A Royal Violinist.

Prince William, of Prussia, the eldest son of the Crown Prince, and the future Emperor, has a very great skill in playing the violin—a skill which he acquired by taking lessons in private, without his father's knowledge, at Bonn, where he is a student. Not long ago the Crown Prince, who likes popular tunes, ordered a Hungarian band now staying at Berlin, to play at one of his family gatherings. During a pause in the music, Prince William asked the first violin player to lend him his violin for a moment, and walking quietly up behind the Crown Princess, who was engaged in conversation with some ladies, struck up one of Strauss' waltzes. The Crown Princess turned round to see where the music came from, and was equally surprised and delighted to find that it was her son playing, playing so nicely, too, that she and all the ladies applauded. He went through a variety of tunes, waltzes, student songs and quadrilles, and on leaving off and making his bow was rewarded, not only with hearty applause from the princesses and ladies present, but by words of commendation from the bandmaster and Crown Prince. Modestly disclaiming any merit for himself he returned the violin to its owner, with the words, "Your violin plays well."

Number Seven in the Bible.

In seven days a dove was sent.
Every seven days the land rested.
Jacob served seven years for Rachel.
Jacob mourned seven days for Joseph.
On the seventh day God ended his work.
Abraham pleaded seven times for Sodom.
The golden candlestick had seven branches.
Naaman washed seven times in the river Jordan.
Jacob was pursued a seven-days' journey by Laban.
Every seventh year the law was read to the people.
On the seventh day Noah's ark touched the ground.
Solomon was seven years building the temple, and fasted seven days at its dedication.
On the seventh day of the seventh month the children of Israel fasted seven days in their tents.
Job's friends sat with him seven days and seven nights, and offered seven bullocks and seven rams as an atonement.
A plenty of seven years and a famine of seven were foretold in Pharaoh's dream by seven fat and seven lean beasts, and seven years of blasted corn.
In the destruction of Jericho seven persons bore seven trumpets seven days; on the seventh day they marched around seven times, and at the end of the seventh round the walls fell.
In the Revelations we read of seven churches, seven candlesticks, seven stars, seven trumpets, seven plagues, seven thunders, seven vials, seven angels and a seven-headed monster.

The Spanish proverb has it:—"Fruit is golden in the morning, silver at noon, but lead at night."

Prices in England.

If cheapness be such an immense advantage to individuals and nations as the economical school affirms it to be, England ought now to be in a most prosperous condition; for a comparison of prices reveals an immense fall in nearly all sorts of goods during the last five years. According to the "Times," the averaged declared value of pig iron per ton was about 95s in 1874, but for the first eleven months of 1878 the figures published show it to have been only 53s 6d—a falling off amounting to about 44 per cent. Pig iron warrants were quoted as low as 43s 7d per ton in Glasgow in December, and in the Cleveland district iron can, it would seem, be produced at less than 35s per ton. At the Glasgow warrants' price, the value of 100 tons pig iron is now nearly £300 less than the average value of 1874. Coals have fallen from 17s 2d in 1874 to 9s 6d in 1878. A similar decline has been going on in the leading tissue manufacturing industries. The average value of cotton yarn has fallen 20 per cent. since 1874, and that of cotton piece goods has sunk quite as far. The fall in the value of woollen yarn has been fully greater; and, although that of piece goods has been on the average less, it has still been greater by fully five per cent. than the average decline in the price of raw wool. Raw cotton, on the other hand, is now lower in price than it has been for nearly thirty years, but the fall has been so recent that the effect is not felt. The serious question is the cause of this decline; does it spring from a decreased demand for English goods abroad? In face of decreasing exports; enormous stocks said to be held at home; while foreign countries are increasing their exports as well as substituting home goods for those formerly imported, we fear the question must be answered in the affirmative, in which case England will soon have to face the question how she is to pay for imports of articles of food valued at from £120,000,000 to £150,000,000 annually.

The Danger of Chewing Gum.

Sweet are the diversions of innocent girlhood, but not always harmless. Dainty Lida Smith, a Louisville lass, has had, during the past year, no higher aspiration than chewing gum, and the mobility of the lower section of her countenance has increased from week to week. On Saturday week she was very thirsty, and went to the kitchen to get a drink of cold water; and when she returned her jaws were moving rapidly. Her mother told her to throw the chewing gum away. The girl pointed to the mantelpiece, where she had laid her mouthful of wax before going into the kitchen. There was nothing in her mouth, and yet her jaws were moving rapidly. Her mother teased, implored, commanded the child to keep her face straight, and still the jaws were moving rapidly. A physician came and put a tight bandage over the child's mouth, but excitement increased the action of the jaws, and the nervous twitching extended to the upper part of her face. A dose of morphia was administered, but through the night the jaws were moving rapidly. It was not until dawn that the muscular disturbance ceased. The physician said that it was a case of spasmodic action of the facial muscles caused by over-action. Sweet sixteen, eject from thy rosy mouth the treacherous chewing-gum! Garrulous adult, who talkest thy neighbor to death, take warning now, while thy jaws are moving rapidly.—N. Y. Tribune.

Victory of the French Government.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says the French Government's victory is due primarily to a general movement of sound public opinion. Moderate journals of Paris and the Provinces have vigorously declared in favor of the Cabinet. The Temps, Journal des Debats, Siecle, National and other journals ably defended the minority. The Moderate Republicans were induced to seek a platform of conciliation with the Left Centre, who felt that the attack was directed against themselves and their policy; while the Cabinet, to avoid imperilling its friends, the Republic and liberty, accepted the necessity of depriving its adversaries of a plea about changes of functionaries, which served as a pretext for other designs. Lastly, those of the Left who were resolved to overturn the Cabinet had neither men nor a programme acceptable to the country.

Japan has 5,000 miles of telegraph, and 1,000 more under construction. It has also 125 telegraph stations. The insulators made in the village of Inari are of such excellent quality that orders for them have been sent from Europe.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles, when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.
