The other champions are Kremlin 2 07½, champion trotter; Martha Wilkes, champion race record 2 08½; Moquette 2 10, champion four year old stallion, and Sillon 2 15½, champion two-year-old race record.

Belkaiser's is the Wilkes-Mambrino cross—the most successful Wilkes cross. A few of the great sires bred this way are Red Wilkes, sire of 79; Onward, 64; Alcantara, 51; Alcione, 31 (sire of Martha Wilkes 2 08); Guy Wilkes, sire of 29, including Sable Wilkes 2 18, sire of Freedom 2 29½, first yearling trotter in 2 30 list; Jay Bird, sire of 23, including Allerton 2 09½, and Eagle Bird 2 21, sire of Monbars 2 11½ (3 years). Another is Simmons (foaled in 1879), sire of Greenleaf 2 10½, New York Central 2 13½, Simmsdon 2 13½, Coraloid 2 14½, and 25 others.
A premium of $150 will be given to the owner of the first trotter by Belkaiser credited with an official record in table of 2 30 trotters, provided horse is living and in bands of his present owner. Although making this offer, the service fee has been placed at the low figure of $2, to be settled by note if not paid at time of first service. Usual return privilege season of 1894 if mare proves not in foal. Catalogue giving full particulars of pedigrees, etc., furnished on application. Breeders will do well to call at stables of Mr. J. D. McLeod, near new Masonic Temple, where horse can be seen in charge of George Williams. dy 21 wy 4w—may 23

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

Has come not a little knowledge as to cooking—what to do, as well as what not to do. Thus we have learned to use the most pure and perfect and popular cooking material for all frying and shortening purposes.
PROGRESSIVE COOKING
is the natural outcome of the age, and it teaches us not to use lard, but rather the new shortening,
COTTOLENE,
which is far cleaner, and more digestible than any lard can be.
The success of Cottolene has called out worthless imitations under similar names. Look out for these! Ask your Grocer for COTTOLENE, and be sure that you get it.

Foster at Orangeville.

Speaking at the Conservative demonstration at Orangeville, Ont., on Thursday, Hon. Mr. Foster dealt with Mr. McCarthy and contended that he was a political mountebank, who sought to make political capital for himself while he fancied the Government was embarrassed. He asked his hearers to wait until the Government brought its tariff revision scheme before the House next session, and then pass their judgment on it. The policy of Messrs. Laurier and Cartwright, he asserted, would destroy every vestige of prosperity we now enjoy. He next adverted to the grave danger to the country of the constant denigration of the country. Notwithstanding their persistence they found few believers and made little progress in their glib work. Last year their trade increased twenty-three millions, the largest in its history, and the largest showing of any country in the world. Speaking of combines, Mr. Foster said there were good combines as well as bad, and to say that a thing is a combine is not to prove that it is wrong. It is only when a combine takes the place of a monopoly, and feels upon the blood and health of the people, then it is not to be tolerated. In conclusion he said that Canadians had hope for the future not found in any other country, and advised the electors to eschew and avoid these politicians, worn out and disappointed, who are continually prating of the disadvantages of Canada. His meeting closed by passing resolutions regarding its unabated confidence in the policy and administration of the Dominion Government, and expressing great satisfaction with the method adopted by the Government in view of the revision of the tariff, namely that of ascertaining the opinions of all classes of the population.

Picking Holes in the Bill.

In the House of Commons on Thursday last, according to recent advices from London, Mr. Labouchere addressed a series of questions to the Government with a view of obtaining definite information as to whether the foreign office had authorized Sir Gerald Portal to proclaim a British protectorate in Uganda.
Sir Edward Grey, in reply, referred Mr. Labouchere to the published instructions given to Sir Gerald Portal when he went on his mission.
Sir Arnold Forster, Liberal Unionist, made a motion to adjourn in order to obtain an opportunity for debate on the growth of crime in the counties of Kerry and Limerick, Ireland. The division resulted in the defeat of the motion by 241 to 203. The House then went into committee on the Home Rule bill.
Mr. Gladstone adopted the proposed amendment that the right to interfere in hostilities between foreign countries be excepted from the powers of the Irish legislature.
George Wyndham, Conservative, for Dover, proposed to exclude from the control of the Irish authorities all Irish police except the local forces under local officials.
Mr. Balfour, leader of the Unionists, spoke at length in support of Mr. Wyndham's amendment. Clause 3, he said, was supposed to provide that the Irish Legislature should not have power to make laws concerning military or naval forces or the defence of the realm. Unless some such check as that suggested by the member for Dover were adopted, however, half the provision must remain as worthless as the paper it was printed on. What else could the members possibly attach to the clause enacting that the new Irish Legislature should have nothing to do with the Military forces if at the same time the Irish Government should be permitted to control an armed and drilled force of constabulary 120,000 strong. What in the clause in question limited the right of the Irish Legislature to increase the strength of the constabulary? Unless the amendment were adopted there would be nothing to prevent the Irish Legislature from forming an army of its own under pretence of reorganizing and developing this constabulary.
Mr. Gladstone said he was satisfied that no semi-military force under the name of police could be legally constituted in Ireland under the bill. Nevertheless, if the prohibitions already proposed appeared to be insufficient, he was willing to insert in the bill words to meet the case beyond all doubt. (Hear, hear.)
After this declaration, Mr. Wyndham, in accordance with Mr. Balfour's advice, withdrew his amendment.
Somewhat later Mr. Morley accepted for the Government an amendment exempting from the control of the Irish Government the magazines, arsenals, naval dockyards and other similar means of defence of the realm.

Jeff Davis Buried Again.

HIS BODY NOW LIES IN RICHMOND, HIS INTENDED CAPITAL.
The body of Jefferson Davis which arrived at Richmond from Louisiana on Wednesday last, was again consigned to the grave that afternoon. From daylight until 9 o'clock, hundreds of strangers and city people passed through the capitol and viewed the flower-laden casket. From 9 to 11 o'clock about 5,000 public school children passed by the bier, each dropping flowers as a tribute of affection. At 3 40 o'clock the body was removed to the station and draped by six white horses caparisoned in black, and the line of march was taken up for Hollywood. Horses along the line were almost without exception draped in black, and the national, state and confederate flags, the latter predominant, were either floating to the breeze or worked in the funeral colors. The streets along the route, yards, and windows of the dwellings were packed with people. Nothing of a tumultuous and noisy character marked the day or progress of the cortege, while the scene was a most imposing one though the whole city seemed to be in mourning. On arriving at Hollywood cemetery the distinguished guests, the Louisiana society, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and also the Georgia delegations, which came on with the funeral cortege, descended from their carriages and formed on the circle which contains the graves. The infantry formed the outer circle, and between the two marched the Confederate veterans. When the military movement was completed, the coffin, the open grave, and the family were surrounded by three solid walls of men. Outside this triple circle was a dense crowd of thousands. As soon as everything was in readiness the Stonewall band of Staunton played a funeral dirge. Rev. Mr. Mumford then read a selection of Scripture. Rev. Dr. W. W. Landrum then read the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," which was sung by the crowd. At the close of the hymn Dr. Hoag offered prayer. Rev. Dr. Barton, of Norfolk, pronounced the benediction. Immediately after the benediction the casket was lowered into the grave. After the bugle signal came taps, and the infantry fired a salute which announced that the services were over. The column then moved to Gattysburg hill where the annual memorial services of the Ladies' Hollywood Association took place, which consisted of the graves of 6,000 Confederate soldiers.

A Hard Profession.

Old Dr. Johnson once said, addressing a class of medical students, that the study of medicine was a most arduous undertaking; that the most comprehensive mind and the most industrious student could scarcely do more than explore the portals to medical knowledge during the brief time allotted to study before commencing practice, but that throughout his whole life the responsibilities of his profession should rest upon him like a nightmare.
He should explore every avenue of natural knowledge, must become familiar with chemistry, natural philosophy and natural history, but, above all, he must learn the construction of his own frame, the means by which he lives, moves and has his being. He must understand the nature of all those instances by which health is broken down and restored, and by what means disease, suffering and death may be averted. Dr. Johnson further says that nothing contributes so much to the support of quackery as the present insufficiency of medical knowledge. Men do not, he says, easily abandon hope but as readily put their ignorant pretensions as drowning men catch at straw.
"The good that men do in this life lives after them." During the life time of old Dr. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, a standard family remedy of surpassing merit. This liniment is both for internal and external use and it is safe to say that no single remedy ever discovered has done so much good as this one. It is inexpensive, ready at a moment's notice night or day and may be used with absolute confidence in the thousand and one ailments that afflict humanity. In the cure of severe cramps or pains in the stomach or bowels, dysentery, diarrhoea it is certainly worth its weight in gold. It has been known to cure cases from ten to fifteen years standing after the sufferers had been given up.

STAMINAL.

Considerable indignation is manifested at Ottawa on account of the action of the Michigan Board of Health in sending two agents to Gross Isle quarantine and substations, and interfering with Canadian work. They have had the impudence to demand from the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways salaries of a hundred dollars per month, which the companies hardly dare to refuse.
