To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I notice the following item in the last number of the Summerside Pioneer:—"The Ontario Legislature is called for the despatch of business on the 13th of next month. When will our tardy local follow suit?"

When it is remembered that the financial year of the Province of Ontario ends on the 1st of July, it will be seen that the tardiness is not with the Conservative Government of P. E. Island, but with the Grit Government of Ontario. Our financial year ends on the 31st of December, yet the ignoramus of the Pioneer scolds the Government for not calling the Legislature before that time!! I am,

The Markets.

OATS.

The oat market in England still maintains considerable firmness. The high price of maize makes it necessary for large consumers to turn their attention to other sorts of fodder; consequently, we hear that cargoes of P. E. Island oats, of fair average quality, would meet with a ready sale at from 18s. 3d. to 14s. 6d. per quarter of 304 lbs to the bushel, for Channel direct, and about six pence better for French ports. There is a very fair demand for oats in the Maritime Provinces at low prices—40 cts. in Halifax and 42 in St. John. Buyers here therefore cannot make a large profit at present prices, as they have to find bags and forward the stock by rail. The price quoted in Charlottetown is from 33 to 34 cts. per bushel. But small quantities are coming in.

POTATOES.

The market for potatoes in Boston is steady. Prices are not high; yet shippers are realizing a fair profit. The arrivals in that city are large, and the quality generally good. Price quoted for Early Rose is from 65 to 75 cents. Other varieties from 60 to 70 cents. In Charlottetown potatoes are coming in slowly. Early Rose bring from 20 to 25 cents, and other varieties from 18 to 22 cents.

EGGS.

Eggs are scarce in Charlottetown. But few are coming in. The market in Boston for fresh stock is active, and price of P. E. I. is from 28 to 30 cents.

PORK.

The recent high price of Pork has given way, and a constant decline has taken place. In New York prime mess on the spot is sold at $21.00, and in Montreal the same brand sells at the same price. A telegram received from Newfoundland, also shows that the price is weakening there and a sharp decline is expected, when any quantity reaches the market. The price quoted in Charlottetown is from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2. Buyers careless.

FLOUR.

The Montreal flour market is quiet. There has been of late some inquiries for export, but no large sales are reported. The prices quoted are:

Superior Extra	$4 95 @ $5 00
Extra Superfine	4 85 @ 4 90
Fancy	0 00 @ 0 00
Spring Extra	4 80 @ 4 85
Superfine	4 55 @ 4 65
Canada Strong Bakers	5 50 @ 6 25

Ladies' Diaries, 1782—1882.

Many of the diaries kept by "society" ladies one hundred years ago, and printed for the delectation of nineteenth-century readers, may not be very brilliant literary efforts, but they admirably serve to show how simple and unassuming were the lives of "quality folk" in ancient times. The annexed is excerpted from the recently printed diary of Lady Sourapple:

"July 16.—John took yarn to the weaver, and brought back flax, spices and sugar. The stage wagon had not arrived when he left Ipswich, and there was no package from London. My lord was to send hangings for the large drawing-room, but it matters not."

This, the reader may say, is very common-place. And so it is. If it had been written by the obscure Mary Jane Boggins instead of the Lady Sourapple, it would not have been embalmed in print; but the object of quoting it is to compare it with a "society" lady for 1882—which will not be printed for the benefit of readers a century hence, albeit quite as interesting as the Lady Sourapple literature:

"December 18.—Painted a lovely stork on ma's pickle jar. Decided to have my new heliotrope damasse made without a train. Read three chapters of 'The Midnight Shiek; or, The Fainting Bride.' Purchased a charming velvet collar with a gold clasp for dear little Fido's neck. Charles Augustus called this evening. He's too sweet for anything.

"December 21.—Worked a supremely beautiful pen-wiper for a Christmas present to Charles Augustus. I gave him a pair of utterly intense slippers of my own embroidery last year, but they were three sizes too small. A pen-wiper is never a misfit. Brother Tom asked me to sew on a suspender button. He has no regard for the delicate state of my health. Was at Mrs. DeUpkryst's 'German' last night, and danced every set. Didn't get home until three o'clock this morning. I must now dress for the Kodjish reception, which is to be utterly all but,—J. H. WILLIAMS, IN ENRIG'S DRAWING, Harper's Magazine for December.

Judge Lawson's Blunder.

PATRICK WALSH HANGED WITHOUT BEING SENTENCED TO DEATH.

(By Telegram to the N. Y. Herald, Nov. 18)

The Parliamentary committee which is engaged in examining the circumstances attending the imprisonment of the High Sheriff of Dublin, Mr. Edward Dwyer Gray, has brought to light some extraordinary facts in reference to the administration of justice in Ireland.

Nothing important occurred in the committee until Mr. Johnson, the official shorthand writer employed by the Crown, was produced to prove the correctness of the official report of the proceedings in Green Street Court House on the 16th of August, when Mr. Gray was committed for contempt. Mr. Johnson was at one time connected with the Dublin Daily Express, a very pronounced organ of the Irish landlords, and is a person enjoying the fullest confidence of the Dublin Castle authorities. Early in the Land League movement he became the object of much popular hostility on account of appearing as a Crown witness against some of the Land League leaders who were arrested on charge of sedition in Mayo while the land agitation was still in its infancy. Mr. Johnson's character as a loyalist is, therefore, beyond question. This circumstance adds importance to the extraordinary story elicited by Mr. Sexton in the course of his cross-examination of the official shorthand writer, and which, perhaps, has no parallel even among the strange romances which abound in the judicial history of Ireland.

HANGED WITHOUT WARRANT.

It will be remembered that some two months ago Patrick Walsh was put on trial, charged with having murdered a neighbor who had rendered himself obnoxious by land grabbing. The evidence against Walsh was circumstantial, and was rebutted, but ineffectually, by the evidence of a number of his friends, who swore to an alibi in his defence. On his first trial in Dublin the jury disagreed, but a second jury, composed wholly of Dublin Protestants, found Walsh guilty. In due course he was executed, and died solemnly protesting his innocence of the crime for which he was sentenced to death. This fact produced a painful impression in Ireland, which is likely to be revived by the astounding statement made to the Parliamentary committee to-day by Mr. Johnson, and from which it appears that Patrick Walsh was never sentenced to death. The fact was elicited by the following questions put to Mr. Johnson by Mr. Sexton, the member for Sligo:

MR. SEXTON—Were you present in Green Street Court House during the second trial of Patrick Walsh—the trial which ended in his conviction for murder?

MR. JOHNSON—I was present during the whole of the commission.

MR. SEXTON—Did you hear the judge pass sentence on Patrick Walsh?

MR. JOHNSON—I did.

MR. SEXTON—Did he sentence Patrick Walsh to be buried within the precincts of the jail?

MR. JOHNSON—He did.
