

Spruce Gum.

Like a breath from a dim old forest, A whisper from the woods, A dream of the hills and river— O, spruce gum, you are good!

Again, on an April morning, I search the woods for you, I thought the trees touched Heaven then, But that was long ago.

The spring wind blew my hair about, Fanned fevered cheek and brow, Sighed soft among the pines and spruces— I can hear it even now.

It is hard to tame a wild bird, He beats against his prison bars, And pines for his free, happy life In God's bright out-of-doors.

The voice of the tiny warbler, To the woods and hills belong; Though you may imprison the singer, You cannot cage his song.

And so the scent of spruce gum, Like an odor from dreamland sent, Takes me back to my hills and river, And childhood's glad content.

BELLE LOUISE LOGOUE.

Mrs. Charles H. Spurgeon.

Mr. Spurgeon was but twenty-two when he made choice of a wife in Susanna, the daughter of Mr. Robert Thompson, a merchant of Faloon square, in the city of London.

Not long after marriage Mrs. Spurgeon fell a victim to a disease from the effects of which she has never wholly been free.

Her husband was then pastor of a small chapel in the poverty-stricken neighborhood of the borough. During the first fortnight of the year 1856—the marriage took place on Jan. 8—the young man was preaching in several of the provincial cities.

Pointers to Advertisers. Success to business depends upon success in advertising.

Hence advertising is not a side issue. It should have the precedence of all other questions in the mind of the merchant who aims at success.

It does have in the minds of merchants truly great. Your capital depends on your advertising, not your advertising on your capital.

By advertising you prove your own faith in that which you wish to sell. This inspires faith in others—in those who might invest with you as well as those whom you expect to buy.

There is no way in the world that you can build up confidence in your business enterprise so swiftly and surely as by advertising judiciously.

Regard your advertising expenditure as the most necessary part of your business investment. Regard it as the basis on which the foundation of success will be laid, and you will regard it in the right way.

There is no branch of your business of which you should give more careful attention than to your advertising.

Because there is no branch of your business that is so important. You may advertise an article that every man, woman and child on the face of the earth needs and would be glad to buy.

In fact, are fashioning, are living in misery for the lack of. But if you don't tell them you possess that article, and don't tell them what its virtues are, and don't tell them where they can buy it, the article will remain on your hands until you go into bankruptcy and it is seized by your creditors, and the public generally will never be benefited, nor will your children be able to fight a probate court over the property you might leave behind you if you had advertised.

Millburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites is the surest and best cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis and asthma. Price 50c and $1 per bottle.

No man ever loved a woman while he was busy. Millburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites combines the curative powers of the pectoral remedies mentioned in the most correct and palatable form. Price 50c and $1 per bottle.

The kind of "reading" which "ma'veth a full man," is probably the wine which it is said—Puck.

No More Suffering. Gentlemen—I have used Hagedy's Yellow Pills for my chills and it cured them. I have never been bothered with the disease since. REGIE KE-WIS, Victoria, B. C.
