

Search For U.S. Weather Plane Missing In Typhoon

TOKYO (AP)—A U.S. weather plane with 16 men aboard was reported missing Monday night in the Sea of Japan just as its target—destructive typhoon Emma—was breaking up off Soviet Siberia.

The typhoon, one of the worst of the current season, took 55 lives and caused millions of dollars in property losses in Japan, Okinawa, South Korea and the Philippines.

The missing plane, a four-engine RB-50, was assigned to measure wind velocity and air pressure inside typhoon Emma. It was last heard from 200 miles northwest of Niigata, roughly halfway between the coasts of Japan and Siberia.

It may have established somewhere in Japan where communications were knocked out by typhoon fringe winds of more than 50 miles an hour and heavy rain.

OTHER PLANES SEARCH

Other planes watched the tossing sea for hours while the crew of the missing typhoon hunter would light the managed to ditch and clamber aboard emergency life rafts. The search was to be broadened at daylight.

Six officers and 10 airmen were aboard the plane, which was based on Yokota in southwest Honshu. Its job was to help find the centre of the typhoon by entering its storm centre and dropping automatic data-collecting instruments.

The death toll included 24 in Japan, three in Okinawa including a U.S. military policeman, one in South Korea and six in the Philippines. It was blamed for the freak ocean current which drowned 11 U.S. marines off Okinawa last Wednesday.

MANY INJURED

The injured included 130 in Japan, 58 in Okinawa including 15 Americans and seven in Korea. Typhoon Emma, once 600 miles wide with 155 p. h. centre winds, wrought millions of dollars worth of property damage to buildings, ruined vital crops on Okinawa and left thousands of Okinawans homeless.

It pounded Japan with 15 to 25 inches of rain Sunday and Monday, flooding thousands of acres of valuable rice paddies. It swallowed up 54 ships in Japanese waters and several others off South Korea, coast guard officials said.

Forecasters at the U.S. Air Force Tokyo weather office said Emma had shrunk to 90 miles diameter with 80 p.m.h. winds and soon would drop from the typhoon class to a 50-75 m.p.h. gale.

United Church Sec'y. Amazed At Anglican Church Changes

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Ernest E. Long, secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada, said Monday that he is astounded at Anglican Church charges that the United Church has not co-operated in efforts to unify the two churches.

In a statement released in Toronto in answer to the charges, Dr. Long said the United Church is "in good faith to work in co-operation with the various bishops of the Anglican Church as well with other communions, especially in new frontier and suburban areas."

This, the statement says, is "especially true" in Archbishop Philip Carrington's area.

Mr. Rev. Carrington, archbishop of Quebec and acting primate of the Anglican Church of Canada, said Saturday the United Church has told Anglican ministers to stay out of some areas it has selected for expansion.

WANT REUNION

Anglican leaders, nonetheless, reiterated here Monday their desire for church reunion.

A resolution passed unanimously by the executive council of the church's general synod in Toronto last week called on "to pursue with vigor its consultations with the United Church of Canada and again seek to initiate similar consultations with other Christian bodies."

The resolution, which mentioned only reunion with the United Church when it went before the meeting Saturday, had been sent back to the committee and broadened to include other Christian churches.

In an apparent reference to Archbishop Carrington's charges, the resolution added that it is the desire of our church to overcome any distrust and hindrances which impede the cause of reunion.

"UNFAIR CRITICISM"

In Toronto, meanwhile, Rev. M. A. Macdonald, secretary of the board of home missions of the United Church, described as "amazing" and "manifestly unfair" the criticism made by Archbishop Carrington.

The archbishop had said: "It is incomprehensible to me that I should get letters from the United Church requesting me to stay out of an area because they have selected that area for their church extension work."

He added that it is useless to discuss reunion of the Anglican and United churches "if we cannot establish Christian co-operative relations between our churches."

United Church officials, after reading reports of the charges, immediately asked Archbishop Carrington for specific details.

They indicated the controversy would be discussed at the United Church general council's 10-day biennial meeting beginning Wednesday in Windsor, Ont.

The request for details of the charges was contained in a telegram to Archbishop Carrington by Dr. Long offered to the United Church's co-operation in working out difficulties to which the archbishop referred.

Archbishop Carrington telegraphed a reply that he trusts that "confusions and misunderstandings may be taken up on conversation between our churches with a view to finding ways and means of working together."

Irish Farmer Seizes Flying Saucer But It Gives Him Slip

MONEYMORE, Northern Ireland (AP)—A "level-headed God-fearing" Irish farmer says he was running to the police station with a captured flying saucer in his arms Friday, but it escaped.

"I had difficulty in holding it down," Thomas Hutchinson explained Saturday.

A Royal Air Force officer said what Hutchinson picked up must have been a weather balloon—but police preferred the farmer's version.

"Thomas Hutchinson is a level-headed, God-fearing chap," said the desk sergeant at Moneymore headquarters. "He's not the sort of man who would imagine he seized a flying saucer if, in fact, he didn't have one."

Hutchinson said he and his wife Maud saw a flying saucer drop from the clouds into a bog 200 yards from his front door shortly after lunch Friday.

"TERRIBLE THING"

It was egg-shaped, about three feet high and 18 inches in diameter, said Hutchinson. "It was bright red with two dark red marks at the end and three dark red stripes. It had a saucer-shaped base. I kicked it over, but it returned to its original position."

When he got down on his knees for a closer examination, he went on, it began to spin. So he put a hammer on it and mused: "The police station was the only place for such a wicked looking thing as this and I started to carry it there."

Then Mrs. Hutchinson took up the tale: "As it was a terrible thing, my husband warned me not to go near it, but you know a woman's inquisitiveness. I just couldn't keep back."

MAUD DISAGREES

She said she walked along with her husband when he tried to haul the fearful object to the police station at the village of Loup and stood there staring at it when he put it on the ground for a moment to negotiate a hedge.

"Then all of a sudden the monster rose and it nearly pulled my husband off his feet when he tried to hold it."

Asked by police what she did then, she replied: "I started to panic and then I ran home and prayed."

A high ranking RAF officer at nearby Aldergrove said he was "nearly certain" that the strange balloon that had broken away from some station.

Mrs. Hutchinson shook her head in disagreement.

The Hutchinson farm is located in a bleak, boggy land near Loch Neagh, where leprechauns, ghosts and witches have been sighted through the ages.

But never a flying saucer before.
