

FLAHERTY GAINS FREEDOM
Joseph A. Flaherty, once known as 'Massachusetts Public Enemy Number One' leaves State Prison at Waukegan after his release yesterday morning. Accompanying him is his girlfriend of eight years, Miss Frances McKeown formerly of Peace River, Alberta, who led the fight for his release. Flaherty served 13 years of a 36-46 year term he received on charges of assault, robbery and rape. Miss McKeown struck up a friendship with Flaherty after reading of him in news stories and since then had worked for his release. (AP Wirephoto)

Ch'town District Tops Blood Donor Objective

A grand total of 1,112 'Centennial Blood Donors' registered at the three days of Red Cross blood donor clinics to exceed the objective of 1,065 by 47, and chalk up a 104 per cent result.

Fremont Archer, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown, in extending congratulations to the 1,112 donors from the city and the surrounding areas, said he was particularly happy that the slogan adopted by the provincial blood donor committee for the year "A 100 percent result at every clinic in Centennial Year" had been achieved at this, the first series for the year.

He commented that this result was all the more remarkable in view of the stormy weather conditions which had existed yesterday when 177 attended the afternoon session, and 100 turned out in the evening to "top" the day's objective by 87, and make up for the previous two days' deficit of 40.

Mr. Archer remarked that the fact that many of the donors in attendance yesterday were from areas that are 15 to 20 miles outside the city was most commendable.

He also mentioned that the ten different committees that established last night, and among these were the Bank club of Montreal which again won the "Bankers' Competition" with 100 percent response, and the Main Branch of the "Armed Services' Clubs" which beat last fall's winners — the RCAP Association — by a bare 3 percent, and the Department of Public Health which again won the award in the "P.E.I. Public Servants' Association" section. Other winners will be announced as soon as the final results can be determined.

Volunteers assisting at yesterday's clinics, in addition to the Women's Auxiliary of Zion Church, included representatives from the Royal Edward Chapter, IOOE, the St. Paul X. parish council of a Catholic Women's League of Parkdale, St. Elizabeth's Aid, the Nurses' Association of St. John's, and Notre Dame high school Red Cross council.

Members of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown who kept a close check on all the contributions, as well as members of the Red Cross staff, were on hand at all sessions to assist in various capacities.

Miss Mary Jolliffe, publicity director of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building, outlined the work she plans with the centennial committee and what she hopes to accomplish as its public relations director, at the monthly meeting of the Life Underwriters Association yesterday.

She stated that her object is to re-educate the Province of Newfoundland and the people of the world will be on P.E.I. as the Queen visits here in October and the Premier's Conference is held here in September. She also reviewed the events of the coming year.

She was introduced by Jack Morris and thanked by Ralph Roper.

President Ed McCabe was chairman, and special guests were superintendent of insurance, Wendell H. Mackay, Scott MacPherson, news director of CFCY, and Wilfred Inman.

Island's Harvest Weather Is Risk To Fax Industry

Available weather data around harvesting time for a fax crop in Prince Edward Island indicates that it would probably be a high risk industry.

An official of the firm of Arthur D. Little Inc., Cambridge, Mass., Maurice B. Sorenson, whose firm placed a report before the provincial government on the feasibility of such an industry advised that the lack of local knowledge in production and processing is a serious handicap.

He said it might be difficult for the island to compete in an open market with the subsidized industries of western Europe and cheap labor in other production areas.

Recently there has been an approach to the provincial government for financial assistance by Prince County interests to help establish the industry.

PROOF OF KNOW HOW

Mr. Sorenson said that any one applying for government financial aid should have data that will show they have adequate supply of raw materials, adequate processing know how and equipment, and a profitable market for their product.

Mr. Sorenson said that in talking with Melis Visser, the representative of a Dutch firm interested in fax processing, "it seems Mr. Visser's interest is motivated by his desire to handle a larger volume of fax in its trading operations. He talked in terms of the industry costing $200,000 to establish."

INFORMATION NEEDED

To more fully evaluate the proposed fax industry, Mr. Sorenson said the following information would be needed:

A conceptual plan of the processing plant and some idea of its planned location; a copy of the proposed producer/processor marketing agreement; the identity of proposed markets and an order of magnitude estimate of the price that can be expected; planned capital costs for land, buildings and equipment.

Also included is a breakdown of planned operating costs and the expected sources of operating capital; the time required to time title. Four of the players on the team are 13 to 17; Errol Thompson, goalie, Felix Richard, Turk Muttart and Melvin Bernard.

Oswald himself was killed Nov. 24 by Dallas mail club owner Jack Ruby. Ruby is under a death sentence for murder in the slaying.

The hope is that the report ultimately produced will dispel any such ideas.

But the case against Oswald lacks a motive explainable by the workings of an ordinary mind.

The commission report will, however, include a minute reconstruction of Oswald's short, erratic and unhappy life and an indication of the influences that shaped him.

required in processing the crop, and a pro forma income and cost statement showing estimated income, planned operating costs and expected profits, should also be available.

Miss Jolliffe Returns From Ont. Public Relations Trip

After a month long tour of Gt. Lakes, Montreal and Toronto speaking with magazine publishers and national advertisers in an effort to gain national publicity for the Prince Edward Island centennial, Miss Mary Jolliffe, director of publicity for the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building, has returned to Charlottetown.

She spoke to many other national organizations in connection with centennial publicity. In Ottawa she spent time organizing a reception to be hosted by the Province of Prince Edward Island in the chambers of the Speaker of the Senate.

The reception will be April 14, and representing the province will be Premier Walter R. Shaw, provincial secretary, J. David Stewart and members of the Centennial Committee. Attend the reception will be Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, members of the Seave and press representatives.

SUMMERSIDE — Under signs reading "Welcome Home" and "Hi, Champs. We're Proud of You" the Summerside Junior Legionaires returned last evening to a rousing welcome from the town's hockey fans in Sydney.

Approximately 50 cars, five trucks, and police cars met the team at the CNR ferry and escorted them to the Legion Home where they were met by an additional 100 supporters.

The Legion sports committee under the chairmanship of Earl Atkinson, Mayor W. E. Jenkins and other sports dignitaries greeted the champs at the home.

Team manager Joseph Clark told the boys consisted on the trip saying they were perfect gentlemen the whole time and they were given a credit to Summerside.

Grant Gray, coach of the Legionaires, thanked the Legion for sponsoring the team and then told the boys that if they work as hard as they did for me, then you will go a long way." He was given a tremendous ovation by the crowd and team members.

Also introduced and asked to say a few words were: Mr. Atkinson, assistant manager, Charles (Bud) Craze, manager of the Legion, and Mayor Jenkins who emphasized that it was the whole team and not just the goal scorers that made victory possible.

Master of ceremonies Robert Schumann then introduced three hockey greats of a few years ago. They were Charlie Dean, Clarence Steele, and Don Baker.

The team will play on the Memorial Cup final.

At the close of the reception

IS PROMOTED

Commissioner Wycliffe Booth, head of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda for nearly 10 years, is being appointed international commissioner of the Army effective June 23. The commissioner will attend a series of commemorative gatherings at various parts of the world to mark the centenary of the Army in 1913. (CP Wirephoto)

Shooting Cases In Ontario Being Probed

TORONTO (CP)—The body of a man who had a long history of heart trouble was taken to an undertaker before it was discovered he had been killed by bullets.

The case, which occurred in Smiths Falls, Ont., is one of two now under investigation by Dr. E. B. Cotnam, supervising coroner for Ontario.

The other involved the body of Rev. Joseph Armstrong of Waterloo, Ont., an Anglican minister who had become an insurance salesman. His body was found slumped in his blood-spattered car two weeks ago, and was removed to the morgue where three bullet holes were discovered.

Dr. Cotnam declined comment on the cases, but said all Ontario coroners have instructions to preserve the original scene of violent death as much as possible. That included not removing the body.

The Smiths Falls case involved Walter Giff, killed Saturday night or early Sunday. His body was found in a grocery store by employee Mrs. J. B. Ellard, who notified police and the family doctor.

She said both she and police nurse of Giff's previous heart trouble since there was no blood apparent and nothing in the store had been disturbed. Police followed the telephone suggestion of the family doctor that the body be moved to the undertaker.

Undertaker Harold Amy notified the coroner, one in the arm and another in the heart.

Storm's Power Punch Is Noticeably Weaker

A spring snowstorm dealt another blow to Prince Edward Island yesterday but the power punch is getting noticeably weaker. There was very little disruption in travel. Highways were heavy. Drifting during the day was not serious.

Air travel was on schedule. The Borden train was one hour late, but not due to the storm. Five inches of snow were dumped on the island up to 8 o'clock last night. Temperatures in the low thirties made it very heavy and sticky. Winds from the north-northeast caused some drifting as they average around 22 m.p.h. with gusts to 30. Conditions were similar all through the province.

No emergencies were reported by either Charlottetown city police or the Charlottetown detachment of the RCMP. The RCMP late last night reported that roads in rural areas were passable but visibility was poor due to drifting and frozen slush made conditions icy.

The outlook for today was for winds to continue from the northwest at 20-30 m.p.h. Overcast skies were forecast.
