Tignish Streets Named In Project

TIGNISH — A street naming project that got underway in the village of Tignish in February came to a close at a special meeting held in the fire hall Tuesday evening.

Streets with no names submitted will be named by the commission.

Mrs. Alma McCormack and Mrs. Peg Eldershaw reported 81 homes were in favour of the naming of the streets. Earl MacDonald's report showed a large majority of people in favour of Phillips Street.

Gerald Gaudet's report showed a majority of people in favour of Phillips Street.

Sunset Avenue was a new name given the street running north and south off Upper Main Street. The chairman was Mrs. Leslie McCarthy. Reports from the chairman were all received in writing, with the signatures of the ratepayers from the four streets named.

High praise was given Miss Frances Ann Harper a grade 11 student at Tignish Regional High School, for having her essay chosen for naming the Bloomfield Park. The contest was promoted by the West Prince Board of Trade, and Miss Harper's choice of Vanier Park was selected as the winning name. Special recognition will be made and prizes will be presented to Miss Harper by the West Prince Board of Trade in the village Saturday.

The village commissioners plan to prepare some suggestions for the next year, and recommendations which will be forwarded to the Provincial Centennial Commission.

They will also attend the semi-annual meeting of village commissioners that will be held at Parkdale, June 20.

E.C. Gaudet chaired the meeting and welcomed Frederico Lozada of Mexico and Manuel Rodriguez of the Philippines to the meeting. They are two of five students now in the village from the Coady International Institute in Antigonish, N.S. are progressing very well in the Tignish area where they are continuing a survey of West Prince County.

DECISION

"That is being studied," he said.

Reporters then asked whether the Crown would proceed by way of indictment — a procedure bypassing the formality of a preliminary hearing — to 12 persons to trial immediately.

"That, too, is being studied," Mr. Duceau answered. "Does this wrap up the LQ?"

"Do you have them all?" "Yes."

The group concerned in the inquest verdict includes 15 material witnesses arrested in a series of police raids starting June 1. Held on coroner's warrants without charges, some have been in detention since that weekend.

STILL SEEK THREE
The names of the six others came up in testimony at the inquest. Three of them were picked up by police Wednesday, one of them spotted in the courtroom. Three still are sought by police.

The 15 detained for the inquest are:

George Schoeters, 33, Belgian-born economics student at the University of Montreal, known by the pseudonym Patrice in the FLQ of which he said he was "co-ordinator";

Schoeters' wife Jeanne, 26, an x-ray technician;

Five students: Alain Brouillette, 22, known as Charlot; Raymond Villeneuve, 19, known as Vincent; Franco's Gagnon, 20; Marie Levesque, 20; and Denis Lamoureux, 20;

Jacques Giroux, 19, a photographer;

Richard Bisler, 18, an elevator operator at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel;

Roger Tetreault, 22, an unemployed reporter formerly with the Montreal Gazette and The Canadian Press;

Eugene Plouffe, 20, a proof reader for Montreal Le Devoir;

Two clerks—Yves Labonte, 18, and Gilles Proulx, 19;

Gabriel Hidon, 20, an industrial designer with the FLQ name Roger.

SIX OTHERS NAMED
The six others also named criminally responsible are:

Alain Brouillette, picked up in court; Jeanne Schepelle and

Shaw To Open Lady Slipper Drive Tues.

At 9 a.m. next Tuesday Premier Walter R. Shaw, will cut a ribbon which will officially open the new "Lady's Slipper Drive."

Following the ceremony the premier and his cabinet will drive via the new drive to Alberton where the weekly cabinet session will be held.

Heading the drive stops will be made at Green Park, Anglo Park and Jacques Cartier Park.

The cabinet meeting will be held at the Court House, getting underway at 2 p.m. Following the meeting they will proceed to the home of Education Minister Dr. George Dewar for evening dinner.

In the evening the group will continue its tour of the drive from O'Leary across to Miscouche where the new drive terminates.

Alain Gabriel, also arrested Wednesday, and Francois Giroux, Jean Cloutier and Claude Savoie, sought by police.

They had been detained earlier by police and released after questioning.

Alain Brouillette, who accompanied by his father gave himself up to police last Friday, testified Monday that Alain Gabriel, Jean Cloutier and Francois Giroux were friends to whom he had spoken about the FLQ. Francois Giroux is not related to Jacques Giroux.

Brouillette said he and Gabriel were called by Raymond Villeneuve's house March 7 and put together two Molotov cocktails. He said he and Villeneuve planted them at an armory while Gabriel wrote the letters FLQ on a wall with a push-button paint can.

This was the start of the campaign that included a dozen time-bomb explosions, the last a 75-stick dynamite blast Victoria Day, May 20, at the armory of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers.

Wednesday brought these other developments:

Mr. Justice Andre Sabourin of Quebec Superior Court rejected a request that the inquest be halted on grounds corner Marcel Trahan had erred in his handling of proceedings.

Mr. Justice Sabourin said no valid reasons were given to justify a writ of prohibition. Occasions sought in the name of material witness Roger Tetreault but requested by nine lawyers representing Tetreault and the other 14 originally detained and held for the inquest.

SENTENCES THREE MORE
2. Coronor Trahan sentenced Richard Bisler and Jacques Giroux to a month each in jail for refusing to answer questions. The coroner also confirmed a one-month sentence on Gabriel Hidon, also for refusing to answer questions Tuesday. This brought to five the number of material witnesses given the one-month terms for contempt. The other two were Georges Schoeters and Villeneuve sentenced Tuesday.

3. Raymond Doucet and Guy Guesbier, two criminal lawyers, were expelled from the inquest for attempting to give evidence to Bisler while in the witness box. After the lawyers' interjections Bisler refused to answer any questions.

Feelings among the nine witnesses lawyers ran high after the expulsion of Mr. Doucet and Mr. Guerin. As the two walked from the courtroom there was a bit of applause for them and police constables ejected a half-dozen spectators and another lawyer.
