

Buchanan Could Trouble Winnipeg Club In Finals

By WALTER KREVENCHUK
WINNIPEG (CP) — Ed Buchanan could spell trouble for Winnipeg Blue Bombers tonight.

Clair Admits That The Cup May Be In His Club's Reach

OTTAWA (CP) — Game films usually provide football coaches with information about the opposition but Frank Clair finds they also have changed some of his ideas about Ottawa Rough Riders' running attack.

"The running backs did a great job for us," Clair said after examining films of his club's 30-1 win Sunday of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the opener of the two-game, total-point Eastern Football Conference final in Hamilton.

With quarterback Russ Jackson completing 21 of 28 passes, the Riders didn't really need a strong ground attack. But Clair feels that even a 28-point lead can be overcome by Hamilton.

Sazio Unconcerned About Expo Stadium

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — They've had trouble keeping the field dry at Montreal's Expo Stadium, site of Saturday's return game of the Eastern Football Conference final, but coach Ralph Sazio of Hamilton Tiger-Cats couldn't care less.

"I think the best team will win regardless of the field," he said Tuesday.

The best team by far in Sunday's opener of the two-game, total-points series was Ottawa Rough Riders, who swamped the Ticats 30-1.

WBA Champion Ernie Terrell Will Meet King Ali For Title

ence. The strategy paid off with a 14-7 victory.

But halfback Paul Dudley suffered a severe kidney injury and Buchanan got the call for tonight's 8 p.m. CST kickoff.

The last time the defending champion Bombers faced Buchanan was Aug. 10. He collected 77 yards on five carries — a 15.4-yard average — to help Saskatchewan to a 38-14 decision.

Blue Bombers played basketball Monday night.

"You couldn't work up a sweat on a practice field in this weather," explained coach Bud Grant, a former basketball professional.

The forecast for tonight is cloudy, the occasional snow flurry, southeast winds at 15 miles an hour and 20-degree temperatures.

CTV's national network will catch the action as Saskatchewan, seeking a place in the Grey Cup final for the first time since 1951, tries to avoid losing the final for the third time after capturing the first game.

Centre Ted Urness, defensive back Dale West and middle guard Ron Atchison are doubtful starters for Roughriders.

Urness suffered a slight concussion Sunday. West aggravated a shoulder injury and Atchison may have torn back muscles.

Grant says defensive end Bill Whisler may go both ways, getting occasional help from Roger Hamelin, in a bid to stop Saskatchewan's Ed McQuarters. The Roughrider fullback was a constant threat to Winnipeg quarterback Kenney Floen Sunday.

A major portion of Saskatchewan fans won't be able to watch the game on television. Regina and Moose Jaw area residents are the fortunate ones, but CTV has turned down a CBC request to feed the game to stations in Prince Albert, Saskatoon, Yorkton and Swift Current—all beyond CTV range.

Riders had to move to Montreal for the playoffs because of demolition of the main grandstand at their regular home—Lansdowne Park.

Linebacker Ken Lehmann is the only new Ottawa casualty but the ankle bruise he suffered Sunday isn't expected to keep him out of action this week.

Fullback Rick Black, out for a month with a knee injury, likely will continue to help the coaching staff as a spotter rather than a player.

could develop into "one of those get-even contests."

Despite his reputation for cautious pessimism, Clair admitted he can "smell the Grey Cup now."

The Riders will continue to work out at home until Friday when they leave for Montreal. They hope to hold a brief drill Friday at Expo Stadium. Neither Hamilton nor Ottawa has played in the new stadium built for Expo 67.

New Goal-Posts In EFC Won't Help Defense Line

By Al McNeill
MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Football League defensive linemen, long accustomed to using the uprights to brace themselves for goal-line stands, will be out of luck when the Eastern Football Conference final is played at Expo Stadium Saturday, Nov. 19.

And the same situation will likely prevail when the Eastern winner meets the Western champion at Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition park—Empire Stadium—for the Grey Cup one week later.

For the first time in CFL history the twin uprights, which have been a boon to defenders and a thorn in the side of the offensive team, will give way to a single post, goose-neck marker set six feet behind the goal line.

The single upright area gently forward to hold the crossbar and the uprights that extend from it directly over the goal line.

The new post is the invention of Joel Rottman of Montreal, who assisted in its creation by Jim Trimble, former head coach with Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes. The two men formed a company—Triman Tele-Gol Ltd.—to market their product.

Fans of Montreal Beavers of the Continental Football League have become familiar with the single-standard goal posts. The Beavers used the 1967 world's fair stadium for their home games this season.

Rottman said Monday a Canadian steel manufacturer has agreed to supply a set for the Nov. 26 game, as a donation to football in Canada.

He said J. O. Evans, manager of the PNE, has agreed to install the posts if they can be delivered to Vancouver by Nov. 24.

The exhibition manager had previously advised Rottman that this year's Grey Cup budget would not allow the purchase of the posts, but they would be included in projected expenses for the stadium next year.

Patented in the United States and Canada, the invention still needs some adjustment to suit the various amateur and professional leagues in both countries.

The crossbar and extended uprights in the Canadian league had directly over the goal line. The U.S. pro circuits have the goal posts one to two feet behind the goal line with the horizontal portion over it. The American colleges have their goal posts set 10 yards back to avoid collisions with the uprights.

The set of posts installed at Expo Stadium are made entirely from aluminum tubing, while the set destined for Vancouver will be of steel construction.

The arced upright measures six inches in diameter, while the crossbar and its extensions are four inches. The horizontal bar comes in two sizes—18 feet six inches for the pros and 23 feet four inches for college teams.

VICTORIA (CP) — "Playing hockey can be habit-forming."

Ask Andy Heberton, high-scoring right winger of Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League.

He hasn't missed a game since March 8, 1952, when the former Victoria Cougars of the now-defunct Pacific Coast Hockey League blanked Tacoma, 2-0.

Already acknowledged as hockey's iron man, Heberton is scheduled to play in his 1,000th consecutive league game Saturday night in Oakland when the Leafs meet California Seals.

Heberton, 37, also has 69 consecutive playoff games added to his durability skein but they are not included in official endurance record counts.

PLAYED IN NHL
The consecutive game streak extends over 15 seasons, including nine in the National Hockey League with New York Rangers and Boston Bruins.

Arsenault Meets Champ Tonight

SYDNEY (CP) — Ronnie Sampson of nearby Sydney Forks, Canadian lightweight boxing champion, and veteran Peanats Arsenault of Summerside clash in the 10-round non-title main event on a four-bout boxing card here tonight.

Sampson, a 17-year-old schoolboy, became the youngest boxer ever to hold a Canadian title in September when he claimed the vacant lightweight division championship following a unanimous decision over Willie Williams of New Victoria, N.S., and Boston. The title was vacated in August when Tyrone Gardiner of Sydney River announced his retirement from the ring.

Arsenault is one of three brothers scheduled to appear on the card. A younger brother, Francis, is to meet Rocky McDougall of Whitney Pier, N.S. in the six-round semi-final while another brother, Don, will be appearing in a four-round preliminary bout.

Don Arsenault is to meet Charlie Ponce of Westmount, N.S., while Roland Voyer of Quebec City meets Darryl Desroche of Charlottetown in another four-round event.

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, World Boxing Association champ, will be the next opponent for heavyweight King Cassius Clay.

Folley of Chandler, Ariz., as worthy contenders.

"I have read nothing in the papers today about how I can't punch," said Clay at a Tuesday news conference before he headed for Chicago.

"I've been reading where people wonder if I can take it. I don't get hit too much. I hope you never find out if I can take a punch."

CLAY UNMARKED
Clay was unmarked after his brief skirmish with Cleveland Williams Monday night in the Astrodon where he dropped the 33-year-old challenger four times and scored a TKO in 1:08 of the third round.

Although Clay, who prefers to be known by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, said he was wanted to rest for about four months, officials of the closed circuit TV firm (Main Bout Inc.), which really promotes his fights, said the Terrell fight would be held in February.

Clay will get 50 per cent of the gate and Terrell 20 per cent. A decision will be made soon after considering New York, Chicago, Louisville and Houston, where they set an indoor record with a crowd of 35,470.

ESTIMATES MONEY
Bob Arum, attorney for Main Bout, estimated the ancillary rights including closed circuit television, radio and films for Monday's fight would add $800,000 to the actual fight gate of $461,290. Clay's end should be about $630,000, his largest purse.

Williams was to get 20 per cent of the live gate and 14 per cent of the extras, a total of $200,000 but lawyers with an array of writs against Hugh Benson, his manager, tied up his $80,000 purse from the live gate.

Williams also held a news conference. He had five stitches in his lip, a bruised cheek bone and a bump over his left eye. Williams said he wanted to continue fighting but that his wife wanted him to quit.

Tanner, Jerome Awarded By Amat. Athletic Union

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Elaine Tanner and Harry Jerome, both of Vancouver, received top awards as the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada ended Tuesday.

Miss Tanner, 18-year-old swimming sensation who won four gold medals and three silver at the British Empire Games in Kingston, Jamaica, last August, won the Velma Springstead Memorial Trophy as the AAU's top female athlete of 1966.

Jerome, who sprinted to a gold medal in the 100-yard dash at Kingston, took the Norton Crow Medal as the top male athlete in AAU ranks and also won the J. W. Davis Trophy as Canada's leading track athlete of the year.

In other business, a proposal to allow track and field in Canada direct affiliation with the International Amateur Athletic Federation was voted down by delegates. Track and field is one of five sports under the jurisdiction of the AAU. The others are amateur boxing, wrestling, fencing and cycling.

Granting direct affiliation would involve a change in the AAU constitution, making a two-thirds majority necessary for the proposal to pass. A spokesman said the motion got a majority but was 11 votes short of two-thirds.

Miss Tanner was also nominated as the AAU representative in the voting for the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the top Canadian athletic competitor.

Brigadier A.W. Rogers, who has done such a terrific job of hockey promotion in junior ranks these past several years, is again serving as president of the league.

This popular league came into existence on Jan. 14, 1964 and has gained momentum ever since that time. In that first season, St. Dunstan's Junior Varsity came out the victors.

In 1964-65 Rogers Rangers made the step into the junior ranks and in their freshman season, the Rangers took all the marbles. In 1965-66, Jack Ready coached the Prince of Wales Welshmen to a dramatic triumph over St. Dunstan's in the final.

And so every entrant in this season's operation save Provincial Vocational Institute, has grabbed a crown. Jack Hynes would dearly love to guide his PVI group to the championship and put everybody on an equal footing. Word is that the colleges have lost a number of good players and that Rogers and PVI have strengthened considerably. If this proves correct, you can expect many stirring battles before a league winner is declared.

President Rogers is really optimistic about this season's operation. His vice-president Forbes Kennedy and secretary-treasurer, Charlie Ryan, share A's enthusiasm.

Examinations at the educational institutions will forego a temporary halt in December, but there'll be plenty of action before that time comes. A schedule up to Dec. 4 has been released and is as follows:

Tuesday, Nov. 22 — PWC vs PVI; Thursday, Nov. 24 — Rogers Rangers vs SDHS; Tuesday, Nov. 29 — SDHS vs PWC; Thursday, Dec. 1 — PWC vs Rogers Rangers; Sunday, Dec. 4 — PVI vs SDHS.

Boxer Frank Scott of Vancouver won the Viscount Alexander Trophy as the outstanding junior in any AAU sport. Sprinter Janet Maddin of Winnipeg won the Myrtle Cook Trophy as the top female athlete in age-class competition.

A member of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, William Greenough of Halifax, took the Dr. Cal Bricker Memorial Trophy as the AAU's outstanding jumper.

Ronson Jamieson of the Six Nations reserve near Brantford took the Tom Longboat Trophy for his leadership, ability and contribution to the Indian race. Longboat medals, awarded to other nominees for the trophy, went to Margaret Cynthia Paul Woodcock, N.B.; Charles Paton of Cawnpore, Que.; Headley John Colon of Parage la Prairie, Man.; Allan Asaples of Labret, Sask.; Wilson Goodstrik of Cardston, Alta.; and Byng Trophy in 1957 for the NHL player best combining sportsmanship and ability.

He won the WHL's counterpart, the Fred J. Hume Trophy in 1964-65 while playing for Portland Buckaroos. He was also named to the WHL's all-star team that season.

Heberton will be honored with a "night" here Nov. 30. A committee of local hockey fans has started a campaign to present him with $1,000—a dollar for each consecutive league game. This will be the second time Heberton will be recognized for playing 1,000 consecutive games.

The first was Dec. 29, 1965, but this 1,000 included 55 playoff contests.

He fell short by 12 goals. The Winnipeg-born player, who once had a season high of 33 NHL goals, won the Lady Play Starts In Junior Hockey L.

The Charlottetown and District Junior Hockey League swings into action this Thursday night, Nov. 17 at The Forum.

A four-team affair again this season, the league shapes up as promising entertainment for local hockey fans.
