Provincial Exhibition News Notes

Lt.-Colonel Timmis of Toronto, has notified Secretary J. W. Boulter of his willingness to come to Charlottetown to judge light cars and motor horse classes at the Provincial Exhibition. The Colonel is known in Europe and America as an outstanding horseman. For several years he has had charge of Canadian jumping teams attending the National Horse Show in New York, and his services have been requested by some of the largest fairs in the United States. It will be interesting to follow his judging at Charlottetown, August 15th to 18th.

By the way, you must have noticed the greatly increased crowds that follow the judging both at the horse and cattle rings now that plenty of seating accommodation has been provided. This is a mighty good sign, showing that our people realize the importance of good live stock and what it means to the upbuilding of our fine Provincial Exhibition. It starts Tuesday morning, August 15 and continues until completed. Four trophies will be awarded to exhibitors scoring the most points. The exhibitors are exhibitors for dairy breeds, one for beef breeds and one for swine classes. Competition for these trophies was quite exciting last year and promises to be even more so this year.

Race horses are starting to arrive for the Exhibition races already. On Friday morning several exhibitors registered horses, one for dairy breeds, one for beef breeds and one for swine classes. Competition for these trophies was quite exciting last year and promises to be even more so this year.

That Body of Yours SEE THE INSIDE OF THE STOMACH When the physician can look directly into a patient's stomach and see the appearance of the lining surface and what is happening during stomach movements, he is certainly going to be better prepared to treat any abnormal condition he discovers. This can now be done by means of a flexible light called the gastroscope. In our student days, there were the test meals—toast and tea—which were allowed to be digested for a certain length of time and then withdrawn with a stomach pump. The contents were examined for the degree of digestion and amount of hydrochloric acid present. Later came the X-ray which enables the physician to see depressions and irregularities showing ulcer and cancer to be present. And the X-ray will continue to be used because there are certain parts of the stomach which cannot as yet be seen by use of the gastroscope. Dr. Elmer B. Freeman, Baltimore, tells in the Journal of the American Medical Association of 200 cases in which the examination by the gastroscope was made at Johns Hopkins Hospital and Maryland General Hospital. The lining of the normal stomach has an orange-red appearance, chronic atrophic (thinning of the stomach lining) inflammation has a grayish green color, and chronic hypertrophic (stomach lining thickened) is intensely red and "angry" looking. In regard to ulcer of the stomach it so happens that most ulcers are situated where the gastroscope allows the physician to see them very easily. Ulcer has a regular yellow or yellowish-white base. Cancer of the stomach cannot be mistaken for any other condition if seen by means of the gastroscope as it presents an irregular "crater" or sloughing black, brown or grayish tissue can be seen on the floor of this crater. There are also nodules or lumps present, not only around the crater, but throughout the walls of the stomach. It is the finding of cancer early by means of the gastroscope that will mean the saving of many lives, as early stomach cancer is easily curable and late stomach cancer is incurable. The gastroscope also enables the physician to watch the progress of an ulcer that is healing. The gastroscope does not replace the X-ray but is a forward step in discovering cancer early and noting the progress of a healing ulcer.

Interesting Address At B. I. S. Hall In an interesting address Dr. Emmet J. Mullaly of Montreal, a member of the Irish Historic Society, outlined the career of Edward Whelan last night before the Benevolent Irish Society. Edward Whelan was one of Prinice Edward Island's famous fathers of Confederation. Whelan Dr. Mullaly said, was not a politician—he was a statesman. The good of the province as a whole was always foremost with him. Whelan's energy always inspired the future of Prinice Edward Island would be closely linked with that of Canada, died in 1887, six years before this province joined the Dominion. Born in County Mayo, Ireland in 1824, Whelan emigrated to Nova Scotia at an early age and entered the employ of Hon. Joseph Howe as a printer's apprentice. In 1842 he came to Prinice Edward Island and launched the "Palladium" newspaper. In August, 1847, the "Examiner" which he conducted with untiring energy until his death, made its appearance. He represented St. Peter's district in the provincial legislature for 20 consecutive years and was a member of the cabinet of the province for his literary gifts which he used in the cause for responsible government. Whelan published "The Union of the British Provinces" and a Quebec conference which has been invaluable to Confederation students. He died at Charlottetown, Dec. 10, 1887. Dr. Mullaly showed lantern slides, many of which included views of Prinice Edward Island. At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Mullaly on his instructive address and interesting lantern slides. The vote of thanks was moved by Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan and seconded by Mr. J. J. Palmer. Dr. Mullaly was afterwards the guest of the executive at a delightful function at the Charlottetown Hotel.
