MONDAY, Nov. 10.—The German reformer, Martin Luther, was born on the 10th. November, 1483; and his death occurred on the 18th February, 1546. Became a monk at Erfurt, 1505, was excommunicated September, 1520, and burned the papal bull in December the same year. Abjured his monastic vows, 1524, married Catherine Von Bora, 1525. Published the Bible complete, 1534. Preached his last sermon, 17 January, 1545, one year before his death. The Lutheran memorial, at Worms, was inaugurated 25th June, 1868.

THE Toronto Globe is down on the Tories who used rotten eggs in the time of Lord Elgin. Perhaps a few of the sinners might be resurrected and gibbeted alongside of a few of the murdered offspring of Reform principles. The people want something fresher to think about than rotten eggs. There are a few of the egg throwers still living, but they are all Western Brits now.

MEETING OF THE ALLIANCE.—An adjourned meeting of the Charlottetown Branch of the Dominion Alliance takes place to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. At this meeting business of an important nature will be discussed. In the last week or two the Alliance has made an appeal to the people of Charlottetown for the "winds of war," and the appeal has been cheerfully responded to. This is a sure indication that the citizens desire to have the law enforced. It is to be regretted that it is necessary for the citizens to contribute out of their private means; but this state of affairs will not long continue. The Alliance, acting for the people, should now pave the way for the immediate enforcement of the Act. The wishes of the People must be respected, cost what it will.

THE reconstruction of the Halifax Steam Navigation Company is announced. It will be remembered that the company last year enjoyed a subsidy from the government for a monthly line of steamers to London, G. B., and that the Furness line by offering to do the service for less money secured the subsidy and the trade. The Halifax Steam Navigation Company have since been for some months in negotiation with the Dominion Government for a fortnightly line of steamers to France. It has now been definitely arranged that the company are to receive from the government a subsidy of $50,000 per annum, and that the steamers are to run to Havre alternately from the St. Lawrence and Halifax in summer and from Halifax in winter, with the liberty of calling at an American port on the Halifax trips. Two new steamers for this service are now building on the Clyde. They are to be 2,000 tons burden, 230 horse power, fitted up for cabin and steerage passengers with all the latest improvements in hull and machinery; $100,000 of the capital stock has already been subscribed, part of which is held in Scotland.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Tree Planting.

SIR.—In the last issue of the Patriot there appeared an article on tree planting. As winter is rapidly approaching, persons intending to transplant trees should do so at once. That a systematic course should be pursued, regulations were issued in the spring, and it may be that there are persons who do not wish to take any steps in this direction for fear of violating any of the rules adopted by the Arbor Society. It would be well, therefore, that a meeting of the Society be called at once for the purpose of naming a day for tree planting. Unless there be some fixed time appointed, citizens will not take the same amount of interest in the matter that they otherwise would if they knew that all hands were likely to take part in the work at a particular time. There are many, no doubt, who prefer to transplant in the Spring, thinking the Fall not so good a time. Others again prefer the Fall, and it is nothing but right that the same public opportunity should be afforded now as is likely to be offered in the Spring. Very many distinguished arborists hold that the Fall is the better time, but as their conclusions are, to a great extent, arrived at from experimenting, and as the citizens of Charlottetown are just as capable as any other in that respect, a chance should be given them for that purpose. I notice within the last few days that several of our principal citizens have planted trees in front of their dwellings, and some have gone to the trouble and expense of importing trees to beautify our streets and squares, while others unable to incur such expense would willingly, if the offer were extended, remove the surplus trees from the private grounds of some of our citizens. As referred to in the article before mentioned, it is a pity to observe throughout the city the number of trees on private grounds whose growth is stunted from too great a proximity to one another. If some were carefully removed and planted elsewhere, they would flourish and give the remaining ones a chance to spread themselves. The lively interest taken in this work on the 24th of May has not been forgotten. On that day the citizens did well their duty to the squares, and the several committees have since taken their respective squares under their protection, and have continued to a greater or less extent the work then commenced. This is especially the case with reference to Queen's Square, the credit of which is almost entirely due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Arthur Newbery, to whom the thanks of our citizens are largely owing. Your readers need not be informed of the improvements on this square—they have seen them, and they as well as strangers must have felt pleased with the change. I am informed by Mr. Newbery that it is the intention of the committee for Queen's Square, to import lime trees in the spring, and have an avenue formed round the square. What has already been done has cost money. What is intended to be done will also cost money. It is necessary therefore, to look from what sources assistance may be expected, to defray expenses. Many of our citizens have already contributed; and no doubt, will do so again, if asked. Our local Government, what has it done? Nothing, but the society can certainly count upon something from them. Surely the Commissioner of Public Works, the Commissioner of Crown Lands, and other prominent officials of the Government cannot be insensible to the moral effect of the floral beauty which is slowly forming round them. The City Fathers! where are they? Let them awake from the civic lethargy with which the want of beautiful squares and fragrant flowers have depressed them, and let them, too, contribute their share, and thus help to preserve their names.

—"In the temple where the dead are honored by the nations—Let us pray." This is not all. The Dominion Building, when finished, will be in the midst of all this improvement. Would it be too much, then, to expect some help from Ottawa? In our energetic M. P.'s—prominent members of the Arbor Society—we have able advocates to plead our cause. To push this latter claim there is also a formidable army of Dominion officials, every one of whom is a genuine lover of the beautiful in nature and art. All this accomplished, the Society will emerge from its infancy a powerful agent for the healthful adornment of the city. In this most important work there is one approach to our city which should not be overlooked. I refer to St. Peter's Road. Every denomination is interested in it. Let the combined efforts of all be directed to the forming and beautifying of an avenue to the burying grounds, which, when completed, would be a credit to any city. If there is one thing more than another which attracts the eye of a stranger on approaching the smaller cities of the United States, it is their avenues of trees, attended to with the most scrupulous care. The same carefulness is also noticed in the finished appearance of their squares, which imparts to them a freshness at once pleasing and interesting.

Yours, &c.
H. C. MACDONALD,
Secretary Arbor Society.
