THE TRAMP'S TEST.—Yesterday a thoroughbred tramp sauntered to the house of one of our townsmen. Wishing to see the master of the house, and being gratified to that extent, the tramp asked for a few cents. There was a scream of bad Jamaica in the surrounding air, and an anxious air aspect on the lips of the tramp. "I possess a potato patch," said the gentleman, "and it needs weeding; go, do that, and I will repay you." But the tramp replied, "I like a gentleman to give a fellow a few cents without working for it." Finding the gentleman firm in his resolve, the tramp took his departure. Presently he appeared again on the scene and wished to know if it would be all the same to the master if another fellow did the work or helped him, while the tramp took the money. He was answered in the negative. Then, with blasted hopes and dolorous looks, he tramped off content, but, we fancy, with sadder sense than he had before.

REBECCA will be at the wall Thursday night, in the Skating Rink.

A CORRESPONDENT at Georgetown writes: The tea party held at Georgetown on Dominion Day in aid of St. James' Church, was notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather, a grand success in every way. About fourteen hundred persons were on the grounds, and everything possible was provided for their comfort and amusement by the Secretary in charge. The tea was held in the beautiful and spacious field of Mr. Wm. Dalziel commanding an excellent view of the Montague and Brudenell Rivers and the surrounding country. We have seldom seen a finer spread of dainties or a greater supply of trimmed cake than that which graced the tables in the Dining Saloon. The ladies seemed to vie with each other in having everything at hand calculated to tempt the appetite, and they certainly deserve great credit for the manner in which they conducted their department. The proceeds of the tea, which was the most successful one ever held in Georgetown, amounted to $650.
