

Ventilation of Sleeping Rooms.

We again call attention to this subject, because we fear there are many, even intelligent persons, who do not realize the importance of pure air in the sleeping-room. We know that many sleep in rooms where all windows are shut, with no way of ventilating into the chimney if there be one, where all the fresh air they get is what forces itself through the cracks about the windows and doors. Those who sleep in such an atmosphere are hardly aware how foul it will become by morning, or how injurious to health the same will be. Air that is repeatedly breathed over, can not be healthful and life-giving. Let any one who has doubt in regard to the condition of the air in a close room, where two or more persons have breathed it over and over during the night, go into pure, out-of-doors air, and then in a short time come back into the sleeping-room before it has been aired, and they will in many cases find the air of the room almost intolerable. The true way is ventilate every sleeping-room.

If there be an open fire-place, that will help; and if in addition to this, one of the windows be left open a little, the air will be so changed as to be good. If no fire-place, there may be ventilators possibly that enter the chimney at the same point above that will answer the same purpose as the fire-place; but if there be neither, then more than one window should be open to a greater or less extent, depending somewhat upon the condition of the weather outside, and then a circulation may be had that will so change the atmosphere of the sleeping apartment as to leave no doubt as to its healthfulness. Of course care must be taken not to have too strong a draft of air over the bed, and especially so if persons of infirm health occupy the room. In extremely cold weather it may not be desirable to keep the windows open too much.

We know from experience that plenty of pure air is very beneficial in the sleeping-room, and possibly we go to the extreme when we open one or sometimes two windows top and bottom in addition to an open grate and a ventilator in the room; but we have thus far suffered no inconvenience, but on the contrary have, we believe, obtained much good. Persons should, if possible, occupy upper chambers rather than rooms on the lower floor for sleeping apartments, and large ones rather than small. If more attention were paid to some of these things, we are sure all would be greatly benefitted.

How to Become Graceful.

The Young Woman's Journal thinks a refined, graceful figure can be acquired by any woman. It says, "The best grace is perfect naturalness." Still you must study yourself, and form your manners by the rule of that art which is but the carrying out of the law of nature. But if it is your nature to be forever assuming some unpicturesque, ungraceful attitude, pray help nature with a little art. If you are stout avoid the smallest chair in the room, and be sure you sit in it, not lean back in it with your hands folded in front of you just below the line of your waist, especially while the present fashion lasts. If you are thin do not carry yourself with your chin protruding and your spinal column curving like the bowl of a spoon.

Do not wear flimsy materials without a ruffle, or puff, or flounce, to fill up the hard outlines of your bad figure, so cruelly defined by the tightly pulled-back draperies.

Study the art of dress. We once knew a very plain woman who dressed so tastefully that it was an absolute pleasure to look at her.

If you have been moping until you are sick with the thought of your own hopeless ugliness, be up and doing. Forget your disappointments, forget the past and the sneers of your own family over the mistakes that you have made."

Time is precious, life short, and consequently one must not lose a single moment. A man of sense knows how to make the most of time, and puts out his whole sum either in interest or to pleasure; he is never idle but constantly employed either in amusements or in study. Idleness is the mother of all vices. At least, it is certain that laziness is the inheritance of fools; and nothing is so despicable as a sluggard.

It was a New Jersey wife who said: "My dear if you can't drink bad coffee without abusing me, how is it you can drink bad whiskey without abusing the bar-keeper?"

"In the sentence, 'John strikes William,'" remarked a school teacher, "what is the object of 'strikes?'" "Higher wages and less work," promptly replied the intelligent youth.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered.

Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER.

You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.

CATARRH.

Constitutional Catarrh Remedy
CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:—
"DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your 'Constitutional Catarrh Remedy' was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be 'too good to be true.'"

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper. Yours truly,
W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
