COUNCIL CALLS FOR ABOLITION OF PIN GAMES

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerside Town Council was held Tuesday night in the Council Chambers. Mayor B. W. Robinson presiding. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Town paid bills in the amount of $2,229.35 were confirmed and unpaid bills in the amount of $915.11 were ordered to be paid. The tender of Mr. H. C. Schuman for decorating inside of town building being the lowest, was accepted.

A communication from the Rev. Walter McClure was read as follows: "At a recent meeting of the local Ministerial Association, it was decided that we point out one or two things pertaining to the better life of the community and ask for your wholehearted support in carrying these things out."

"First—That there are too many dark corners in some of our streets and that more adequate lighting would help raise the moral tone of the community."

"Second—That we are of the opinion if the local bootlegger was given to understand that the Council was thoroughly in earnest about enforcing the present law, there would be a gradual easing off in this nefarious traffic."

"Third—That if the age limit in connection with the pool rooms would be raised to nineteen years, few of our boys would want after that age to frequent the undesirable back rooms of these establishments."

"Fourth—Keep after the pin ball games. They have been smashed in other towns and cities of the Dominion. We are glad to see you are all in sympathy with their elimination here. Anything we can do to let me assure you on behalf of the local group, we will be only too glad. We are thoroughly in sympathy with your desire to improve the town morally and spiritually."

The following resolution was moved by Councillor A. S. MacKay and passed: "In view of the request of the Summerside Ministerial Association re pin boards or other similar games of chance, resolved, that owing to the fact that some of these are on the border line between games of chance and games of skill and that the Attorney General of the province of Nova Scotia has already taken action to introduce legislation to cover any technical point in the law we would assure the Association that we are in full sympathy with the total elimination of all these games and would respectfully request that this matter be referred to the Attorney General of this province, to take action at the session of the Legislature if any legislation is requested in respect to this important matter as the recent decision of the stipendiary would indicate that the line between games of skill and games of chance is very close."

A resolution was received from the Brotherhood of Trades and Labor copy of which will appear in tomorrow's issue. The Chief of Police reported to the Council re the subject matter of Rev. Mr. McClure's letter. This report will appear later.

To Boycott Talks

LONDON, April 14—(C. P. Havas)—The Italian government will boycott the Anglo-French-Belgian general staff consultations called for tomorrow. As French and Belgium military experts arrived tonight for the talks, it was confirmed that Premier Mussolini will not have a representative at the discussions.

Cooperation between the air forces of Britain, France and Belgium in the event of an unprovoked attack on any one of them, will be the main object of the talks beginning at 11.30 a. m. tomorrow, it was said in informed circles.

Only Hope
Only hope of bringing Dr. D. E. Robertson, H. B. Magill and Alfred Scadding from their prison alive appeared early this morning to lie in their ability of withstanding at least a week's exposure underground without food or water.

They began inspection of the property early Easter Sunday evening.

A huge crane steam shovel sent out from Halifax by special train tonight is able to get here through the mud of an ill-kept country road, the men may be reached by Saturday.

The crane, shovelling out two tons of earth at a time, will be used to clear a way through the caved-in area to the operating shaft which was filled in by the disturbance, cutting off the men's escape. Success of this operation depends entirely on the depth of the area affected by the cave-in.

Digging of a new shaft nearby directly from the surface to the joint of the 141-foot level and the operating shaft will take a week, it is believed, because progress will have to be blasted through solid rock.

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Magill, wives of two of the trapped men, arrived in Halifax tonight where they will await reports from here. They were accompanied by R. J. Ivey, K. C., London, Ont. Mr. Scadding was unable to leave Toronto because of illness.

Mr. Montague Campbell of Carleton is receiving the congratulations of his friends on having attained the three-quarter century mark, on his birthday on April 9th, while still retaining the vigor and appearance of a much younger man. Mr. Campbell spent the day with his daughter, Mrs. Julien Herring of Borden, and was the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts.

Many friends are glad to learn that Gladys Norring, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Norring of Cape Traverse, who has been confined to her bed through illness for some months is sufficiently recovered to be able to be up part of the time.

Two unfortunate automobile accidents have occurred in this vicinity within the last few days. On Saturday, a 1924 Buick V-8 which skidded and overturned near Reg McFarlane's gate at North Carleton was very badly damaged though none of the occupants were seriously hurt. On Monday a head-on collision occurred near Carleton Corner, one car being from Summerside, the other from Charlottetown. Although both cars were badly smashed the occupants escaped without serious injury.—D

The many friends of Mrs. Bruce Campbell, Augustine Cove, who has been a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital for some time will be glad to learn she is convalescing and was able to return to her home on Thursday.

Miss Evelyn Harvey, first-year student at Prince of Wales College, is spending her Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harvey of Cape Traverse.

Miss Helen Muttart of Cape Traverse is visiting in Charlottetown, the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bagnall.

Mr. Rankine Howatt of Borden, made a business trip to Charlottetown on Saturday.

Mr. Cedric Campbell of Cape Traverse was a passenger to Summerside on Saturday.

ASH TREES KILLED OFF
LONDON—Mountain ash trees in London parks and open spaces are dying from a mysterious disease, and the London County Council is trying to discover the source.

Her many friends will regret to learn of the illness of Miss Marion McWilliams of Cape Traverse who is suffering from an attack of pleurisy.

Mr. Fenton Howatt of Carleton reports a litter of five pups in his fox ranch.

Mr. James Mulligan, one of the oldest residents of Cape Traverse, passed away on Sunday morning after a brief illness of pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Eliza Driscoll, and one son, John. His funeral will take

If they can find a few bewhiskered old-timers, they'll be recruited to accompany the players and placards detailing the chronology of baseball down through the years since '76.

While the Tigers will find the Cleveland ball park unchanged, they'll have something new to present when they appear before the home-folks in Detroit April 17. The Cubs reduced the capacity of Wrigley Field from 40,000 to 36,000 with the installation of new seats which are about three inches wider than average—and vastly more comfortable.

Boston's Red Sox, after spending one of Owner Tom Yawkey's millions in renovating Fenway Park last season, has made only minor improvements since then, such as extending the grandstand to include a small part of the first-base bleacher section. Both Boston clubs have installed bars and will dispense beer and ale, a privilege for which they were licensed only recently.

In changing their name from Braves to Bees, the Boston nationals also re-named Braves Field. It's National League Park now. The diamond has been moved 20 feet closer to the grandstand, adding just that much distance between home plate and all fences. The Bees may install floodlights and play night ball if the financial situation becomes acute, but not right away.

gets the full sun will serve the purpose. No big tree should be near to cast a perpetual shadow or a constant dripping in rainy weather. If your garden boasts a slope or natural bank in the full sun, that is your starting point for a rock garden. On either side of your garden path would do equally well. The local nurseryman or building contractor would supply the rocks, or with ingenuity they could be formed with masses of cement. Whatever rocks you have, the pockets should be well filled with fine soil, and the rocks should be so arranged that the soil does not peter out with the constant washing of the rain.

As regards the actual design, every gardener must work it out for himself. Remember if a representative collection of plants is to be grown, all sorts of sites and aspects must be provided. A little imagination should be used, remembering that rock plants in their native state grow on the mountain side. Some will grow in the crevices of hot, sunny rocks, while others will need their roots in a depth of soil among stones.

STOLE GENERAL'S JEWELS
KENSINGTON, England—Jewelry and decoration orders worth more than $5,000 of the late Field-Marshal Lord Plumer were stolen from the home of his widow, the Dowager Viscountess Plumer.

Planting Time
April brings a very interesting time in the vegetable garden, and if you are ambitious to bring your own salads to table, you must get busy. Greens of all kinds, including leaf salads, onions, leeks, may be broadcast to be transplanted into rows later. By sowing "broadcast" is meant that after the ground has been got to a fine tilth by raking, the seed is scattered evenly and thinly (not in heaps or clusters here and there.) After sowing, rake the seed well into the soil. The larger the seed the more it will have to be raked in.

A word of advice. Do not be in too-big a hurry in sowing out of doors. April sowings come on more quickly than those sown in their early stages.

If you are fond of rhubarb pie, now is the time to buy a rhubarb set. It is easy to grow and seems to flourish on medium soil, but nothing should be pulled from it in the first year.

Early Dwarf beans should be sown now on well-drained soil. Spinach can be sown between the rows. Perpetual spinach is an investment in any garden. The more you pull it, the better it grows.

No vegetable garden can be considered complete without a few raspberry, loganberry, and blackberry plants. These are very easy to grow and can be planted now. It is not too late to put in fruit trees and bushes if required.

Most people grow their logan and blackberries on a fence. The fruit is often very difficult to get at, so if at all possible, a special trellis, placed away from the fence, is more satisfactory.

If you want potatoes to go with your green peas, a few rows can be planted in a sheltered spot.

SPRING FLOWERS
Have you ever envied a mass of mauve aubretia in somebody else's garden in early spring? There is no reason why you should not grow it. Like other rock plants, it is a hardy grower, given suitable conditions.

Rock gardening has become very fashionable of recent years, and no flowers have such an appeal as those of the minute creeping plants, which turn a fairly bare expanse of rock into a fairly carpet.

Centrally to the general idea, a rock garden need not be immense. Any part of your garden which
