ROSENEATH PICNIC

On Saturday, July 14th, was held the annual picnic for the children of the Roseneath school district. The day's proceedings were superintended by Miss Veve McDonald, the teacher, and James Donahoe. The arrangements were more carefully made than those of larger events of this kind, and the programme worked so smoothly that there was neither delay, disappointment nor a falling short from the most sanguine expectations of the enthusiastic little ones.

Miss Margaret Donahoe, our former teacher, who is now a nurse in the Massachusetts General Hospital, enhanced her former prestige by assisting us in procuring supplies for the day.

We can without the least approach to boasting claim to have one of the brightest, best and most progressive body of students throughout P. E. Island; and well they deserve a day which is intended to be in part a reward for hard work and good conduct throughout the school year. The place selected for the picnic grounds was the same as last year—Brudenell Island—and the grass banks, immediately north of this interesting spot. This is a leader among ideal picnic grounds. The fertile country to the north is embellished by artistic touches from the hands of industrious and tasteful farmers—Gordons and Nortons. Turning to the east the homes of the Delorays attract attention while a good view is had of the eastern capital. The south shore presents much of the forest primeval but possesses that charm which distance always lends to the view.

All the carryalls of our district were called into requisition, and as each vehicle reached the beach there leaped forth a lively, joyous band.

Oswald Poole, John and Will Harris, who were instructed to procure boats, were on hand, and soon all the boats were loaded to their utmost while stout rowers sent them gliding swiftly over the rippling waters of the Brudenell. The time passed by on hurried wings. The appetites of the party soon caused them to turn their attention to the fire which indicated that the cooks were at work, and they soon gathered on the green sward where was spread the dainties to which each lunch basket contributed its quota. After all had partaken of the many good things a row to the historic place called Shaw's Point finished the boating. Various games had already been engaged in, but now as carried out a very interesting programme of sports under the direction of Thos. J. and R. A. Donahoe. The events being finished and whilst music from an accordion sounded sweetly on the evening air preparations were made for our return home. Though the hour was late, all seemed loath to leave a scene where they had passed such happy hours.

BIG WAGES NOT ALWAYS A BLESSING.

Through the recent unusual prosperity of British shipbuilding yards, it has come about riveters and other mechanics are making as much as £25 ($125) per week. With great wages has come still greater extravagance. Laborers' wives can be seen, says a cable despatch, in fine silks and satins, while to homes where a little time ago a pot of beer was a luxury, are now bought hothouse fruits and costly flowers. Another proof that the "workman," according to the name given the horny-handed (as if nobody else worked), can be just as foolish as those who consider themselves his betters, when their incomes are unexpectedly raised. This saturnalia is nothing new however. The writer saw during a "boom" in Scotch coal raising in 1875 or thereabouts, miners in the outskirts of Glasgow, who were earning sixteen and twenty shillings a day—$4 to $5—dressed in new broadcloth coats over their grimy old corduroy trousers and vests, and with a quart bottle of champagne under each arm, going to have "a blow out." Not one man in ten or twenty saved his money, or seemed to know how to get the most good out of his unaccustomed wealth. Thrift appears to be what certain kinds of working men require most to learn.

"WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME,"

There's a happy time coming,
When the boys come home;
There's a glorious day coming,
When the boys come home.
We will end the dreadful story,
Of the treason, dark and glory,
In a sunburst of glory,
When the boys come home.

The day will seem brighter
When the boys come home,
For our hearts will be lighter,
When the boys come home.
Wives and sweethearts will press them
In their arms and caress them
And pray God to bless them,
When the boys come home.

The thinned ranks will be proudest,
When the boys come home,
And their cheer will ring the loudest,
When the boys come home.
The full ranks will be shattered,
And the bright arms will be settered,
And the battle stand and tattered,
When the boys come home.

Their bayonets may be rusty,
When the boys come home,
And their uniforms dusty,
When the boys come home.
But all shall see the traces
Of battle's royal graces,
In the brown and bearded faces,
When the boys come home.

Our love shall go to meet them,
When the boys come home;
To bless them and to greet them,
When the boys come home.
And the fame of their endeavour
Time and change shall not dis sever
From the nation's heart forever,
When the boys come home.

Ottawa. M. A. E.

Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan was born as the cannon were booming in the battle of Waterloo, only a few rods away from one of the batteries which wrought such havoc in the disciplined ranks of Napoleon's stoutest-hearted fighters. She is now nearly 85 years of age, and living quietly in the Home for the Aged, in Detroit, Mich., where she expects to remain until she dies. She is a motherly-looking old lady, on whom the hand of time has laid few wrinkles and few sorrows. Her figure is scarcely bent from the weight of years and her eye is as clear and as bright as a school girl's.

She employs no artificial aids to her vision, and can see to read the finest printed page. Her hair is far from being white, only a trace of gray revealing itself at the temples, over which it is combed flat and smooth. She walks with elastic step, and when the weather is fair it is not uncommon for her to take a constitutional extending three miles away from her home.

—Winnipeg advices of the 12th inst. declare that the wheat crop of Manitoba will be much larger than was expected a week before, and that the yield in the Northwest territories will be phenomenal. A despatch to the Montreal Star says: "In the Edmonton, Prince Albert and Regina districts good authorities spoken to on the subject claim not less than 60 bushels to the acre in the Dauphin country the crop is a record one. Throughout Manitoba the crop will be above the average despite the recent drought, is the unanimous verdict of the farmers."

A Woman's Predicament.

The Chicago Post describes the sad case of a woman who was waiting at the "limits car barn" for an Evanston avenue car. There were plenty of Evanston cars, but her transfer check was good only on the avenue line, and she was determined not to pay another fare. At last, as night approached, she went to a telephone and called up her husband. She told him the situation—that no Evanston avenue cars seemed to be running, that it was getting dark, and she was afraid. What should she do? "Why, take an Evanston car," he replied. "But I shall have to pay another fare," she objected. "Well, what of it? You don't want to stay there, do you?" "But I can't," she said and hesitated. "Why not?" he asked. "Because—because I haven't any money. I just used my last dime in the telephone to call you up." And then she wondered at the laugh which reached her ears over the wire.

The Pastor's Salary.

They have ways of their own in doing things in dear old Massachusetts, and they cannot be said to be generous ways. In a certain little coast town lives and works a clergyman beloved for his good deeds. From early morning till late at night he is at the beck and call of his parishioners, never complaining, always cheerful. His annual stipend is $200. The summer visitors to this town last year, appreciating the preacher's gentleness and hard work, and noticing his lack of material prosperity, clubbed together and presented to him a purse of $100. The good church folk, of course, heard of it—and when it came time to pay him his yearly salary they tendered him $100 and a receipt to sign for $200! "You have got the other hundred from the summer people," they said. The old man accepted the situation and is working away as hard as ever.—New York Sun.
