

French artillerymen behaved with great gallantry; they were killed at their guns. General Clero was not far from the Emperor when he met his death. One account says that General Espinasse was cut in two by a cannon shot; another version is that his head was taken off by a cannon ball. However unpopular he may have been in his life, it must be admitted that he died as a brave soldier. By the confession of all, the great glory of the day is due to McMahon. It appears he had no orders to proceed to Magenta; he was led thither by the instinct of genius. He heard the roar of battle, he rushed on, and saved the army. McMahon is spoken of in all circles with the greatest admiration.

TURIN, Tuesday.—The allies took, in the battle of Magenta, four pieces of cannon, two flags, and 4000 bags (?); 7000 Austrians have been made prisoners, and 20,000 put hors de combat, out of 120,000 Austrians engaged. The loss on the side of the French was about 5000 killed and wounded, and among the former are Generals Espinasse and Clero. Milan has been barricaded and defended by 6000 National Guards. The Government of the King of Sardinia is already in operation in Como and Sondrio. [The Paris correspondents of both the Nord and the Independence of Brussels concur in stating that it was 36 guns that were taken at Magenta by the French, and not 3, which figure was a mistake of the telegraph.]

TURIN, June 7.—The first private letter from the battle field of Magenta has arrived here. The Imperial and Sardinian Guards were engaged against the Austrian masses. The Guards were attacked, and were unable to advance, but nevertheless firmly resisted the enemy. The Zouaves and the Guards lost and retook their position six times. At last General Neill's army made an offensive movement, which was irresistible. The enemy endeavoured to surprise the right wing of our army, but a movement of General McMahon rendered the attempt ineffectual. The efforts of the enemy relaxed somewhat for a moment, and the conflict then began again with renewed fury. Gen. McMahon was triumphant, and the battle is won. It is asserted that the King entered Milan to-day, and to-morrow the victory will be celebrated at Turin.

INSURRECTION AT MILAN.—FLIGHT OF THE AUSTRIANS. The following telegram has been sent by the Emperor to the Empress:—

HEAD QUARTERS, Monday, 8 a. m.—Milan is insurgent. The Austrians have evacuated the town and castle, leaving in their precipitation cannon and the treasure of the army behind them. We are encumbered with prisoners, and have taken 12000 Austrian muskets.

Letters from Como state that Milan is free, the Austrians having evacuated both the town and the castle. The enemy has abandoned Stradella and the surrounding country, and destroyed the bridge and fortifications of Stella.

The following notice of the exhumation of the remains of the gallant General Picton, whose name is imperishably associated with some of the brightest achievements of the British arms and whose fall at Waterloo was one of the great sacrifices with which that victory was purchased—is taken from the Carmarthen Journal, of the 10th ult. Many of our readers are aware that the gallant general was uncle to J. Picton Beetz, Esq., of this City.

REMOVAL OF THE REMAINS OF SIR THOMAS PICTON.

ON Wednesday morning, according to arrangement, the remains of the late Lieutenant General Sir Thomas Picton were removed from the cemetery belonging to the parish of St. George, Hanover-square, to St. Paul's Cathedral.

The coffin was placed on a gun carriage, drawn by eight magnificent horses. It was covered with a rich silver Genoa velvet pall, with rich embroidery and armorial bearings of the late lamented general, and the union jack. The procession was under the direction of the Royal Artillery.

The first carriage contained J. Picton, Esq., the Hon. Colonel Vereker, Colonel Bagot, and General Wood. The second contained the Rev. Henry Howarth, rector of St. George's, Hanover-square; Mr. Stanley, and Dr. Brewer. In the 3rd were Mr. Cooper, Mr. Westerton, and Mr. Treherne. This followed the carriages of Lord Stafford, the Right Hon. Mr. Estcourt, the Home Secretary, Lord Gough, General Sir F. Stovin, Sir Robert Burgoyne, Sir Hew Ross, Sir Robert Gardner, and Sir James Coleman. The procession moved slowly through the principal streets to St. Paul's Cathedral, the whole of the arrangement being under the direction of Messrs. T. and W. Banting, upholsters to Her Majesty, of St. James's street.

Upon the body reaching St. Paul's Cathedral, amid the solemn tolling of the bell, and the growing interest of several hundreds of spectators, the most perfect silence prevailed. Some time was taken up in removing the ponderous mass from the gun carriage, and bearing it up the steps on the south side into the Cathedral. It was here met by the Very Rev. the Dean, Milner, Archdeacon Hale, the Rev. W. Murray, and several other prebendaries and minor canons, who preceded to the crypt, where a vault had been constructed, not far from the tomb of Wellington, the illustrious chief of the noble race. At this moment the organ began to play the "Dead March in Saul," and the scene was of a truly silent and impressive character. Followed by the old comrades of the illustrious general, the body was conveyed in the most solemn silence to the tomb, where it was received and lowered into the grave with the utmost care, in the presence of Colonel Vereker, J. Picton, Esq., and a large number of private mourners. This having been done, and such of the visitors having taken a "last look" at the remains, the body was covered up, and the cavalcade reformed, under the personal directions of Messrs. Thomas and William Banting, the upholsters to her Majesty; the carriage of his Royal Highness the duke of Cambridge, immediately following that of the Lord Mayor, heading the mournful cortege.

QUEEN'S COUNTY ADDRESS TO THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

The following is the Address which was adopted at the Public Meeting in Charlottetown, on Wednesday, the 22nd ult., on behalf of the inhabitants of Queen's County, congratulating the Lieut. Governor on his arrival in this Colony, and which was presented to His Excellency on Saturday week, His Excellency's reply will be found annexed.

To His Excellency GEORGE DUNDAS, ESQUIRE, Lieutenant Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Her Majesty's Island Prince Edward, &c., &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY;

WE, Her Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Clergy, Magistrates and other Inhabitants of Queen's County, at a Public Meeting convened, desire to offer to Your Excellency our sincere congratulations upon your appointment as Her Majesty's Representative in this Island, and to express the heartfelt gratification which the safe arrival of Your Excellency and Mrs. Dundas at the seat of your Government has afforded to us.

We hail with sentiments of unmixed satisfaction the assumption by Your Excellency of the Government of this Island, not less from the estimation in which we hold Your Excellency's personal character, than from the advantages we are led to anticipate from Your Excellency's experience as a Member of the British Parliament.

Her most gracious Majesty the Queen has been pleased to declare that this Island, in common with Her other North American Colonies, shall be governed according to the wishes of the people, as expressed through their Representatives, and we look with confidence to Your Excellency's administration for a full recognition of this principle, whereby Your Excellency will best promote the happiness and prosperity of our fellow Colonists, over whom Your Excellency has been placed, and obtain the approbation of our beloved Sovereign.

We beg respectfully to tender to Your Excellency the expression of our earnest hope that the residence of Your Excellency in this Island may prove in every respect productive of pleasure and satisfaction to Your Excellency and Mrs. Dundas, and beneficial to the Inhabitants of the Colony.

(REPLY.) GOVERNMENT HOUSE, June 25, 1859.

GENTLEMEN; I return you, for myself and for Mrs. Dundas, our best acknowledgments for those warm-hearted congratulations with which you have received us, on this the occasion of my coming among you to assume the trust confided to my keeping by our Royal Mistress.

The terms in which you express your sentiments towards myself are most gratifying; and I need hardly assure you that it will be my constant aim and endeavour to conform to and retain the favourable opinion you have been pleased to form of me.

During the twelve years which I spent in the House of Commons as the representative of a British constituency, many facilities were afforded me of becoming acquainted with the principles of the Constitution of England; and these facilities I trust I have not neglected. On the basis of the British Constitution yours is erected; and its invaluable privileges are confirmed to you.

Though not actually within the circle of the British Islands, you have yet the consciousness of possessing the same freedom, the same privileges, the same rights of self-government, as is the heritage of every Englishman in every corner of Her Majesty's dominions. For many years I have taken a deep interest in the welfare of the Colonies of Great Britain; I have given an attentive ear to the discussions that their requirements aroused in the House of Commons; I have listened to the opinions regarding their Government which various statesmen have expressed; I have watched the rapidity of their growth and their increasing prosperity, of which, in several instances, I have had the satisfaction of being an eye-witness; and I have no hesitation in saying that Her gracious Majesty, when it was her pleasure to declare that her North American Colonies should be governed according to the wishes of the people, selected the best means fitted to promote their happiness and their prosperity.

I again thank you in Mrs. Dundas's name, and in my own, for those good wishes you so frankly express for our welfare; and on our parts we assure you, that meeting, as we have done, from one and all, such a warm welcome, and so much consideration, we anticipate a residence among you to which, in a few years, you and we, respectively, may look back with feelings of unalloyed pleasure and satisfaction.

GEORGE DUNDAS, Lieut. Governor. To the Clergy, Magistrates and Inhabitants of Queen's County.

A similar Address was presented to His Excellency about the same time by the Reverend members of the Wesleyan Conference, assembled in Charlottetown.

THE OVATION FOR GENERAL WILLIAMS.

THE most extensive preparations are in progress for the reception of General Williams, who is expected to arrive here in the Westmorland from Picton to-morrow. We have not seen the programme of the demonstration, but the main features of it are, a grand procession through the City, with the General at the head of it, in a triumphal car, erected at considerable expense for the occasion. In the procession will be the Masonic Society, the Sons of Temperance, the Benevolent Irish, and the St. Andrew's Societies, with their respective badges and banners.

Arches, decorated with evergreens, have been erected at the head and end of Queen Street. These arches are in three divisions, and extend nearly from one side of the street to the other, and are variously inscribed. The lower arch, near the head of Queen's wharf, is inscribed on the obverse side—"Welcome to the Hero of Kara;" on the reverse is "Honor to the Brave," with the initials "Sir W. F. W." at each end. The arch at the head of the street, on the obverse side, bears the singular inscription of "Our gallant Countryman," though, we believe, he is no more of a countryman of the P. E. Islanders than if he was born in the Highlands of Scotland or the wilds of Connemara—and on the reverse side are the words: "Our fellow Colonist;" in the centre, and over the small arches are the words, "Valorous," "Enduring."

The Mayor has issued a proclamation requesting the citizens to observe as a public holiday the day of the General's arrival; and the fetes will be closed by a superb Ball and Supper at the Provincial Building on the evening of Wednesday. We understand that preparations have been made for a party of about 300 persons on this occasion. The Old Court House and Market House have coats of fresh white wash bestowed upon them for a holiday garb; and, indeed, every body seems to have forgotten every thing else in the desire to do honour to the gallant officer. We shall endeavour to give in our next No. a detailed account of the fetes.

SUPREME COURT.

The Trinity Term of this Court for Queen's County commenced on Tuesday last. We understand that several Bills of Indictment have been found by the Grand Jury, some of which have been disposed of—chiefly for larceny. In the case of the parties who were charged with the murder of Ann Beaton, whose body was found dreadfully mutilated on the Murray Harbour Road some time since, no Bill was found. Several civil cases, which occupied a considerable time of the Court, have been tried, but are of no public importance. The Libel suit between William McGill, Esq., and John Ings, Esq., stands for trial on Wednesday next before a Special Jury.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, for July, is on our table, and like its predecessors, is full of admirable, highly interesting and original articles. We shall embellish our columns, as soon as space will allow, by republication of some of the brilliant contributions of the Atlantic.

EDUCATION.—The quarterly examination of the "Hillsborough District School," in this City, was held on the 29th ult. Present: Hon. Col. Swabey, John Kenny, Esq., Head Master Central Academy, John Ardker, Esq., Director of Schools, Edward Roche, Esq., Head Master St. Dunstan's School, all of whom expressed their approval of the order and mode of discipline observed in the school, and the general proficiency of the pupils. At the close of the examination the Teacher submitted the Visitors' book, in which the gentlemen present were pleased to insert the following record:—"Assisted at the examination of this school. We find the Teacher, Mr. A. McNeill, is discharging his duty with zeal and efficiency. The children are neatly dressed, respectful and attentive. We regret to observe, however, that here, as in most of the other Town Schools, parents do not deem it their duty to attend the examinations, or are not sufficiently alive to the beneficial effects on the School of such attendance."

OBITUARY.—Died, of consumption, at New London, on the 10th inst., in the 22nd year of his age, Daniel Daly, for some years a District Teacher, but more recently a Student in St. Dunstan's College. The deceased was a young man of great promise, and was distinguished from his boyhood up for his amiable disposition and the unstained purity of his morals. Possessed of splendid natural abilities, young, ardent and ambitious, he was intent only upon the prospect of usefulness and distinction, which seemed to open before him, and disregarded the warning symptoms of the insidious disease which silently preyed upon his constitution, till, by his close and unremitting application to study, he had placed himself beyond the hope of recovery. Discovering his error when too late, he submitted to his sad and early fate with a degree of meekness and resignation seldom met with in a person so young. His death will be regretted by all who knew him.

Important to Shipmasters and Crews.

Some twenty years since I was very seriously injured in one of my hips, by coming in contact with the anchor of the ship of which I was second mate. The bruise was so bad that my hip has given me great trouble most of the time since, until a year ago last April, when I heard of David's Pain Killer, and immediately procured a bottle, and by using it according to the directions, was entirely cured in about ten days, and have not experienced the least trouble from my complaint since. Feeling the importance of having this valuable medicine constantly by me, before starting for Europe in March last, in the ship Louvre, from New York, I purchased two large bottles to take with me. While at Antwerp, one of my crew was attacked with a severe dysentery; I gave him the Pain Killer, and it cured him in a hurry. On my passage home, with one hundred and sixty-four passengers, I administered his valuable remedy to all who were sick, and none took it without getting relief. One lady passenger in particular was troubled with a bad headache, for which she said there was no cure, having been troubled with it most of the time for years. I told her I had a sure remedy, and gave her the Pain Killer, which to her surprise, did effect the cure she had long sought in vain for. I had as good a medicine chest as ever was put on board a ship, but did not open it, there being no necessity for it—the Pain Killer answering all purposes. And I do most sincerely recommend to every shipmaster always to take a good supply of this valuable medicine with him on going to sea, as it is so valuable and convenient to use in case of wounds or bruises, which are liable to, and frequently do happen to crews on shipboard. CHRISTOPHER ALLY, late Master of the ship Louvre.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

NOTICE is hereby given, that in pursuance of resolutions passed by the Committee, the following alterations and amendments have been made in the Rules of the Society, viz:—

TABLE A will be amended accordingly. TABLES 39 and 62, requiring ships, the length of which exceeds six times their extreme breadth, to be fitted with a rider keelson or a pair of sister keelsons, has been amended as follows, viz:—"If a rider keelson be adopted, it is to be fastened with a through bolt (of the size required in Table D for keelson bolts) in every frame; or, if the owner prefers it, every intermediate bolt may be short, passing only through the main and rider keelsons." And such short intermediate bolts may be of iron in ships claiming an additional period for copper or yellow metal fastenings, under the Rules, Sec. 46.

It has also been made a rule that in all cases in which a rider keelson is fitted, it must be fastened as prescribed above, irrespective of the relative dimensions of the ship.

The Committee have instructed their surveyors to satisfy themselves of the efficiency of the caulking in the cases of new ships, by having pieces cut out of the bottom, as the only means of ascertaining with certainty this important point.

And to obviate the evils arising from grain-cut and knotty treenails (the Committee considering that in all cases they should be made from cleft timber), the surveyors have also been instructed to object to the use of saun treenails.

By order of the Committee, GEORGE B. SEYFANG, Secretary, 2, White Lion Court, Cornhill, London, E.C., June 2, 1859.
