British Medical Report Urges Curb On Tobacco

LONDON (Reuters — The Royal College of Physicians indicated here that smoking, particularly cigarette smoking, is a major cause of lung cancer and urged "decisive steps" by the British government to curb rising tobacco consumption.

A report by a nine-man committee of this top British doctors' organization suggested, a ong other things, restriction of tobacco advertising; use of tax powers to discourage cigarette smoking in favor of "less harmful" pipes and cigars, and printing the tar and nicotine contents of each cigarette brand on its pack.

"Death rates from lung cancer increase steeply with increasing consumption of cigarettes," the report said. "Heavy cigarette smokers may have 30 times the (lung cancer death rate of non-smokers. Cigarette smokers are much more affected than pipe or cigar smokers."

The medical committee was set up by the college in April, 1959, to investigate smoking and atmospheric pollution in relation to lung cancer and other illnesses. Headed by royal college president Sir Robert Platt, the panel will report later on air pollution.

CAUSE OTHER ILLS

The report also declared smoking could cause bronchitis and might contribute to the development of pulmonary tuberculosis while coronary heart disease was a more frequent cause of death in smokers—particularly cigarette smokers—than in non-smokers.

Britain's Tobacco Manufacturers' Standing Committee issued a statement declaring that by referring to air pollution report the royal college committee had "produced an incomplete assessment of the problems involved."

In Montreal, Edward C. Wood, president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited, said the royal college's report does not offer "new scientific findings" to support its claim that smoking is a major cause of lung cancer.

The royal college report said the chance of dying in the next 10 years for a man aged 35 who is a heavy cigarette smoker is one' in 23 whereas the risk for a non-smoker is only one in 90.

TWO ISRAELIS WOUNDED

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—An Israeli police patrol boat on the Sea of Galilee Thursday exchanged shots with Syrian posts on shore and two Israelis were severely wounded. Reports here said the two casualties were members of the patrol boat crew who had gone to help an Israeli fishing vessel attacked by the Syrian shore post.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 NT	Pass	3♥	Pass
4♥

Opening lead—queen of clubs.

Suppose you are declarer at four hearts with the South hand and West leads the queen of clubs. How would you go about playing the hand?

The apparent losers are two spades and a heart, but there is a decided possibility also of losing three spade tricks as well as more than one trump trick if things go badly.

It is impossible to tell so early in the play how the opponent's cards are divided, but what you first try to do is protect against the most likely division of their cards. The odds are that the hearts will be divided 3-2, since this occurs about 68 percent of the time, and that the spades will not be divided 3-3, since that occurs only 36 percent of the time.

The best way to proceed, therefore, is to assume that the trumps will break favorably, since any trump division other than 3-2 means that the hand is likely to prove unmanageable. Once this assumption is made and the proper line of play is pursued, the question of how the spades are divided becomes academic.

The first thing to do after winning the club with the ace is to ruff a club. This is the beginning of a campaign to make as many trump tricks as you can. Then, after cashing the king and ace of hearts and observing the 3-2 trump division, you enter dummy with a diamond and ruff another club.

And when you repeat the process by leading a diamond and ruffing dummy's last club, you find that you are out of trump in your own hand (dummy still has one), and more important, that you have already scored eight tricks in the course of your travels back and forth.

This means that the contract is sure to make because you can lead the ace of diamonds and ace of spades, not caring whether either is ruffed, and, more particularly, not caring whether the spades are divided 3-3, 4-2, or in any other way.

By ruffing dummy's clubs early, you avoid the danger of an unfavorable spade division.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
