THE EMERGENCY WOMAN.

The Woman's Loss Her Head When This She Feels

We all know her, the woman who is calm and collected in a panic and aids materially in subduing it; who, when someone falls in a faint, knows just what should be done and proceeds to do it, thereby perhaps saving a human life; who, in case of a fire, carries out the children and lets the rag-bag burn up, and neither screams nor swoons; who, when she visits a friend with a family of small children, has her thimble and thread and needle in her pocket; who always has a much-needed pin handy, and is never caught traveling without a camphor bottle.

Such a woman is thoroughly unselfish. She gives the best of herself to the service of humanity without expecting or demanding any return. The world at large is her home, and its people her family, but not to the neglect of any of her own household of faith. She carries her balm of Gilead with her for her wounded soul and applies it while others gaze and wring their hands.

There is another type of emergency woman who deals with mental and moral attributes instead of material things. She is almost as efficacious in her treatment as the other, although instead of a poultice or a balm, she gives a smile, a kindly word, a cheerful grasp of the hand, a tear of sympathy. She, too, lights heavy burdens and leaves a wake of sunshine after her. She is always supplied with the courteous word, so that strangers meeting her feel as if they were passing through a dreary waste, catches a strain of sweet music. There is encouragement in her voice, sunshine in her smile, and a better atmosphere where she is. It is her nature to make the best of every thing by a constant tacit admission that the world is good. Men take off their hats in her presence conscious of the royalty of her womanhood. Even if they did not, if they were rude and lawless, she would not gather her skirts about her and hurry away, for she is an emergency woman. No, she would quell them with one look of appeal that would soften and disarm, but never wound.

In the domestic atmosphere of her home the emergency woman is a central force around which all lesser forces revolve in harmonious measure. She is never fussy or gossipy, or at odds with her neighbors, who are as quick to appeal to her for help and sympathy in an emergency as she is to respond. No novels have been written with her for a heroine, nor any song sung in her praise, but none the less, she is known to the world as a most comfortable type of her sex.

Remember in Speaking.

To speak in chest tones.

To pronounce vowel sounds correctly.

To say "it was I" and "He went with me."

To speak distinctly, but softly and slowly.

To give each syllable its proper value or length.

To say "waistcoats" and "trousers" and not "vest" and "pants."

For an inferior to say "air" or "madam" in speaking to a superior.

To say "memorandum" is the singular and "memoranda" in the plural.

To pronounce the letter "r" in words where it occurs in "arm," "girl," "rubber."

To avoid coarseness and vulgarity of speech and language and harsh laughter.

To lower the voice and speak soft, when one wishes to enforce one's authority.

To train children carefully to read aloud, both for the sake of the voice and the pronunciation.

To avoid the over-elaboration of language and affection of precision which belong to persons of narrow culture.

To pronounce in English fashion the names of foreign places and persons which become Anglicized, such as Paris, Vienna, Napoleon.

To say "sir" or "madam" if one has occasion to address a stranger, using the word "madam" for a single as well as for a married lady.

To pronounce correctly, studying not the dictionary, but the language of living speakers who are entitled to speak with authority.

To teach children to say, "Yes, mother, (or father) and "No, mother, and to say "Yes, sir (or madam)" to old people or to those who adhere to the old ways of speech.

To remember that slang is unmeaning, as well as inelegant, and that words like "jolly," "heavily," etc., used in season and out of season soon lose all their meaning.

To use words of Saxon rather than of Latin origin whenever it is possible to do so, thus gaining terseness and vigor rather than a large number of syllables with diminished force.

A Big Mistake.

The moulting season, or the season when the hens shed their feathers will soon be at an end. The process is one that in certain respects debilitates and prevents hens from laying. The reason for this is that the growing of new feathers requires all the nitrogen and phosphates contained in the food and there is none left to form the egg. A curious fact about the hen, and one that illustrates the foregoing statement, is this, if a hen's leg be broken during the laying season, she will lay her eggs without shells until the break is mended. The reason for this must be that all the nitrogen contained in the food is required to unite the broken bone, there is therefore none for the formation of egg shells. The formation of new feathers does not require any carbonaceous or fat producing food, consequently well fed hens get very fat during the moulting. Many farmers and poultry raisers not understanding all about these things kill off their old hens because they think they have stopped laying, and are fat. This is a great mistake, because if the proper material be furnished them with their food to supply the increased demand for nitrogen and phosphates, the hen mentioned the old hens will be through shedding feathers much sooner and will begin laying on the approach of cold weather and will continue to lay vigorously all winter while the young pullets reserved to take the place of the old hens may not begin to lay until much later in the season. Very many people have learned from experience that Sheridan's Compound Powder mixed once daily with their food will supply the extra material needed to strengthen and invigorate their hens, enabling them to grow new plumage quickly and commence laying early. Those who can afford to buy Sheridan's Compound Powder, will find that their young pullets will commence to lay at from four to six months old, and will lay continuously through the winter. The Farmers' Poultry Raising Guide, published by I. S. Johnson & Co., at 22 Custom House Street, Boston, at 25 cents, contains a vast amount of information on this subject. Johnson & Co. will send, post paid, to 25 cent purchasers of similar and one Guide for 60 cents, or a 25 lb. can of the powder, postage or express prepaid, for $1.20 and a guide free.

From One Thing to Another.

From the Ram's Horn.

Mansions are being prepared in heaven only for the friends of Christ.

The only man who habitually does something good is the one who constantly believes something good.

Too many men will not undertake to lay up any treasure in heaven as long as they think they can find a safe place of deposit on earth.

Anybody can criticize; but only the wise can commend.

From Adam down, the man who gets into trouble always blames his wife.

The best preparation for behaving right is to think right.

If Christ were on earth to-day, what do you suppose he would say to the tobacco-using church member who claims to be too poor to take a religious party?

There are too many people who carry two trunks, and yet leave their politeness and religion behind them when they travel.

Nobody on earth works harder for less pay than the stingy man.

There is not much growing in grace by those who are not willing to be gracious.

Before we have any right to draw on God for help we must be willing to help others.

The man who goes around comparing himself with others to his disadvantage is in the smallest kind of business.

It only takes one sin to cause the loss of the soul, and that sin is the rejection of Jesus.

When you look at yourself, look for faults. When you look at others, try to see something good.

Avoid all Injurious Habits.

Tea drinking is an injurious habit, and nervous people should be careful in the use of it. It is not a food, it is not a tonic, and if drunk strong it may be as harmful in its effects as brandy would be. Anyone who feels as if they were a bundle of nerves should give up both tea and tobacco, and use Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, which will help them to exist in comfort without them.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it protects natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

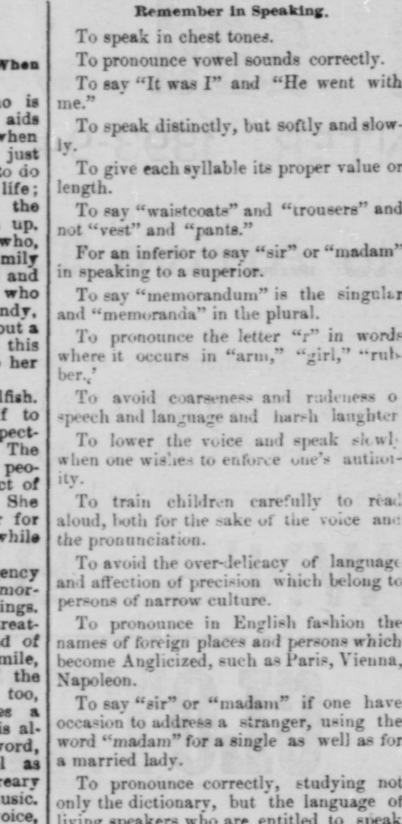

Boys, if you want to look nice, buy your suits, hats and caps at Prose Bros., as they carry the largest assortment of fine clothing and gent's furnishings on the Island. Sept 8th.

THE GROSSER DYSPEPTIC CURE CO.

GENTLEMEN:—I am 71 years of age. Have been afflicted with sick headache most all my life, which developed into Dyspepsia of a mild type about twenty years ago, and has continued to grow worse until during the past seven or eight years I have not been able to take a drink of cold water or milk, as they would produce severe pains and sometimes vomiting. I have been subject to severe pains in the chest, with dizziness, which have been more frequent during the past three or four years. My mouth was furled up in the mornings, accompanied with bad breath. My case was yearly growing worse.

During all this long period I have tried many popular medicines, as well as prescriptions from the regular medical practitioners, but without producing any improvement.

In the fall of '92 I concluded to try a bottle or two of your medicine and such were its effects that I continued it and now I can drink cold water or milk without any inconvenience. Those dizzy pains are all gone and my mouth is as sweet as a baby's. In short, your medicine has cured me and I am sure that all Dyspeptics can be cured by its use.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. It does not have the objectionable taste of its good effect upon their children."

J. G. C. Orono, Lowell, Mass.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I have used it as a substitute for any other medicine."

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Boyesen, Alphonse Danlos, Camille Flammarion, Edward Everett Hale, Professor Garber Bell and many others, have furnished material for especially prepared interviews, which will appear fully illustrated in this magazine.

HENRY M. STANLEY will contribute, especially for young readers, a story of AFRICAN ADVENTURE.

NATURAL HISTORY AND ADVENTURE.—There will be several articles written by Raymond H. Hattaway, who has been called by Mr. W. F. Stead the best interviewer in England, from material furnished him by Carl Hagenbeck, of Hamburg, the great animal importer and trainer. These articles deal with the Capture of Wild Beasts, the Training of Wild Beasts, the Transportation of Wild Beasts, the Adventures and Escapes of Carl Hagenbeck. The series will be illustrated by an English artist of great skill in drawing animals.

JOHN BURROUGHS, C. F. HOLDER, DR. C. C. ABBOTT, and other writers famous for their work in this field, will contribute to the Magazine.

Of interest to both Young and Old will be PROF. R. L. GARNER'S AFRICAN EXPEDITION TO THE GORILLAS. Arrangements have been made, in connection with a leading English review, to publish Professor Garner's letters descriptive of his present expedition to Africa. Professor Garner is noted the world over for the curious and interesting investigations he is making in the speech of monkeys. He sailed for Africa last September for the purpose of further pursuing his studies in the native haunts of the gorilla. The illustrations of these articles will be from photographs taken by Prof. Garner in Africa.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE also contains most interesting articles under the leads: "The Edge of the Future," "Newest Knowledge," "Knowledge of Immediate Value," "The Present Hour," "Stranger than Fiction," etc.

AWFUL HEADACHES.

2 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

LIFE A TORTURE.

Read this testimonial of Theodore N. S., Esq., for several years I had had severe attacks of biliousness, which came on periodically, about every ten days, and were attended with the usual of vomiting, and I had no relief or strength to work. I passed many sleepless nights, and for days could not read or write, and my life was a torture. I had tried many remedies, but my friends gave up all hopes of my recovery. My brother brought me a bottle of HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC, and a box of HAWKER'S LIVER PILLS.

I had not taken them long before I commenced to improve and in a short time I was completely cured. I grew strong and vigorous, my appetite returned, I slept well and in a few months had gained 20 pounds of weight. I have not suffered from biliousness or any other ailment since, and my life was a joy. I have never since had a headache, and I have no more sleepless nights, and my life is a joy. I have never since had a headache, and I have no more sleepless nights, and my life is a joy. I have never since had a headache, and I have no more sleepless nights, and my life is a joy.

Saved My Life.

I hereby certify the above statement is correct in every particular.
