all men—"Beware of this enemy of the race."—Dr. Andrew Clark, one of the physicians to Her Majesty the Queen, and to Gladstone.

Alcohol may be wholly dispensed with without injury to the sick, every intelligent physician being able to supply its place with other remedies of equal if not greater value. Dr. N. S. Davis, Chicago; Dr. Stephen Smith, New York; Dr. James Edmunds, London, and many others eminent in the profession.

Judges are weary with calling attention to drink as the principal cause of crime, but I cannot refrain from saying that if they could make England sober they would shut up nine-tenths of the prisons.—Lord Chief Justice Coleridge of England.

In the performance of our duty, we have been deeply impressed with the fact that four-fifths if not nine-tenths, of the six thousand paupers and criminals which fill our public institutions are in their present sad and deplorable condition through the influence of intoxicating liquors. If we look beyond these institutions to determine the cost of the liquor traffic to this city; if we estimate the increase of the police force necessary to meet its requirements, the degradation emanating from the infamous pest-houses which it sustains, the idleness which it fosters, the wealth which it squanders and destroys, the poverty and disgrace which it entails, the burdens and expenses which it lays upon our courts of justice; and if we add to these the perpetual support of so large a number of paupers and criminals—the loss we suffer is incalculable.—Grand Jury of Philadelphia.

It has been said that greater calamities are inflicted on mankind by intemperance than by the three great historical scourges, war, pestilence and famine. This is true in fact, and is the measure of our discredit and disgrace.

W. E. Gladstone, Premier of England, 1880.

Some by violent strike shall die,
By fire, flood, famine; by intemperance more.—John Milton.

Canadians in England.

MR. BLAKE SPEAKS UPON HOME RULE AND MR. FOSTER ON CANADA'S WANTS.

A cable to the Toronto Telegram says that on Monday evening the Hon. Edward Blake was present at the banquet of the Anchor Society, of Bristol, and responded to the toast of the government and the liberal policy. Mr. Blake said his life, excepting when wrong had been done to Ireland, had been in sympathy with the liberal party. In public or private, no matter what trade measures he had advocated, his first object had been to achieve a solution of the Irish question. Any alliance between Ireland and England must be cordial, and that cordiality must be emphasized by attention to the legitimate aims of the Irish party. England's difference with the United States had largely been the result of the Irish question and the same might be said of Canada. In the States this feeling had been modified on account of the election of the liberals in England. It would not do, Mr. Blake went on, to have no regard for the monstrous absurdity of having a country's local laws interpreted by another community. A military force was kept in the country under the name of police. The minority in the respect of schools should be honestly protected. He spoke as a Protestant with profound respect for the rights of minorities. The Ulstermen, he was convinced, would in time abandon their attitude.

The Bristol Mercury says: "Mr. Blake delivered a calm, unimpassioned, powerful and well-reasoned speech on the problem of Home Rule."

The Times and Mirror of the same town says: "Mr. Blake is a Canadian gentleman who got himself elected as the nationalist member of an obscure Irish constituency. His speech was dull, dreary, delivered with turgid rapidity, and at times it was scarcely possible to follow. This kind of fluent rattle is the result of born conceit, and of all conceited individuals a conceited Irishman is the most in sufferable. Mr. Blake spoke with no authority, and even the friends of his cause could have obtained little instruction from his remarks."

Hon. Mr. Foster, Canada's Finance Minister, addressing the Imperial Federation League on Tuesday, explained Canada's position and healthy condition of the Dominion financially to the satisfaction of his hearers. He contended for better tariff terms between Canada and England, which the treaty of 1854 calculated to prevent. He dwelt upon the advantages Canada offered to desirable immigrants, and invited the British agriculturists to consider them. The speech throughout was practical and patriotic and evoked the greater enthusiasm from the 500 auditors present. Mr. Gibbs, M. P., occupied the chair, and Mr. Brassey moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Foster, which was carried with exclamation. Sir John Abbott was not able to be present.

A Jilted Lover's Crime.

HE SHOOTS THE GIRL, HIS RIVAL AND HIMSELF.

The quiet little village of Peteravoy, in Devonshire, Eng., was recently thrown into a state of great excitement by the crime of a jilted lover. A young man named William Williams fell in love some little time ago with Emily Doidge, the daughter of a farmer. His love was not reciprocated, however, another young man named William Rowe having found favor with the girl.

Williams became moody and morose when he found that he had a successful rival; but nobody dreamed that he thought of wreaking vengeance for his blighted affections. On Sunday nearly all the villagers attended divine service in the parish church. Williams was present, as were also Miss Doidge and Rowe, and it was noticed that he kept his eyes upon the girl during the entire service, and it is now thought that the sight of her in company with Rowe excited his jealousy to such an extent that he became temporarily insane.

When the services were over Rowe and Miss Doidge started to walk to the latter's home. They had gone but a short distance along the quiet country road before they were overtaken by Williams, who, without a word, drew a pistol and fired two shots at Miss Doidge, who fell dead to the road. Rowe, taken completely by surprise, did not have time to raise a hand to protect his sweetheart or himself.

The moment the girl fell Williams fired two shots at Rowe, both of which took effect. The noise of the shots attracted other persons to the spot. They found Rowe lying unconscious by the side of Miss Doidge, while only a few feet from them was Williams, with a bullet in his brain. He had shot himself. Rowe was taken to his home, where he died the next morning. The condition of Williams is critical, and there is little, if any, hope of his recovery.

Salvationists Fight.

THEY HAVE A LIVELY STRUGGLE WITH THE POLICE OF BASLE.

Ever since the appearance of the Salvation Army in Switzerland there has been trouble between its members and the Swiss authorities. At Basle the authorities notified the army that they must hold their meetings in one hall. This order was obeyed for a time, but on Sunday a number of Salvationists attempted to hold a meeting in another hall. When the police attempted to disperse them they clung to benches and tables, and resisted all the attempts to eject them. The police were compelled to use considerable force before they could clear the hall.

After they had all been put out they gathered outside the building, and after a short parley formed in ranks, advanced at the double quick and tried to retake the hall by storm. The police met them at the doors and a hand to hand fight followed. A number of the combatants on both sides were injured. Quite a number of the Salvationists were arrested. Had it not been for the assistance rendered the police by a number of citizens, the Salvationists would probably have succeeded in recapturing the hall.

"I Itched Intensely!"

A TERRIBLE SKIN DISEASE

Of Eight Years' Standing

"PERFECTLY CURED"

BY

Skoda's Ointment and Discovery.

LEWISTON, ME.

GENTS—I wish to inform the suffering through you that SKODA'S GERMAN OINTMENT and SKODA'S DISCOVERY will cure the worst skin disease.

BETTER

My skin was covered with white scales, it itched intensely, and when I would rub or scratch it, the scales fell off, leaving a raw, burning, and agonizing sore. I was so miserable that I could not sleep, and I was so weak that I could not stand. I had tried every remedy I could get, but nothing would do me any good. I was so miserable that I was ready to give up. I was so miserable that I was ready to give up. I was so miserable that I was ready to give up.

My skin was so dry that my elbows, knees, hands, etc., would crack open so badly that they would bleed freely. My scalp was so that it could not comb my hair, and had to keep it clipped close to my head.

I have now used a half dozen bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY and about eight ounces of SKODA'S OINTMENT. The result is I am PERFECTLY CURED. My skin is soft as my face, instead of rough as I have sweet sleep at night, and a good head of hair.
