Hunter River Couple Celebrate Anniversary

On Thursday evening, March 26th, 1959, neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril V. Smith to celebrate with them their twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

When all had assembled, Margo and Cyril were escorted to two prettily decorated chairs, as Ruth Burns read an original, humorous poem.

A nicely worded address was read to the "guests of honor" by Verne McLeod, and Frances Tremere presented a well filled purse on behalf of the community.

Clarke read an address to his Mom and Dad on behalf of his sisters and brothers, and Grant presented each with an initialed onyx ring. Joan read the good wishes of the grandchildren, as Donnie and Patricia presented their grandparents with suitable gifts.

Best wishes, accompanying a chest of stainless flatware, were read by Doris McMillan, on behalf of the Smith family, and Gertrude Lamont representing the Clark family, presented the bride and groom of twenty-five years with an electric kettle, and silver teaspoons.

A set of fine china and a telegram of good wishes was received from sons Neville and David and family in Calgary. Several personal gifts were also received from close friends.

Cyril and Marge spoke briefly, thanking all friends and the family for their lovely gifts and good wishes, and extended a sincere invitation for all to visit with them again soon. "For they are jolly good fellows," was sung.

Lunch was served by several ladies, and a beautiful three tier wedding cake, (the workmanship of Irma Taylor and Ruth Burns) was cut and passed.

A lively sing song was enjoyed with Gertrude Lamont as accompanist. After a very pleasant evening, all departed, wishing Cyril and Marge many more years of happiness.

President Emphasizes Music Festival Value

Neil A. Matheson, president of the Music Festival Association, released the following statement last night:

Music Festival time is here again with all its excitement and thrills. The thrills are for those who win but the excitement is for everyone. So are the benefits.

There can only be a few winners but the work of preparation for the various classes is what really counts.

I have always wondered why more adult groups do not participate in the festival each year. There is more down-to-earth enjoyment to be realized in a period of practices held together than there is in any amount of the sort of entertainment one gets watching or listening to professional performers, some of whom have questionable ability.

The festival is for everyone. There are a few experts. They compete against each other in classes where the highly technical musician gets an opportunity to sing or play test pieces written especially for that kind of competitor.

Those technicians have a place in the festival, as they have a place in our musical life. But the festival is much more than that. NO STAGE FRIGHT

It is something which gives hundreds of children a chance each year to appear before a strange audience. And by appearing when they are very young, they get accustomed to public appearances. I have seen those young people at various concerts in the province performing like veterans, with little or no show of stage fright or nervousness. They stand out in those concerts. The benefits which the festival have brought them are easily apparent.

In recent years the festival has added many competitions in addition to the regular musical numbers. It has become a show window or a cross section of our life so far as entertainment is concerned.

The festival is the biggest single enterprise in the province if we count the number of entries received, and realize that those competitors represent a cross section of the entire province.

The festival welcomes those competitors, young and older, and wishes all of them the very best in the two weeks that are ahead.

Only a few of them win actual prizes or ribbons. But none of them can lose. The proficiency they have attained in their respective classes will be a satisfaction in itself. But the benefits they obtain in those public performances will last as long as life itself.
