

Rector Calls For Modern Methods

The annual meeting of the rector, wardens, vestry and parishioners of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Charlottetown, was held on Jan. 17 in the Parish Hall.

Mr. Pearson said to raise pensions to $100 a month at 65 would cost $55,000,000 a year. To pay the increase from the Canada Pension Plan would amount to a "raid" on the fund, he said, adding that some Conservative MPs and senators were promoting the idea to wreck the plan.

GET MORE THAN $100 The prime minister also said his proposal to help the elderly under the Canada Assistance Plan would provide persons in real need with more than $100 a month.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke for an hour and 20 minutes as he gave the throne speech its first go-over by the Opposition on the Commons floor. Mr. Pearson got time for almost an hour of rebuttal before the House adjourned for dinner.

Leaders of the other Opposition parties were next in line. The Conservative non-confidence motion comes to a vote next Tuesday under the formal procedures laid down for a throne speech debate if the other parties should move a subamendment to it, this would be voted on just before adjournment today.

Mr. Diefenbaker's speech started with references to the government legislation program as outlined in the speech as "a puerile, pusillanimous piece of repetitive propaganda."

He said too much legislation was really being decided on behind the closed doors of federal-provincial conferences and suggested the CBC should be hailed before the Commons to say why it had carried pro-government and anti-American propaganda.

Mr. Pearson hit out at the Conservative pension proposals, cited his government's plans to aid education and mentioned the promised national medical care insurance program.

He wondered how Mr. Diefenbaker would find it possible to take money out of the Canada Pension Plan fund when it involves prior agreement with the provinces.

With Mr. Diefenbaker sitting silently across the floor, Mr. Pearson asked whether the Conservative leader had realized when he made the proposal that Quebec was outside the national pension plan, although that province had a dovetailing plan.

But Quebec makes no contributions to the Canada Pension Plan, Mr. Pearson said. Presumably Mr. Diefenbaker had intended that Quebec residents would also get the increased pension.

In this way, Quebecers would get the extra $25 a month paid for by people outside the province, Mr. Pearson doubted that would appeal to those outside Quebec.

MR. RICHARD

SDU Student To Participate In Seminar

It was learned last night that Douglas Richard, junior arts student at St. Dunstan's University, has been selected by the national committee of World University Service of Canada to participate in the WUSC International seminar to be held this summer in Turkey.

Mr. Richard, whose home is in Montreal, was chosen from several hundred candidates from universities all across Canada. He will join the other 43 members of the Canadian delegation in Montreal during the third week in June for orientation sessions.

On the conclusion of these sessions in early August, he will travel by air to Europe and then by rail to Istanbul.

Theme of the seminar will be "The Changing Character of the Turkish Revolution." The program lasts about five weeks and will include an examination of the historical, political, economic, scientific and cultural aspects of the development and foundation of Turkey.

Upon completion of the seminar, Mr. Richard will be permitted to travel anywhere in Europe for three weeks before returning to Canada.

GEORGETOWN

(Continued from page 1) Diocesan Church Society representatives are those of the previous year: Donald Ross, Walter Wilson, Ernest Bell and Daniel Tweel.

Reports of all other church organizations were accepted en bloc as presented in the annual church report. All showed progress with anticipated increase in activity for the forthcoming season.

Refreshments were served by the Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary at a social hour enjoyed after the meeting.

RIFLE SHOOT

The following is a result of a recent shoot of the PWC rifle club on Jan. 19 at the RCMP rifle range:

- Scott MacDonald 97
- Bob Curran 96
- Gordon Mills 95
- Wendall Brown 95
- Ernie Prowse 95
- Don MacLean 95
- Charles Mutch 95
- Sandra Younker 95
- Barbra Warren 92
- Jane Larkin 91
- Heather MacDonald 91
- Bruce Robertson 90
- John Arsenault 90
- Tom Stewart 90

VIEW TRAFFIC SAFETY FILM

Cnst. Ian Oland, RIGHT, a member of the traffic squad of the Charlottetown Detachment of the RCMP last night showed a film on traffic safety at a meeting of the Air Cadets No. 60 Squadron held at Prince of Wales College Auditorium.

Fisheries Co-Operative Celebrates Anniversary

By EDITH ELDERSHAW TIGNISH — The 40th Anniversary of the Tignish Fisheries Co-operative Association was celebrated at Tignish on Wednesday, as over 300 fishermen, their wives and guests had dinner at the Legion Home and listened to tales of long ago that were tossed around by several of the remaining charter members, and progress of the future told by many of the speakers.

The day began as a holiday for the fishermen. Church services were held at St. Simon and St. Jude church at 3.30 p.m. This was followed by dinner.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Hubert Gaudet one of the early organizers. Seated at the head table were charter members and speakers, Joseph A. Arsenault, Charles Gavin, Hector Richard, John M. Handrahan, Harold Cormier, Michael McPhee, Ferdinando Gaudet, Rev. Patrick Walsh, Very Rev. J. Rooney, Harold Phillips, president of West Prince Board of Trade, Robert Campbell, M.L.A. and Aubin J. Gallant, chairman of Village Commissioners.

Fifty boys and girls from the Tignish Elementary School with their principal, Sister St. Charles, and music director, Sister St. George, entertained the gathering with folk songs.

Rev. Patrick Walsh introduced guest speaker Rev. Dr. Richard Ellsworth, vice-president of Saint Dunstan's University who delivered an address about the sea.

MOTHER OF LIFE The sea, he said, is the mother of all life, the womb of the world that covers 70 per cent of the earth's surface. He went back to the formation of the world and spoke on the early plant life and the first appearance of lobster and fish.

Dr. Ellsworth in his remarks said he hoped he had in some small way aroused the fishermen's curiosity.

Co-operative fishermen, he said, should deal with the sea in its own terms. Occasionally, he said, there are strangers who come among you who tag lobsters and take samples of water. Have great respect for those men, he said, as it is through men like these that we come to know about our environment.

WESTERN FUNERALS

STEWART FUNERAL — The funeral for Mrs. Lizzie Stewart of Hamilton was held from the Princetown United Church at Malpeque on Monday afternoon, with the services being conducted by Rev. Frederick Lloyd. The hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Jesus Savior Pilot Me." The pallbearers were Arthur Owen, William Sinclair, Lloyd Lockyer, James M. Ramsay, Keir Ramsay and William C. Donald. Interment was in the Peoples Cemetery.

MATTHEWS FUNERAL — The funeral of Mrs. Russell Matthews was held on Thursday from the Rooney Funeral Home to Alberton United Church. A family service in the funeral home at 11 a.m. was conducted by Brown Jardine. The service in the church at 2 p.m. was conducted by Rev. Keith Whitney, assisted by Mr. Jardine who led in prayer. Hymns were "Shall We Gather At the River?" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Soloist Alvin Ashley sang "How Great Thou Art." Honorary pallbearers were Hudson Pridham, Norman Oliver, Fred White, John Connolly, Lester Wallace and Theodore Lewis. Active pallbearers were George Irving, Gordon White, John Inman, Arthur Willie, Lemont Hutt and Robert Campbell. Flowerbearers were Wilbur Fraser, Archibald Fraser, Samuel Fraser, Myrl Matthews, Basil Matthews, Lorne Crockett, Eldon Parbour, Lester Lewis, Arthur Pridham, Gerald McNeill and Erskine Murphy. Interment was in the church cemetery.

DEATHS

SHELDON — At the P.E.I. Hospital, on Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1966, Mrs. Charles W. Sheldon of Millview age 90 years. Her remains were forwarded on Thursday evening from the Jenkins Funeral Home to the residence of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Tweedy, Vernon River. The funeral from Vernon River United Church on Saturday afternoon with service commencing at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

CLAY — At Charlottetown, Jan. 19, 1966, Bessie Clay, Bridgetown, in her 87th year. Resting at the Cutcliffe Funeral Home until noon Saturday, then to Dundas United Church for funeral service commencing at 1.30 p.m. Interment in the church cemetery.

On hand to welcome Cnst. Oland to the gathering were, Pilot Officer John Norton LEFT and Commanding Officer F.L. P.O. Cameron.

Other speakers were: Rev. Allen MacDonald; Kenneth MacLean, president of Co-operative Union of P.E.I.; Herb Cheverie, department of fisheries who spoke on conservation of lobsters; Ray Sudsbury, Vocational Institute, Charlottetown; Urban LeBlanc; Captain Palmer, Navigation instructor from adult trade training school, Alberton; Rev. A. Pendergast; Very Rev. M.J. Rooney; Wilson J. Shea, general manager of Tignish Fisheries Co-operative, who introduced Mrs. William MacLeod, wife of the first president; Mrs. John M. Handrahan, first cook at the establishment; Mrs. Hubert Gaudet; Mrs. Hector Richard; Mrs. Shea; Simone Gallant, one of the earliest employees, and Ann Marie McAlduff, secretary of the Fisheries.

Mr. Shea commended highly the workers of the organization. Also present were charter members Michael Gaudet and Arthur Chaisson. The Union's first secretary, James Fitzgerald, was unable to be present. Due to a bad cold he was admitted to hospital.

Mr. Shea acknowledged congratulatory messages from J.R. MacLellan United Maritime Fishermen; Hon. Leo Rossiter, Minister of Fisheries; Premier Walter R. Shaw; Mr. and Mrs. Andrea Paturel; J. Arthur LeBlanc, United Maritime Fishermen; J.W. Windsor Co. Ltd.; Alexander B. Campbell, leader of Liberal party; J.G. Gaudin, managing director of Credit Union League of P.E.I. and many others.

County Jail Term Given City Youth

Francis William Quinn, city, pleaded guilty to a charge of break and entry at the Main Base Naval Association with intent to commit theft in 1964 when he appeared before Judge C. St. Clair Trainor in Queens County Court yesterday afternoon.

Charles McQuaid, QC, was counsel for the accused and Allan E. Scales was acting for the Crown.

Quinn had been convicted of a similar charge and a charge of break entry and theft in Queens County court previously. Defence counsel pointed out the reason the accused voluntarily submitted to this third charge at this time was that he wished to have "a clean sheet when he pays his debt to society" for these offences.

Judge Trainor pointed out to the accused that he could get a maximum of 42 years in prison on these three charges, but the court didn't intend to hand down such a penalty. The judge said: "I have personal knowledge of your background and in view of this and in view of your age (17) the court will give you a break and minimize the sentence."

FIVE MONTHS Judge Trainor sentenced Quinn to five months in Queens County jail on each conviction and in addition Quinn is to obtain a $500 bond before being released from jail and ordered to keep the peace for a year and if he leaves the province he is to consult the probation officer. Vincent MacIntyre. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Thomas Joseph Larter, city, was arraigned on a charge of break, entry and theft. Lester P. O'Donnell was counsel for the accused and A.K. Scales acted for the Crown. Larter offered a plea of not guilty to the court.

By the consent of both counsels the court ordered that the evidence of the Quinn case be used in the Larter trial.

FOUND GUILTY

Judge Trainor found the accused guilty as he was tracked down by city police and arrested at the same time as Quinn.

becomes the cornerstone of his parliamentary doctrine in 1966." Mr. Pearson said to raise pensions to $100 a month at 65 would cost $55,000,000 a year. To pay the increase from the Canada Pension Plan would amount to a "raid" on the fund, he said, adding that some Conservative MPs and senators were promoting the idea to wreck the plan.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke for an hour and 20 minutes as he gave the throne speech its first go-over by the Opposition on the Commons floor. Mr. Pearson got time for almost an hour of rebuttal before the House adjourned for dinner.

Leaders of the other Opposition parties were next in line. The Conservative non-confidence motion comes to a vote next Tuesday under the formal procedures laid down for a throne speech debate if the other parties should move a subamendment to it, this would be voted on just before adjournment today.

Mr. Diefenbaker's speech started with references to the government legislation program as outlined in the speech as "a puerile, pusillanimous piece of repetitive propaganda."

He said too much legislation was really being decided on behind the closed doors of federal-provincial conferences and suggested the CBC should be hailed before the Commons to say why it had carried pro-government and anti-American propaganda.

Mr. Pearson hit out at the Conservative pension proposals, cited his government's plans to aid education and mentioned the promised national medical care insurance program.

He wondered how Mr. Diefenbaker would find it possible to take money out of the Canada Pension Plan fund when it involves prior agreement with the provinces.

With Mr. Diefenbaker sitting silently across the floor, Mr. Pearson asked whether the Conservative leader had realized when he made the proposal that Quebec was outside the national pension plan, although that province had a dovetailing plan.

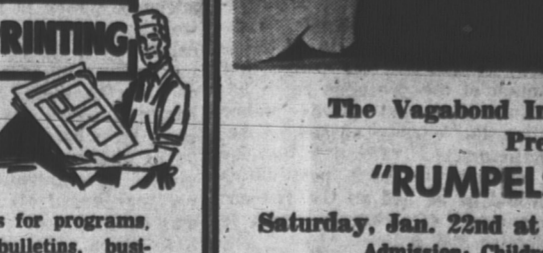

But Quebec makes no contributions to the Canada Pension Plan, Mr. Pearson said. Presumably Mr. Diefenbaker had intended that Quebec residents would also get the increased pension.

In this way, Quebecers would get the extra $25 a month paid for by people outside the province, Mr. Pearson doubted that would appeal to those outside Quebec.

Listening to the CBC, Mr. Diefenbaker said, one would think the United States was a great enemy of mankind for their role in the Viet Nam war. But the U.S. was justifiably opposing communism.

Mr. Pearson in reply said the Opposition leader was charging that the CBC had favored the Liberal party and these were "very serious charges indeed." He said the Commons is becoming accustomed to charges made without any evidence but with "insinuation and innuendo."

Mr. Diefenbaker said his government's plans to aid education and mentioned the promised national medical care insurance program.

Call us for programs, club bulletins, business letterheads. All work guaranteed.

GUARDIAN - PATRIOT CENTRAL PRINTERY Phone 4-8506

The Vagabond Independent Players Present

"RUMPELSTILSKIN"

Saturday, Jan. 22nd at 1:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Admission: Children 50¢; Adults $1.00

Sponsored by Kinross Club

Confederation Centre

National Director Is Guest Speaker

Ralph Wendeborn, the national director of the Junior Red Cross was guest speaker at the Parkdale monthly meeting of the Home and School Association held Tuesday night in the Junior High School.

The theme of his speech was on poverty and the part the school child can play through work in Junior Red Cross. He outlined to the parents and teachers how classmates may help each other from becoming dropouts.

Parkdale School was chosen for the Island to send a display of school work from all grades to New Zealand.

Numerous book reports done by the pupils were on display for the reading of the audience.

Radio Hanoi Jolts Hopes

SAIGON (AP)—Radio Hanoi jolts hopes that a more lasting peace in Viet Nam might follow the military lull marking the advent today of the lunar new year.

The North Vietnamese station broadcast calls of both the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam and a North Vietnamese spokesman for harder attacks.

Enjoy an Evening of Fun and Entertainment Featuring Night Club Star "GRAHAM BOWSER"

Popular and Western singers ALOS LES ALEXANDER & THE SMOOTHIES Special Prizes for Spot Dancing HORSE and SULKY CLUB Members and Guests Welcome

WHAT IS IT... HOW MUCH TERROR CAN YOU STAND

SEE THE ONIUS of the world destroyed!
SEE THE BIRTH of the world's most terrifying monster!
SEE THE WAR of the GIANTS!

GODZILLA vs. THE THING
"COLORSCOPE"

Shows 3:30 - 7 - 9
Sat. 1 - 3 - 7 - 9

A DARING & DRAMATIC STORY

THE RAW PERSONAL STORY of a NIGHT GIRL!

NAKED KISS

CHRISTINE TWOMEY
MURPHY-ESLEY-MICHAEL DANTE

SHOW AT 11:45 P.M.

Confederation Centre

TONIGHT & SATURDAY SHOWS AT 8:00 P.M.

From Russia, Beirut, London, Rome and Byblos with LOVE!

M-G-M PRESENTS
DAVID NIVEN
FRANCOISE DORLEAG
THE SULTAN'S NEW FRENCH ORIGINATOR

WHERE THE SPIES ARE

Filled with tingling suspense, a lot of fun, and a liberal sprinkling of sex

IN COLOR AND PANORAMA

★ ★ ★ ★ ★