WOMAN'S FEAR OF HEX SEEN HASTENING DEATH

By JOHN FOGARTY BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A Baltimore woman, who believed her life was doomed by a hex, told her doctors at City Hospital here she would die within three days.

Two days later, she was dead.

The woman told her doctors that she was born on a Friday the 13th in the Okefenokee Swamp area of Florida, one of three children delivered by a midwife.

According to the woman's story, the midwife told the babies' mother that the three were hexed and the first would die before her 16th birthday, the second before her 21st birthday and the third before her 23rd birthday.

Doctors said the patient told them the first girl was killed in an automobile accident the day before her 16th birthday.

The second girl, the woman said, went out to celebrate on her 21st birthday and was entered a tavern.

Doctors said the patient "firmly believed she was doomed" and would die before her 23rd birthday.

She died the day before the birthday.

FEAR MAY HAVE HELPED Doctors said an autopsy showed several serious physiological disorders, but they agreed that terror may have hastened her death.

Immediate cause of death was cited as primary pulmonary hypertension, which is described by one doctor as a "fairly rare vascular disorder in the lungs."

Dr. John C. Harvey, a professor of medicine at Johns

Hopkins Medical School here, presented the case to some 200 medical students at a clinical pathology conference Wednesday.

He pointed out that eminent physicians have demonstrated that a patient's state of mind can be translated by the body into physiological disorders.

Dr. Harvey studied native voodoo while on a teaching assignment in Nigeria. He said the woman's case had all the elements of voodoo deaths in Africa.

Dr. Harvey was unable to check the woman's story to see if it was correct.

REPORTS MAFIA TALKS LONDON (AP)—American gangster leaders in the Mafia met in a London hotel recently, apparently to plan how they would take over British gambling clubs, The Sunday Mirror reported Sunday. A Scotland Yard spokesman declined to comment, but other police sources said they felt the newspaper's report was exaggerated.

Twags

A month before Christmas When I looked at my car, The model was old, and Had been driven too far. The inside was ripped, The seat it was torn, The brakes didn't work And also the horn. The windshield was busted, The old clutch was broke. The gas line was clogged And so was the choke I cried and I moaned And started to cuss, Something had to be About my old bus. So I went to W. R. Jenkins And am now all aglow Like their ad said I got more for my dough. Now I laugh at the bumps And get mileage galore, My new car looks swell and Here's something more: W. R. sold me my car On a long, easy plan, My payments are low, I'm a happy man.
