Stadium Improvements Suggested By Manager

SUMMERSIDE — Poor attendance at Island Senior Hockey League games this year resulted in the suggestion that consideration be given to the matter of more comfort for Civic Stadium patrons by manager Charles Hogan in his January report to the Town Council. Mr. Hogan pointed out that operating profit during this past January were about $600 lower than in Jan. last year and said "In order that this situation be remedied, I would suggest consideration be given to the matter of more comfort to our patrons, such as heating several sections of the stands and perhaps what is more important ensuring the public of better hockey."

OTTAWA (CP) — The immigration department has launched a campaign to increase substantially the flow of skilled immigrants to Canada from the United States. The department is convinced that more Americans with the type of skills required in Canada can be attracted to this country if steps are taken to give people in the U.S. a better understanding of Canada, its living conditions and opportunities.

Each was fined $50 and costs or one month in jail after police chief Peter White asked for second offence penalties. Vatican Orders Vaccination

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has ordered vaccination of certain personnel coming into daily contact with foreigners. The measure, made public Thursday, follows outbreaks of smallpox in Britain, West Germany, Pakistan and other countries. Among personnel already vaccinated are Vatican gendarmes, Swiss guards, parking lot attendants, book and stamp vendors in Vatican souvenir stores and museum guards. These persons come into contact every day with the thousands of foreign tourists who visit the Vatican, its museums and the Great Basilica of St. Peter.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The 1,655-ton sealer Kyle will carry a helicopter when the sealer for the annual seal hunt from Carbonear, Nfld., next week with a 100-man crew. Guy Earle of Carbonear, owner and master of the ship, said Thursday the helicopter will be used to find open leads through the ice as well as for spotting patches of seals. A landing deck for the helicopter has been built over the ship's stern and two pilots will go along to fly the machines. The ship, a former CNR coastal vessel, is the last coal-burning steamer in Newfoundland. When steaming at full speed she burns 18 or 20 tons a day. Seven hundred tons are being loaded for the voyage.

QUEENS CO.

(Continued from page 1) "grossly inadequate," the resolution called for the immediate start on construction of a large ferry "capable of handling the great number of cars and trucks using this route to Nova Scotia points." Referring to the Western part of the province, it was stated that the economic, industrial and tourist development of this part demands ready access and transportation to mainland points and markets. The resolution asked that the federal government be impressed with the necessity for the implementation of ferry service between a "suitable point in West Prince County and New Brunswick," and that the provincial government urge upon the federal authorities the unanimous sentiment of the various municipalities and boards of trade of the area towards the construction of such a ferry service.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

In other resolutions, the provincial government was called upon to take immediate steps to re-constitute the Hospital Services Commission with a view to providing a more efficient administration of its entire operation, to give immediate consideration to the establishment of frozen bait storage plants at strategic points throughout the province and to extend its program of vocational training with the construction of a vocational high school in Kings County and further extending the training program in smaller rural schools. A resolution asking that national Progressive Conservative executive officers be urged to hold their annual meeting in Charlottetown in 1964 was approved.

DEEP HATREDS

WATCH FOUR BURN

Recently secret army killers machine-gunned a car carrying four of them. A European mob stood around and watched the four burn to death with satisfaction. It is against this background of hatred, terror, strife and distrust that de Gaulle is trying to win peace. His hopes and that of his followers is that Europeans will view as reasonable the accord with the rebels. The agreements soon to be announced will make a big point of detailing the safeguards for the European population in an independent Algeria ruled by the Moslem majority.

FEW DOUBT RESULT

If the vote is for an independent Algeria—and few doubt that it will be—then this body will have the responsibility of preparing the elections for the first Algerian constituent assembly. It is almost certain that the campaign of terror now being waged by the secret army will reach a crescendo before these steps are taken. It may take the form of one last desperate fling to overthrow the French government.

Argue Claims Blasted By Former Colleague

OTTAWA (CP)—Hazen Argue was accused Thursday by a former colleague of participating without objection in the very developments Mr. Argue cited as his reason for quitting the New Democratic Party. At the same time, Douglas Fisher (CCF—Fort Arthur) said in the Commons, Mr. Argue's travels in support of the new political party were largely financed from labor union contributions. Mr. Fisher, delivering the CCF-NDP group's reply to Mr. Argue's charge that a labor clique dominates the NDP, denied that any of the eight remaining MPs in the group of which Mr. Argue was parliamentary leader would follow Mr. Argue in defection.

HAD BEEN TIPPED

In the fall, a cabinet minister had tipped him that Mr. Argue would desert to the Liberals shortly after Parliament met in January. He had written Mr. Argue about it but got no reply. He had talked with him after Parliament assembled.

Upon conclusion of the game, which was won by Summerside 3-2, a trophy was presented by Rev. Pierre Arsenault to the winning team captain, Blaine Muttart. His counterpart from Natick was John Kenry. These same teams played two games in Natick last year and the Summerside team came up with two close decisions.

Argue Officially Becomes Member Of Liberal Party

By KEN KELLY OTTAWA (CP)—With public blessings from Liberal Leader Pearson and the caucus of Liberal MPs, Hazen Argue Friday became a Liberal MP and declared the party's policies now represent those for which he stands. At a press conference ending Mr. Argue's six days without official political attachment, Mr. Pearson and Mr. Argue read prepared statements announcing Liberal status for the former parliamentary chief of the CCF-New Democratic Party group. "The members of the parliamentary Liberal caucus met this afternoon and extended him an invitation to join them," Mr. Pearson said. "We will be glad to have him with us."

Two Nfld. Vessels Ready For Seal Hunt

By JACK PICKETTS ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The 1962 seal-hunting season on the northern "front" and on ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence opens in the next three weeks, and at least two Newfoundland vessels and two other Newfoundland crews will take part. On the front—the huge ice fields extending off the east coast of Labrador and northern Newfoundland—the season opens March 5. On the Gulf ice floes the kill starts March 10. The season in both areas, set last year by international agreement, closes May 5.

ONE SANK

One, the Camperdown, owned by Capt. Patrick Miller of Foie, Nfld., sank when she was jammed in heavy ice. The crew was rescued. In the last few years Newfoundland has sent few ships to the ice compared to about 400 vessels with crews totalling 13,000 men in 1957. In 1959 there were 27 ships, and in 1959 only one went. This year less than five are expected to go. For the men, sealing is a gamble. They draw no pay, taking instead a percentage of the catch. If hunting is good, they will take home several hundred dollars, but if it's poor they will get practically nothing.

EXTEND TOUR OF DUTY

SAIGON (Reuters)—The tour of duty for many of the 4,000 United States servicemen in South Viet Nam has been extended to 18 from six months, U.S. sources said Thursday. The decision apparently was made in light of a general buildup of U.S. military assistance to South Viet Nam in its battle against Communist guerrillas.
