Witnesses Of Jehovah Win Major Court Battle

OTTAWA, (CP) — The Witnesses of Jehovah won a major battle against Quebec authorities in the Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday. The court ruled, in a 5-4 decision, that the Witnesses may distribute religious pamphlets on city streets without restriction. Upholding freedom of religion, Canada's highest court quashed the judgments of Quebec lower courts. It granted the appeal of witness evangelist Laurier Sacur of Quebec, convicted in 1946 on a charge of distributing tracts on Quebec streets without a police permit, contrary to a city by-law. The court ordered the city, its officers and agents to stop interfering with the evangelist in any way in distribution of religious information.

Can Be Appealed
Since the court case began in 1946, the court's decision can be appealed to the judicial committee.

Magnificent On Week's Visit To Belfast

OTTAWA, (CP)—The Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent has returned to her birthplace, Belfast, for a week's recreational visit. One of five Canadian warships which participated in the mammoth "Exercise Mariner" in the North Atlantic, the Magnificent had spent 19 days at sea when she put into Belfast Monday. The other four ships—the cruiser Quebec, destroyer escort Algonquin and frigates La Hulloise and Swansea—were proceeding to other United Kingdom ports. The entire group will rendezvous next week for special anti-submarine exercises off Northern Ireland.

India Seeks To Avoid Force In Dealing With Anti-Red Prisoners

By MILO FARNETT
PANMUNJOM, (AP)—Custodian India, caught in a squeeze by Allied and Red demands, shied away Tuesday from a policy of force in handling 22,500 Chinese and North Korean prisoners balking at a return to Communism. Shortly after receiving a letter from the United Nations commander demanding that these men be guaranteed "freedom of choice," Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya refused.

NEW DELHI, (Reuters)—India is considering the withdrawal of her custodian forces from Korea unless the United Nations command takes steps for "fair implementation of the prisoner-of-war agreement," informed quarters said Tuesday night. To say that his troops would compel the prisoners to listen individually to Red "explanation" teams. The Reds are making this their key demand. At a crowded press conference, attended both by Communist and Allied reporters, Thimayya said: "I think we can ask the prisoners to listen for five or 10 minutes." Indications were that the twice-postponed explanations may get started within a week. Because of the delays, the Reds want the questioning period beyond the Dec. 24 deadline but Thimayya agreed with the Allies he was powerless to do this. Reports Skin From Dead Can Save Badly Burned

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
CHICAGO, (AP)—A surgeon Tuesday showed how in death you could save the life of someone badly burned in accidents or atomic war. It means the gift of skin removed after death, then stored or used immediately to cover burns of the living. It would add skin to the gift of eyes, arteries, and bones as new human spare parts for the living. Dr. James Barrett Brown, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, showed pictures of a nine-year-old boy. Ninety per cent of his body had been burned in a barn explosion. Three months later the boy walked from the hospital, saved by skin taken from the dead. For a time he had walked in another person's skin. "Drugs can save the badly-burned from dying of shock," Dr. Brown told the American College of Sur-

Transport Bd. Continues To Hear Representations

OTTAWA, (CP) — Key parts of the Board of Transport Commissioners' freight rate equalization program were challenged Tuesday by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Quebec business organizations. Their objections were registered as the board continued receiving representations on its partial equalization plan proposed to go into effect Jan. 1, 1955. The study is being made under a 1951 parliamentary order to level rates among regions. Both the CPR and the Quebec business bodies took exception to the board's order for the elimination of a series of "blanket" rates between western points and centres in a big triangle bounded by Montreal, Windsor and Sudbury. The basic rates on traffic into and out of the triangle are the same for all points in it.

Mile-For-Mile Basis

The board decided to eliminate the group rates on the theory that freight tolls should, as far as possible, be on a mile-for-mile basis. The business organizations, the Montreal district and Quebec province chambers of commerce and the Quebec City Board of Trade, questioned the power of the board to eliminate the blanket tolls. They contended the rates are "competitive" — depressed to meet

Value Of PEI Fisheries Show Increase In August

OTTAWA, Oct. 6—(Special)—While both volume and value of the Atlantic sea-fisheries catch dropped in August of this year compared to August 1952, value of fish and crustaceans caught in Prince Edward Island waters during August this year was well above the sales of August last year. Value of the catch in August of the current year is $403,000 compared to $332,000 in 1952. The volume of the catch was less however, being placed for this August at 4,631,000 which is down 170,000 pounds from the 4,801,000 pounds caught in August 1952.

Dr. John Ross of Woodside, Ont., directed a pre-synod conference on Christian education. About 100 ministers and elders are attending the four-day meeting.

Nfld. Fishermen Survive Ordeal

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Three Newfoundland fishermen are resting in hospital at Burgeo following a harrowing three-day row in an open dory after their fishing boat foundered. Capt. Leonard Long and crew members Aloysius Benoit and John Davis abandoned their small craft Saturday and started the long row to shore. Exhausted, they made land Tuesday and were taken to hospital. Further details of the accident were not available here.

Instead of the conventional all-ports and elevators to control flight, the twin-jet plane has rotating tips set at the end of its swept back wings. Short Brothers and Harland, Limited, the manufacturers, said: "It is expected that the rotating wing-tip controls will be markedly superior to flap-type controls at transonic speeds and will make the aircraft more manoeuvrable at high altitudes." The plane itself, known as the Sheppa Jet Research, is not capable of high speeds, but the manufacturer claimed: "The lessons learned from its tests will form the basis of design of future high-speed civil and military aircraft."

Invasion Of Mice From Fields In Alberta

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta. (CP)—An invasion of mice from grain fields has women in a tizzy in town and country homes of this west-central Alberta district. With cats at a premium, many housewives refuse to go into their cellars. One woman who had the courage to do so reported she found the cellar floor a moving mass of gray mice. She raced upstairs and dropped onto a chesterfield to regain her composure. Three mice bounced out from behind the cushions. No one knows why the mice have moved so early out of the fields, still full of feed.

British And Canadians To Discuss Atomic Problems

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—The roles Canada and Britain will play in the immediate future in the atomic energy field will be decided at closed meetings on atomic policy here this week. The meeting, announced Tuesday by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., will be attended by atomic scientists from the two nations Oct. 8 and 9. The Crown-owned company in charge of the Chalk River atomic development described the conference as a "technical policy reference" on atomic energy. It said it will be similar to a meeting held at Harwell, England a year ago. The scientists will "discuss in detail various projects," placing particular emphasis on the harnessing of the atom for commercial power. A spokesman said the conference will lay down in general terms the roles the two countries will play in the research and development fields of atomic energy over the next year. He said one of the main objectives will be to prevent duplication of effort by British and Canadian atomic scientists, especially in the development of atomic power. The conference follows a meeting at Chalk River Sept. 9-11 attended by atomic scientists and representatives of Canadian companies interested in atomic power. The industrial delegates received the most detailed ac-

Foreign Office Statement Is Issued

By RANALD MACLURKIN
LONDON, (Reuters) — Britain announced Tuesday night she has sent warships and troops to the leftist-dominated colony of British Guiana to preserve peace and safety in the event of a communist take-over, which would "lead to bloodshed." A short statement issued by the colonial office said the decision to send troops to the colony had been discussed previously at cabinet meetings.

No Threats Made

No mention was made of suspending the colony's new constitution under which the leftist People's Progressive Party swept into power last April, and the statement made no threat to dismiss the left-wing ministers. "It is quite evident that the intrigues of Communists and their associates, some in ministerial posts, threaten the welfare and good administration of the colony," it said. "If these processes were to continue unchecked an attempt might be made, by methods which are familiar to some other parts of the world, to set up a Communist-Dominated state." "This would lead to bloodshed. In view of the latest developments, Her Majesty's government has found it necessary to send naval and military forces to Georgetown the colony's capital with the utmost dispatch in order to preserve peace and the safety of all classes." "Any reinforcements that may be required will be sent from the United Kingdom," it concluded.

Breaks Blackout

The 150-word announcement broke a four-day security blackout reminiscent of wartime. British officials made no previous comment on reports that the cruiser Superb, with 500 Welch Fusiliers aboard, was heading for the South American colony. British Guiana's PPP won the April election with the campaign pledge to fight "British imperialism."

Resolutions Passed By Trade Board

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (CP)—A resolution seeking support for Mulgrave, N.S., was passed Tuesday by the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade. The resolution asked federal action to co-operate with the town in establishing industry to replace that lost by construction of the Canso causeway. The Canadian National Railways terminal there had been the main source of employment. Other resolutions favored uninterrupted ferry service between Cape Tormentine, N.B., and Borden, P. E. I.; Maritimes representation on the board of transport commissioners; uniform national highway legislation; and an application by Maritime Central Airways to provide a Fredericton-Bathurst service. Regarding employee-employer relations, the board adopted a recommendation as follows: "If the Maritime Provinces are to maintain a high standard of living for their citizens, harmonious employer-employee relations are essential. We believe that any legislation passed on this vital subject should maintain a just and proper balance between the rights and responsibilities of employees on the one hand and those of employers on the other. Within this framework, employers and employees should be left the maximum freedom to work out their common problems without government intervention."

The board urged that the four Atlantic governments and business "should extend educational programs to stress the part that the public can play in saving their forests from destruction by fire, insects and disease, and to encourage the citizens of the Maritimes to understand the value and necessity of reforestation." The board further urged that its member board and chambers establish committees on forestry to improve the protection and development of this natural resource in their own vicinity.

New Fear Expressed For Kidnapped Boy's Safety

By AL DOPKING
KANSAS CITY, (AP)—New fear arose Tuesday night for the life of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease on the ninth day since his abduction. A spokesman strongly hinted something had gone wrong with negotiations for his release. With tears in his eyes, the spokesman said: "There has been no contact with a go-between. No nothing." Even as Stewart Johnson, a business associate of the 71-year-old father, spoke rumors persisted a development was imminent. There had been a rumor for several days the family had been contacted by the kidnapers and a $500,000 ransom demanded. As tension appeared to be mounting on the breaking point, Robert C. Greenlease waited in seclusion with his wife and 11-year-old daughter, Sue. Mrs. Greenlease, in her mid-40s, has been under a doctor's care. Whereabouts of Robert C. Lederman of Tulsa, who acted as spokesman for the family last week, continued to be a mystery. He has not been seen at the home since early Sunday. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was significantly silent about the case. They answered "no comment" to all questions.

Eisenhower Stresses Need For Control Of H-Bomb

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—President Eisenhower warned a divided world Tuesday to put the atom to constructive use, or risk H-bomb suicide with "erasure of cities, leavings of unidentifiable dead." He blamed Soviet Russia for a nuclear arms race, in which the free world must stockpile A-bombs and H-bombs "assuring us reasonable safety from attack." He blamed the threat of atomic warfare. "In its wake we see only sullen, and mass destruction... the possible doom of every nation and society. This horror must not be. This titanic force must be reduced to the fruitful service of mankind. If it is in the power of our leaders, with God's help, it will be done." "This can come to pass only as one of the results of shaping a firm and just and durable peace." Some 5,000 listeners heard Eisenhower spell out the world's atomic future in solemn alternatives. They were members of the United Church women of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. meeting in Atlantic City. Eisenhower flew here from Washington for his address, then returned to the capital. U. S. Loses Immunity He launched his discussion of atomic horrors by pointing out that America has lost its former immunity.

Barricades Are Thrown Around Munitions Stores

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, (Reuters)—Barbed-wire barricades have been thrown around police munitions stores here to prevent their seizure during a brewing constitutional crisis in this British colony. But Dr. Cheddi Jagan, a former East Indian dentist who heads the leftist government, said Tuesday: "I don't know what all the excitement is about." There have been no demonstrations in Georgetown, the colony's capital, although the police guard at Government House has been strengthened slightly. Police have been alerted for trouble. Normal leaves have not been cancelled. Most sugar plantations, paralyzed by a series of strikes last month, now are working normally.

Suspended Sentence In Manslaughter Case

HAMILTON, (CP)—Two Hamilton teen-age youths, Douglas Hamilton, 16, and Raymond Speziale, 17, were each given 18 months suspended sentence Tuesday after they pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the death of Grace McPherson, 31, a telephone operator. The girl was a victim of rock-throwing from a ledge on the mountainside last June. The judge described their actions as a "desperately foolish, silly prank."
