MELISSA

Is the name of the New Process by which Tweeds and other Cloths are rendered entirely Rainproof without the slightest trace of the application being perceptible.

It is scarcely overstating the fact to say that no discovery of the present time, affecting wearing apparel, has supplied such a universal and long felt want as the "Melissa" process which makes cloth perfectly rainproof without excluding the air. The old style of waterproof clothing has never been satisfactory, it is indeed an abomination, but has been tolerated simply because there was nothing better. True, it serves to shed the water, but it snuffs out the air as well, and so generates a dampness which is not only uncomfortable, but very unhealthy and positively dangerous. Who has not often experienced the discomfort of being almost hermetically sealed in a rubber overcoat, and enveloped in that intensely disagreeable odor which pervades all rubber clothing. All this danger and unpleasantness may now be avoided by wearing outer garments which have been made rainproof by this new and really wonderful method. The trade mark, as above, stamped upon the garment you buy, is the only visible or tangible evidence that it has passed through the Melissa process, and this endorsement is a positive guarantee that the article is absolutely rainproof, yet the air circulates through the material as freely as before; not the slightest perceptible odor has been imparted to it nor has the soft pliable texture of the goods been interfered with. Moreover, it is found that this treatment adds materially to the durability of the cloth and renders it perfectly mothproof. These goods are now being placed in the hands of the trade throughout Canada and should be found on the counters of every first-class dealer. Don't order a Waterproof of any kind until you see them.

No more Rubber Clothing to be worn to keep out the Rain

The Musical Fraternity of Brighton, is an Association of the musicians of that delightful watering place. They number one hundred and fifty members. They lately gave a banquet. The menu was thoroughly original one, and is sufficiently amusing to be quoted:

"MUSICOMANIA." NEW OPERA IN THREE ACTS.

DIGEST OF CONTENTS. Prologue. "I'll not be absent at the Grace."—(Merry Wives). "Prithae, be seated."—(Machbeth). "The dinner is on the table."—(Merry Wives). ACT 1.—SOUPORFISHAL. Scene 1.—"Bull thou first!"—(Machbeth). ORCHESTRAL CONDUCTOR. MELODY. Scene 2.—"If you forget your ki, your koe, and your ood, you must be breech'd!"—(Merry Wives).

MUSICAL ENDING CURTAILED WITH MOLLUSKY IMPERTINENCE. Entr'acte. "I could wish my best friend at such a feast."—(Timon of Athens). PIDDINGS ON THE SPREE.

ACT 2.—TIS VERY MEET. Scene 1.—"What is this? mutton?"—(Taming of the Shrew). ROAST HARNES OF MATURED LAMB. Scene 2.—"We must not think the (Turk) so unskillful."—(O bello). ROAST MOHAMMEDAN SCALE BOILED HINDERPARTS OF YORKSHIRE ROGER.

ACT 3.—UITES. Scene 1.—"Here we wander in Illusions."—(Comedy of Errors). CRYING AND AMABLE SOLID JUICE. STRAWBERRY'S HIGH NOTES & WET PIDDINGS. SHUFFLING LOTTIE.

Epilogue. "We thank Thee for Thy mercies, Lord, See far beyond our merits; No, waiter lads, clear off the plates, An' fetch us in the spirits."—Burns.

(Performing and digesting rights reserved to the Musical Fraternity. A little over a hundred years ago—that is to say, in the year 1788—the then reigning Sultan of Morocco took as his wife a red-haired and blue-eyed Irish girl, the young widow of a sergeant of engineers who had died in Morocco. This Celtic lady seems to have left a famous record behind her. She not only ruled the Sultan's harem, but the Sultan himself, and not infrequently rode into battle at the head of her husband's troops. Her son, known as Mutai Yezid, inherited much of her pluck and spirit, and was in open rebellion at the time of his father's death. It is a very open question how much of the blood of this Irish lassie runs in the veins of the present Sultan of Morocco, Muley-el-Hasan; but it is at least interesting to assume that the known partiality of this blood-thirsty ruler for the British nation is due to the romantic marriage which his ancestor made over a century ago.

The unfairness of the encore system has been very well put in this way. People are not disappointed if a grocer does not make them a present of another pound of tea because they approve of the first he sold them. Nor do they expect a doctor to visit them gratis because his first visit did them good. Nor is the artist called on to paint his picture a second picture for nothing because they highly praise the first he has sold them. Nor does a preacher preach a sermon over again because his congregation approve of it. Why, then, should vocalists be expected to repeat any song of theirs which the audience thought good? Surely no one has a right to expect them to do double work for the same money.

An eminent physician says that the best way of testing whether a man is feigning deafness, is to approach him from behind while he is standing on a stone floor, and drop a coin at his feet. If he is not deaf he will invariably stoop down to pick it up. This simple device is frequently resorted to in countries where conscription is the rule, and where deafness or any other infirmity relieves a man from army service. It was tried in Paris on six alleged deaf youths in succession, and much to the examining physician's amusement, it succeeded in exposing the sham every time.

A horse jockey in Annapolis County, Me., U. S., reported of his sharp practices, joined the Church and announced that, if he had taken unfair advantage of any one in a horse trade, he would be glad to square things by paying the difference in cash. It was scarcely daylight the next morning when a neighbor, who considered he had been "roasted" in a trade with the newly converted jockey, made his appearance at the latter's door, remarking that he had "come early to avoid the rush." The jockey promptly settled the case.

There is a belief among Muscovites that at the Day of Judgment Allah will demand that the artist who has made the image of a living thing shall endow that image with life, and that, failing to do this, the artist will be sent to perdition for his sins. A traveller who visited a mosque in Algiers, found that the tiles, with which the building is decorated, are adorned with flights of birds. He expressed much surprise at this, and asked if the command against such representations was a modern edict. "Oh, no," answered the plus Algerian to whom he addressed the question; "these are not pictures of living birds." "But they are painted as if flying across the tiles," the other said in astonishment. "Yes," the Muscovite replied; "but do you not see that about the neck of each here is a blue black line? That is to show that the artist painted only dead birds, and the command of the Koran is not violated.

Fairview Notes. Fairview School was visited by the inspector, Mr. Campbell, who was well pleased with the work doing in the school. Our teacher has taken the matrimonial fever, and we wish him and his fair bride every success through life. Mr. Thomas Barrett is getting over his attack of a knee. Mr. Hugh Currie shot a black squirrel, which is quite a curiosity. The weather looks spring like. It appears our local Government will save the cost of bushing the ice this year. Lor 65.

Literary Notes. If Herodotus may be called the father of history, Lucian, that versatile and some what erratic Greek writer of a later day, may, with equal good reason, be called the father of that form of fiction which has been developed into the modern short story. The volume of Selections from Lucian, which Harper & Brother announce as nearly ready for publication, will certainly be heartily welcomed not only by those who love to read good stories, but by all who care to study the art of fiction as practiced by its acknowledged masters. The translation of these Selections is by Emily Jane Smith, and the volume will be in every sense an attractive one.

Pacaud-Mercier Robbery. QUEBEC, Feb. 23. Startling revelations were made at today's sessions of the royal commission. It was shown that $20,000 had been stolen from the $40,000 subsidy to the Herford railway and deposited in the Union bank to meet a note of Pacaud's which was discounted on the 23rd July, 1889, and paid due to February, 1891. The note had been guaranteed by subsidy of the Herford railway. Of the proceeds Pacaud deposited $3,000 to the credit of Mercier and $1,000 to the credit of Charles Langelier. Mercier transferred this money with interest to 18th September to the Coiffe d'Economie, and forwarded part of the purchase money of his estate at St. Ann de Lepreard, known as Tourouvre. He bought it from Mrs. Ritchie for $8,000. It was shown through M. Dumoulin, manager of the Banque de Peuple, that a cheque for $3,500 of the Baie de Chaleur subsidy had been deposited in his bank to the credit of Hon. Mr. Mercier, and the latter drew cheques on it to pay his butcher, his baker, rent for his Quebec house, groceries and household expenses generally. Several other details of minor importance were also disclosed.

News Notes. It is stated negotiations for the establishment of reciprocity relations are about to be commenced between Austria and the United States. The Austrian Government proposes to grant over 1,000,000 florins for the relief of unemployed persons and poorly-paid railway employees. The house occupied by Michael Lynch and family at Pittsburg, Pa., was burned late night February 22. Two children were burned to death and a third probably fatally injured. Lynch is a fireman, and had come to the scene of the fire. Seeing it was his own house in flames he rushed into the building in search of his wife and children, but was quickly overcome by the dense smoke and fell to the floor unconscious. He was rescued by firemen, but in a critical condition. Mrs. Lynch succeeded in making her escape. Arrangements have been made for starting the rolling mill at Acadia Mines, N. S., which has been idle for some months. Work will be carried on by a new plan, the puddler being arranged to manufacture all the puddle bar. The company will furnish the men with the pig iron at cost. It is expected that this will materially lessen the cost of production. The more experienced of the men will have the oversight of the work. The pluck of the workmen in this matter is commendable. It is expected work will begin in about two weeks. Now is the time to get crockery, glass and china at your own prices, as we want to make room for new goods to arrive early in spring, at the cheapest Crockery Store.—W. P. Colwell. RECORDS BROKEN—Several records by steam coming to Halifax have been lowered this winter. The Parisian lowered the record between Liverpool and Halifax, to seven days, Amynthia from Glasgow to Halifax eight days, and the St. Pierre, Capt. Agrove, which arrived on Tuesday came from St. Pierre in 33 hours, which is the fastest passage ever made between Halifax and St. Pierre.

ANOTHER STEAMER—The steamer which the Canadian Colonization Company are springing to place on the route between Halifax and Boston with the Halifax, is the Olyette, 1105 tons. She was built at Philadelphia in 1887, and has three decks. She is said to be a very fast boat. She was constructed for a passenger and mail boat for the West Indies and coastwise service. She ran for some time between Boston and Bar Harbor, touching at Eastport.
