The Opening of the New Shirt Waists

We have an exhibit today of handsome novelties in '1899 Shirt Waists.'

Crowds of people were admiring them on Saturday evening.

They all said—"The prettiest shown yet."

They are pretty.

We don't remember any year when the styles were as "chic," and the patterns so dainty.

The prices are easy too.

ANOTHER BIG STEAMSHIP LOST. The Allan Liner Castilian Runs Ashore

ON THE GANNET ROCK, NEAR YARMOUTH.

No Loss of Life Steamer May be Floated With Assistance.

(SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER)

YARMOUTH, March 13.—In a thick fog at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning the splendid new steamer Castilian, of the Allan Line, struck on the Gannet Rock Ledge, eleven miles southwest of Yarmouth light, and will probably become a total loss.

She was loaded with one of the largest cargoes ever carried out of Portland.

The Castilian left port for Liverpool at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. During the night the weather became heavy and the steamer was proceeding slowly. A strict lookout for buoys and other land signals was maintained, but suddenly a few minutes before 4 o'clock breakers were sighted on the port beam and the telegraphs rang with orders to reverse the engines, but before the orders could be obeyed the big liner struck on the ledges running up the gully and with so little shock that the fifty passengers sleeping in their berths were not awakened.

The engines were immediately reversed but could not budge her from her position.

She held hard and fast swinging around only with the tide, with the surf-beaten gannet rock looming up to the north two miles astern.

The Castilian struck at low tide and hung on the ledge about the engine room. All efforts to back her off proved unavailing.

The monster engines were powerless to move the lumbering craft, and nothing remained but to wait for daylight when a boat's crew could be sent ashore for assistance.

The passengers were all taken off and brought to Yarmouth. The Castilian is valued at $700,000; cargo $450,000. She lies on one of the wildest spots of a dreadful coast of reefs, shoals and ledges.

HEART DISEASE.

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TROUBLE

Do Not Be Alarmed, But Look For the Cause.

Heart troubles, at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart troubles is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with the action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full size package of these tablets sold by druggists at fifty cents. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart, Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE WINTER MAIL SERVICE.

Sir,—The statement regarding our winter mail service prepared by Mr. Horac Hazard, President of the Board of Trade, and published in Saturday's Guardian, while it may be interesting as a statistical account of the crossing at the Capes from 1894 to the present time, is of no value whatever as a factor in the present discussion about that service, and Mr. Hazard in causing it to be published either showed a most profound ignorance of the question at issue or of the intelligence of the people of Prince Edward Island.

The question in this discussion and the grounds of complaint against the government is not the crossing between Cape Tormentine and Cape Traverse or vice versa. Every person knows that the crossing between these two points depends almost entirely on the state of the weather, for which the Government is not accountable. The men employed as couriers are experienced boatmen, and it is presumed that they cross and re-cross at all available times. This being so, the statement compiled by Mr. Hazard, while interesting and instructive from a weather point of view, has nothing whatever to do with the complaints, now admitted by all to be well founded, against this year's management of the winter mail service between Aulac and Cape Tormentine and Cape Tormentine and Aulac.

There is a railway from Cape Tormentine which taps the Intercolonial at Sackville; and for some years past it has been the custom to have the Island mails sent to and from Cape Tormentine by this railway. Unfortunately, however, for Prince Edward Island, it appears that the control of this road is in the hands of Senator Wood, who is a Liberal Conservative. For some reason, best known to the Ottawa Government, a row has been raised between Senator Wood and the post office officials, and the result is that the carriage of the mails is taken away from this railway and given to certain Liberal friends of the Liberal Government to carry by horse teams. These friends are unable to carry the mails with any degree of regularity between Aulac and the Cape, and the consequence is that the Island mails both to and from Cape Tormentine are delayed in the most outrageous manner. But this is not all. It has been openly charged, and not contradicted, that mail bags and mail boxes have been lost on the road. It is against this service to and from Cape Tormentine, that the public is up in arms; and not against the crossing at the capes. Mr. Hazard must therefore see how valuable his statement is regarding the complaints.

I am not ungrateful of the fact that mail bags for this Island are almost daily left behind at Cape Tormentine. The exact cause of this I cannot state. I am informed however that it is caused by the late and irregular hours of the arrival of the teams at Cape Tormentine, which renders it impossible for the mail clerk at Tormentine to assort the mail in time to catch the boats in the morning. If this is the correct cause, I would suggest that the mails be sent over whether they are sorted or not. Surely they can be sorted as well in the Charlottetown Post Office by a large staff as by one overworked clerk at Cape Tormentine.

I, as an interested person, would like to have this matter discussed and dealt with independently of politics. We all know that Mr. Hazard is a strong liberal, a relative of Sir L. H. Davies, who is really the one to blame for all the mismanagement; and when we see a red herring, in the shape of a misleading statement, drawn across the track, one cannot help coming to the conclusion that an attempt is being made to deceive the public and, for party reasons, to shield the responsible parties.

MERCHANT.

Centuries ago, people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They fear it as people now fear the Cholera and yellow fever, and yet there is a thing that causes misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headache, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favor. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

FAREWELL ADDRESS.

At the regular meeting of Maple Lea Lodge, C. M. A. North Carleton, the following address was presented to Mr. J. Fred Pierson prior to his leaving the Island to take up his abode in the United States:

COPY OF ADDRESS.

MR. J. FRED PIERSON, North Carleton.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER:

It is with feelings of sincere regret that we are called upon to address you on this the eve of your departure from our midst. When first hearing of your intended move it was our desire that you reconsider your decision; but upon further thought the commendation it so justly deserves in thus doing you are endeavoring to carry out to a certain extent the principle which the very name of our beloved order implies.

Since the organization of this Lodge, of which you were the prime promoter, it has been your special delight to lend your aid in the furtherance of the subjects for which we are banded together, and as your sphere of action shall be greatly widened, we doubt not but that your efforts along this line shall be proportionately increased. Not only will this circle, but the community at large, sustain a severe loss by your removal; in all movements, whether social, moral or spiritual, you have done what you could.

And now, dear brother, as you go out in the din and tumult of this world, and come face to face with its snares and entanglements, wherever in the ruling of Providence your lot may be cast may that same unerring hand guide your youthful footsteps in the paths of rectitude, and may success attend you, are the sincere wishes of your brothers.

Signed in behalf of the Lodge in F. F. F.

HERMAN MYERS }
LOUIS CROCKETT } Com.

Mr. Pierson thanked the members for their kind wishes and expressed his regret at severing his connection with the Lodge. He crossed by the Capes next morning en route to Boston.

SINCE ADAM BRED CATTLE

Lord Stalbridge Thinks That Tuberculosis Has Existed.

LONDON, March 10.—Lord Stalbridge, speaking at the Shaftesbury Farmers Club, said tuberculosis had existed since Adam and Eve began to breed cattle, and they might be perfectly certain that Jacob had it amongst his herd.

As regards the tuberculin test, infallibility was not claimed for it, for there was nothing infallible in this world, not even vaccination. Agriculturists would have to put themselves right with milk consumers as to their cows not being affected.

The Dairymen's Meeting.

Sir,—I am sorry to trouble you again, and if "Anti-Humbag" in the Guardian of last Saturday had stated facts it would not be necessary for me to do so. His personal remarks regarding Mr. Dillon are such as might be expected to emanate from a contributor of a Rochford's Daily type. If he had omitted the "Anti" he would be in order.

Mr. Dillon is too modest to impose himself on any audience. On this occasion he was asked to speak by the farmers, who know he is their best friend, which he has proved himself to be by his untiring efforts to bring the dairy business to the success it has achieved in this province today. This success was shown by Professor Robertson at the afternoon meeting when he said "it far exceeded the prediction he made on his first visit to the Island," and who but Mr. Dillon and the government which sent him deserves credit for the same?

I cannot understand in what sense a cheese inspector and inspector would affect the cheese buyers of the province, unless to give them a better article; and I have no doubt that Mr. Dillon, who is the best judge and was endeavoring to assist the dairymen in getting the best man, had no other object in view when he named Mr. Spiller.

"Anti-Humbag" thinks that Mr. Dillon was well paid for his services here; but I can assure him that money could not pay him for what he has done for the dairying interests in this province. I have been told by disinterested persons that he has been met at 4 o'clock in the morning travelling in the country in order to keep his appointments with the various factories under his supervision. Mr. Weeks' remarks were well put and to the point; but of course they did not please the Premier, who did not contradict his statement that it cost the delegates $15 to attend the meeting, although he attempted to stop him as well as Mr. Dillon.
