

Judging from Appearances.

When Maine was a district of Massachusetts, Ezekiel Whitman was chosen to represent the District in the Massachusetts Legislature. He was an eccentric man, and one of the best lawyers of his time. He owned a farm and did much work on his land, and when the time came for him to set out for Boston his best suit of clothes was a suit of homespun. His wife objected to his going in that garb, but he did not care.

'I will get a nice suit made as soon as I reach Boston,' he said.

Reaching his destination, Mr. Whitman found rest at Doolittle's city tavern. Let it be understood that he was a graduate of Harvard, and at this tavern he was at home. As he entered the parlor of the house, he found several ladies and gentlemen assembled, and he heard the following remark from one of them:

'Ah! here comes a countryman of the real homespun genus. Here's fan.'

Whitman stared at the company and then sat down.

'Say, my friend are you from the country?' remarked one of the gentle men.

'Ya-as' answered Ezekiel with a ludicrous twist of the face.

'And what do you think of our city?' asked one of the ladies.

'It's a peety thickly settled place anyhow. It's got a sweepin' sight of house'n in it.'

'And a good many people' too.'

'Ya-as, I should guess so.'

'Many people were you come from?'

'Wal, some.'

'Plenty of ladies, I suppose?'

'Ya-as a fair sprinklin'.'

'And I don't doubt that you are quite a beau among them.'

'Ya-as, beau's 'em home, tew meetin' and singin' skowl.'

'Perhaps the gentlemen from the country will take a glass of wine?'

'Thankee, don't keer if I do.'

The wine was brought.

'You must drink a toast.'

'Oh, git out. I eat toast: never heard of sich a thing as drinkin' it. But I can give you a sentiment.'

The ladies clapped their hands; but what was their surprise when the stranger, rising, spoke calmly and clearly as follows:

'Ladies and gentlemen, permit me to wish you health and happiness, with every blessing earth can afford, and may you grow better and wiser in advancing years, bearing ever in mind that outward appearances are deceitful. You mistook me, from my dress, as a country booby, while I, from the same superficial cause, thought you were ladies and gentlemen. The mistake has been mutual.'

He had just finished when Caleb Strong, Governor of the State, entered and inquired for Whitman.

'Ah, here I am, Governor. Glad to see you.'

Then, turning to the dumbfounded company, he said:

'I wish you a very good evening.'

Throw old bottles, oyster cans, broken dishes and so forth into your neighbor's yard. He's no man at all if he can't pass them along to the next.

A common disease.—'What's the matter with Mr. Johnson's eyes?' 'Why he has injured his sight by looking through a thick bottomed tumbler.'

Mr. Joshua, will you lend father your newspaper—he only just wants to read it? Yes my boy; and ask him to lend me his dinner—I only just want to eat it.

A 'CREAMY' JOKE.—Farmer's wife—'What are ye dacin' in there, Jock?' Herd laddie—'I'm suppin' the cream, mistress.' Farmer's wife—'Ah, but I dinna like that?' Herd laddie—'Ye dinna like guid meat then.'—Fun.

A rural editor has lost faith in the luck of horseshoes. He nailed one over his door recently and that morning there came by mail three duns and seven stops and a man called with a revolver to ask 'who wrote that article?'

Take him away; kill him and bury him beside the young lady who sang 'Grandfather's Clock,' and the old maid who played 'Baby mine,' and the boy who whistled 'Nancy Lee.' We mean the youth who comes into our office with the interrogation; what never?

NOT A PROMISING YOUNG SCOT.—Old Highlander (to village post-boy with a telegram)—'Dye ken what its about Sawney?' Sawney (who was told by his father, the postmaster)—'Aye, it says that Tonald is cummin's hame the morn's morn frae the fushn; and ye'll hae to pay a saxpence, or I'm no to gie ye it.' Old Highlander—'Na, na! Ye just take it back, and say maun I dinna want it.'—Judy.
