The Autumn of Life.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

We, too, have autumn when our leaves
Drop loosely through the dampened air,
When all our good seems bound in sheaves,
And we stand reaped and bare.

Our seasons have no fixed returns;
Without our will they come and go;
At noon our sudden summer burns,
Ere sunset all is snow.

But each day brings less summer cheer,
Cramps more our ineffectual spring,
And something earlier every year
Our singing birds take wing.

As less the olden glow abides
And less the chillier heart aspires,
With driftwood beeches of past spring tides
We light our sullen fires.

By the pinched rushlight's starving beam
We cower and strain our wasted sight,
To stitch youth's shroud up, seam by seam,
In the long Arctic night.

It was not so—we once were young—
When spring to womanly summer turning,
Her dewdrops on each grass blade strung,
In the red sunshine burning.

We trusted then, aspired, believed,
That earth could be remade to-morrow;
Ah, why be ever undeceived?
Why give up faith for sorrow?

Oh, thou whose days are yet all spring,
Faith, blighted once, is past retrieving;
Experience is a dead, dumb thing;
The victory's in believing

A New Epidemic in Vienna.

ITS EXISTENCE ATTRIBUTED TO IMPURE WATER.

For a week past an epidemic described as intestinal catarrh has prevailed in Vienna (the Standard's correspondent says), and there is scarcely a house in the city without one or more patients. In spite of this the sanitary authorities for some time declined to take cognizance of the malady. The burgomaster of Vienna, indeed, employed the Austrian press law to compel one of the Vienna papers to contradict the report of the existence of such an epidemic, which had been attributed to the impurity of the Vienna drinking waters. This course the authorities have now found it necessary to abandon. The fact that there are between 50,000 and 60,000 such cases at the present time in Vienna, many of them at the hospitals, where the doctors call the malady intestinal influenza, cannot be denied. The bacteriological examination showed that in the bodies of persons who died of the new disease there was not only the influenza bacillus as discovered in Berlin, but a new sort of bacillus hitherto unknown. The doctors now forbid the use of Vienna drinking water, which was formerly the purest in Europe, and where that advice is followed the illness disappears in a couple of days, leaving the patient only in a state of extreme weakness resembling that of influenza.

PHOSPHOLEINE

when they became smooth and soft.

SCROFULA AND SALT RHEUM.

Dear Mr. Eagar.

I have much pleasure in giving you a record of the effect produced by the use of your PHOSPHOLEINE. The following cases have come under my particular attention while visiting the sick and poor: A case of Hereditary Scrofula.—The patient had tried most of the blood purifying remedies and Sarsaparillas in use, but for the past 19 years obtained no relief. After taking three bottles of your PHOSPHOLEINE his flesh became smooth and healthy, and he is now completely cured. A case of severe cough in the last stages of Consumption: The cough was eased, and the patient regained flesh and strength. This case is past curing, and the patient was pronounced so by physicians; but had she obtained of your medicine sooner, would no doubt have been cured. A case in which patient had given up the use of alcohol: The craving was cured, and the patient was regaining health and strength. A case of loss of flesh, great weakness, and indisposition for exertion of any kind, has been restored to health and strength by using your PHOSPHOLEINE. I have also recommended it to many who have been suffering from Dyspepsia, loss of strength and flesh, and in every case it has effected a cure. I have derived much benefit from the use of it myself. I remain yours, &c.,

E. C. NEWBERY.

GENTLEMEN,—I have purposely delayed writing you, as I wished to give a thoroughly complete trial to the M. P. P.
